LESSONS OF THE WAR.

Vice Admiral Colomb, Retired British Officer, Makes Observations.

LONDON, March 13. — Vice Admiral Philip Howard Colomb, retired, lectured on the lessons of the Spanish-American war before the members of the United States institutions. After dealing with the impossibility of secrecy in warfare hereafter owing to the diligence of the press and the necessity for protecting cables in shallow water, he said that if Spain had shown real comprehension of strategy the United States would not have been so successful. The sure way for the United States would have been for her to send a sufficient force to the coast of Spain to balance the force known to have been in Spanish ports, and to send a squadron to Cape Verde Islands the moment it was known a Spanish flotilla was assembling there. And, he added, if the Island of Minorca had been seized as a base, nothing offensive on the other side of the Atlantic would have been attempted by Spain.

The lesson to be deduced was, according to the lecturer, that American strategy was hazardous in so far as it departed from the stereotyped rules of naval war. Admiral Cervera's ships were lost sight of, causing anxiety on the American coast, and the Americans kept considerable squadrons wholly in a defensive attitude, instead of maintaining command of the sea. It was clear, he added, that if there had been coal supplies at Santiago de Cuba, and if Admiral Cervera's squadron had been reasonably efficient, instead of a "miserable abortion," all it could have proposed to effect by entering Santiago might have been effected without any interference upon the part of the United States navy.

From the actions of the American ships, he deduced the idea that the very inefficient batteries of the Spanish forts were able to keep the ships at a distance.

Regarding the purely tactical questions involved, the admiral said it was plain that Admiral Dewey took full advantage of the superiority of his guns and gunners, and placed himself in so distant a position that neither the Spanish ships nor the Spanish batteries were able to adequately reply to his fire. The whole thing, continued the lecturer, "was terribly business like on the American side, with a pathetic parade of Quixotic gallantry on the other."

In conclusion, Admiral Colomb commented upon the fact that all orders to American ships were sent from Washington.

"ONE OF THOUSANDS."

Miss Lily Cox, 2 Gladstone Ave., Toronto, contracted acute catarrh through taking a severe cold some two years ago. Her suffering was very distressing at times. She tried several remedies, but none gave her any real relief. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder was recommended to her—one application gave instant relief, and when she had used four bottles she says she was entirely cured.—Sold by Dr. S. W. Dodd and Geo. E. THE ROYAL NAVY.

Great Britain is now credited with rather over 40 available battleships in addition to over a dozen large vessels which are now looked upon as obsolete. But Englishmen, in reckoning their strength, prefer to strike out all vessels built before 1891, although among the ships thus passed over as obsolescent are nine or ten such monsters as the Anson, Benbow, Camerdown, Howe, Rodney, Sans, Perail, Nile and Trafalgar. Taking however, the absolutely modern ships we find that the first line would consist as follows:—

- Battleships in commission—
- Eight Royal Sovereigns, 14,150 tons, 17 knots.
- Two Centurions, 10,500 tons, 18.5 knots.
- One Renown, 12,350 tons, 18 knots.
- Nine Majestic, 44,900 tons, 17.5 knots.
- Total, 29, costing about £17,000,000.
- To these vessels must be added soon the mighty fleet in preparation. Here are the particulars:—
- Battleships launched and completing—
- Four Canopuses, 12,950 tons, 18.75 knots, £3,295,930.
- Two Formidables, 15,000 tons, 18 knots, about £1,800,000.

- Total 6, costing about £5,000,000.
- Battleships on the stocks—
- Two Canopuses, 12,950 tons, 18.75 knots.
- One Formidable, 15,000 tons, 18 knots.
- Total, 3, costing about £2,500,000.
- Battleships commenced—
- Three Formidables, 15,000 tons, 18 knots.
- Four modified Formidables, 14,000 tons, 19 knots.
- Two new ships.
- Total 9, costing about £7,500,000.
- By 1902 at the latest Great Britain will have a fleet of 38 absolutely modern ships, of which 27, the Majestic and later ships, will be practically identical in armament and protection, and all of high speed. Back of these will be nine older first-class ships and a host of second and third class battleships.

RHEUMATISM'S ORGIES.

The Relentless, Unrespecting Pain Giver is Shorn of His Strength by the Aid of South American Rheumatic Cure—It Never Fails.

Mr. Duncan McIntyre, of Mount Forest, says: "I was sorely afflicted with rheumatism for over a year. I was almost totally disabled and at times suffered agonies of pain. I tried many remedies and doctors without avail until I began using South American Rheumatic Cure. I derived great benefit from one bottle and was so pleased with the results I continued using it, and my advice to-day to all sufferers from Rheumatism is to use this great remedy. I feel satisfied it is the greatest of rheumatism cures."—Sold by Dr. S. W. Dodd and Geo. E. Hughes, Druggists.

HARD ON MONEY LENDERS.

The New British Measure Surprise Even Their Enemies.

LONDON, March 13.—The British Parliament has gone in for domestic legislation. Money lenders, company directors, and county councils absorb its energies. The bill dealing money lenders is so drastic and sweeping in its provisions that even the enemies of that little-loved class are surprised at the short shrift to be given them. They have practically no friends in Parliament, for their shameless usury as revealed every week for the past year or two in the law courts has made it a perilous and suspicious thing to say a word for them. The measure, which was introduced directly by the government, consists six brief clauses. Regulations for the business of money lending are prescribed in the first clause. Every money lender is required to register himself and to carry on business in his own name only. If a money lender does not comply with the provisions of the act his contract for repayment becomes void. On the other hand, if the security be a negotiable one, a holder for value of the security retains his rights as against the lender. Power is given to courts where proceedings are taken for the recovery of loans to reopen the transaction if more than ten per cent. is charged or if the incidental expenses are exorbitant, and they are empowered to relieve the borrower of any unreasonable or excessive charge. Another clause makes false statements and representations misdemeanors, involving imprisonment for two years or a fine of $500.

There is considerable surprise that some provision does not deal with the atrocious abuse of the insurance laws by which policy-holders have repeatedly had the insured person drink himself to death—in some cases murdered him outright—and then drawn the insurance money.

Six.—As a ticket-holder of the Hill-borough Skating Rink, and one who appreciates the thoughtfulness and kindness of both our junior and manager, I would like to see some arrangement made for a benefit for our junior, on next Monday evening, and also one for our manager on the following Thursday. I am sure that like myself, no ticket-holder objects to paying his, or her twenty-five cents on those, their regular week night. Weather permitting the boys who scrape the ice might have one later.

JUSTICE

MOST REMARKABLE.

Was the Recovery of This Nova Scotia Youth.

Bright's Disease had Brought him to the Edge of the Grave—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him—All Other Remedies Failed.

Liverpool, March 17.—Some time ago, there appeared in the leading journals of the Dominion an account of the case of a farmer's son, who lives about ten miles from this city, and who was a severe sufferer from that dreaded scourge of humanity—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

The young man's father, unable to bear the sight of his son's sufferings any longer, purchased a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills from Druggist Arthur Hutchins, and the sufferer began to use them for his complaint, following the directions strictly.

Long ere the box was empty, a decided change for the better had taken place in the victim's condition, and new hope sprang up in the breasts of the family. The use of the pills was continued and day by day the young man grew stronger and stronger, till at length he was completely restored to health and strength and vigor.

"No other medicines that we used, and we tried many different kinds, did him the slightest iota of good," said the father to Mr. Hutchins.

"But within a week from the day we commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, we could see beneficial results. He became more lively, and cheerful; the extreme pallor of his countenance gave way, and was succeeded by the ruddy flush of health. This nervousness vanished, and the soreness left his bowels, and he gained strength rapidly. I never heard of such a remarkably rapid and complete recovery. Dodd's Kidney Pills are truly a heaven-sent medicine, and ought to be in every house."

Dodd's Kidney Pills save every life that is in danger from Kidney Disease, if they are given a chance.

Protecting Boiled Ham.

After a ham has been boiled and before getting entirely cold it will be found a good plan to wrap around it a long strip of thin old muslin, tying it on with a string. This may be turned back as fast as the ham is sliced. In the meanwhile it keeps the edible from the intrusion of would be familiar flies.

CURE THOSE UGLY PIMPLES.

By Using Dr. Agnew's Ointment—Any Form of Eczema Helped at Once, and Cured Eventually by its Use.

Not a skin blemish caused by eczema, tetter, ring worm, salt rheum, scald head and other skin diseases that will not vanish as by magic on the application of Dr. Agnew's Ointment. One application will give quick comfort and relief, and in a few days the skin heals up and is as soft as a baby's. It will cure piles in from three to five nights—no matter what nature or how long standing. 35 cents.—Sold by Dr. S. W. Dodd and Geo. E. Hughes, Druggists.

The Unattainable.

She looked at him with soulful, pensive eyes. "In what," she asked, "do you think true earthly happiness, if it existed, would consist?" He gave the question careful consideration before he answered.

Uncanny Jewel Box.

The native Andamanese women have a curious custom. When one of them becomes a widow, she prepares the skull of her deceased husband and carries it about suspended at her side. There it answers the purpose of a treasure box, in which she places her jewels, her money and other valuable possessions, so far as space will allow.

Must Have Been a Cannibal.

The writer of a book of travels, telling of the insect pests encountered in British Guiana, makes a statement of which the best that can be said is that it is probably not so bad as it sounds. "One lady that I knew, while busy at her toilet, felt something crawling on her shoulder. She screamed and called her husband, and he had just time to knock the centipede off before biting her in the neck."

MISERIES OF NERVEOUS DYSPEPSIA

ARE MANY AND SEVERE, BUT VERY EASILY CURED.

Caused by Weak, Watery Blood, on Which the Nerves are Fed—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure the Disease and Prevent its Return.

Can't you sleep?
Does noise annoy you?
Are you low-spirited, discouraged, see no use in living?
Are you "cross," irritable, and gloomy?
Have you a desire to avoid company; do you worry over little troubles and difficulties; are you tired, and worn-out most of the time; do you feel stiff and sore all over the body when you get out of bed in the morning?
Do you have gloomy forebodings, worrying over the future of your children or dreading your own early death, for instance?
This is a truly miserable condition of affairs, and leads, positively, to much more painful and dangerous ailments. Do you understand just what the trouble is? One doctor may have told you one thing, another, something else, they have given you medicine, which did you no good.

Suill your trouble is easy to reach, easy to recognize, easy to cure. You have Nervous Dyspepsia. That means that your food does not digest properly, and that your nerves are fed on impure, weak blood, made from this improperly digested food.

The remedy lies in securing prompt, thorough, perfect digestion. Then the blood will be rich, strong and nourishing, then the nerves will be fed on food that gives them strength and vigor to do their duty properly.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, ensure perfect digestion, because they digest the food themselves, allowing the stomach to rest and recuperate. They tone the digestive organs, and bring about perfect action.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets positively and permanently cure Nervous Dyspepsia and all other digestive organs. They cost only fifty cents a box.
