SPORTS FRONT

The CBC Goofs

WE DON'T HAVE anything against soccer, it's just that we like baseball better.

Saturday afternoon the CBC gave us an English national championship soccer match. We enjoyed the ball-booting. As fellow employee Alan Holman says: "It's the greatest spectator sport in the world."

We still like baseball.

Baseball, although originating in America, is Canada's summer sport. We think the majority of Canadians would prefer to watch baseball to soccer any day.

At its best, the controversial CBC network gives us only one ball game a week. We would rather have that one game than any other sport, even if half of it usually is the New York Yankees.

There's another point. Why do we stand for their continually shoving the New York Yankees down our throats?

May we suggest to the CBC, that if they wish to show Canadians soccer, let them do so in addition to Saturday's ball game. But please don't take away our once-a-week baseball.

Turner Steals The Show

MARJORIE TURNER, 16 years old, single-handedly won the girls' team championship for Lockport in the Maritime Invitational interscholastic track and field meet at Sackville Saturday.

A grade nine Negro student at Lockport Regional High, Turner was performing in her first major track meet. She knocked a full second off the 220-yard record, winning in 26.8 seconds. She added more than five feet to the shot put record with a heave of 35 feet, eight inches. She won the 100-yard dash in 12 seconds and received three points for her second place finish in the high jump. That adds up to 18 points. Sandra Barr was second with 14 points..

David Kerr of Kings Collegiate, Windsor, came through with the outstanding performance of the cold Saturday afternoon as he hit the tape at 2:01.4 in the 880--yard run to knock three seconds off the three year record established by Walter Williams He ran a mile in 4:33 on a track slowed by unpacked cinders and against a hazardous wind.

Fredericton's Bob Murray won the 440 in 55 seconds and Peter Doyle of Saint John took the 100-yard dash in 10.7. In the girls' division, Maureen Ryan, Moncton, heaved the discus 85 ft., one inch.

Islanders Get Experience

THE REPRESENTATION at the meet by five Summerside athletes marks the first time he Island has sen contentants to tne Sackville affair, the spring's first major Maritime meet. It drew 480 entries.

None of the Islanders finished in the top three ratings in any event, but performing against the keen competition was probably of great benefit to them. Some of their marks were of a high standard.

Darrel Roddick cleared 33 feet in the hop, step and jump. Bob Phillips and Robert Waugh, Vocational School, hit the tape at 11.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash. Phillips and Roddick both had 16 feet, 6 inches in the broad jump. Waugh ran the mile in 5:16, and Dave Johnstone covered the same distance in 5:20.

Off The Cuff

DALLAS LONG obliterated his own world's shot put record Saturday with a heave of 66 feet 7¼ inches on his second effort at the West Coast relays. Long, who set the previous world mark of 65 — 11½ five weeks ago, had a 65 — 3 heave on his first effort and then exploded with his record. In the same meet, DARREL NEWMAN of Fresno State blazed 100-yards in 9-2 seconds, equalling the listed world's mark held my Frank Budd and HARRY JEROME . . . New York Yankees have never won a championship in a year ending with four. Isn't this 1964? . . The New Brunswick Baseball Association has imposed a one year suspension on manager JOE LINDSAY of Milltown Lions for using an ineligible player in last year's Intermediate "B" provincial playoffs . . . A record 22 teams registered for the New Brunswick 24th annual women's candlepin bowling championships underway at Edmundston . . . San Francisco Giants have optioned pitcher KEN MACKENZIE of Gore Bay, Ontario, to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League. He had a composite 1963 record of 3-1 and a 4.91 earned-run average. He hadn't made an appearance this season in the majors. . . . Truro is planning to build a 3,000 seat arena to replace the old, wooden one they lost by fire two years ago. If it's finished this fall they'll be looking for a senior or intermediate A hockey league to play in . . . We think WILLIE MAYS has a good chance to hit .400. We don't know if he is the game's greatest player, but he's sure our favorite.

Big League Ball Club With Female Manager

By KEN ROGERS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The iron hand that rules Salt Lake Bees has painted finger nails.

It belongs to Enid Cosgriff, the only female general manager in professional baseball.

Mrs. Cosgriff became president of the Pacific Coast League team in 1961, after Walter E. Cosgriff, her first husband and the Bees' chief executive, was killed in an auto accident.

She took on the added task of general manager last fall, shortly before marrying a Salt Lake physician, Dr. Michael Murphy.

It's tough to tell where the lady stops and the boss begins.

CAN'T BE SOFT

"Just because I am a woman, I can't let the players think I'm soft and soapy," she said. "When we have a problem with one of the players I get together with the field manager, Vedie Himsi, and decide on a policy.

The Bees were running in the red when Mrs. Cosgriff took over—the fans stayed home.

"Six weeks after the death of my husband,' she said, "I was out selling box tickets as president of the club.

"I learned from that experience not to fold when the pressure is on. Salt Lake wanted triple A baseball, and my husband was working toward keeping it here — I just stepped into his shoes.

KEPT CLUB ALIVE

"Both the club and the public looked to me to keep a competitive sport alive."

There have been charges in the Salt Lake club and in its park, Derks Field. The field, the bleachers and locker rooms are spotless.

She established a sidewalk cafe for between-inning refreshments, dressed stadium officials, including herself, in snappy blazers and put fresh flowers in offices.

There's one thing that gives the lady boss the heebie-jeebies—men sliding into base.

"I shudder when I think of the cleaning bills," she said, "but if they make it safely, I forgive them."

Boxing Ass'n Decision Is Cancelled

LONDON (AP)—The British Boxing Board of Control announced Monday it would not recognize the decision of the Ghana Boxing Authority making Ghanaian Floyd Robertson the world featherweight champion.

"The decision of the two judges who gave the fight to Ramos must be accepted," said Teddy Waltman, secretary of the BBBC, which controls the sport in England.

"All official decision must be accepted—whether they be good or bad."

Sugar Ramos, the world champion, a Cuban exile now living in Mexico, was awarded a split decision in the 15-round title bout with Robertson in Accra, Ghana Saturday.

An hour after the fight the Ghana Boxing Authority ruled the fight "no contest," and later reversed the decision and said it would recognize Robertson as the world champion.

Andy Bathgate Headlines Guests

HALIFAX (CP)—Andy Bathgate of Toronto Maple Leafs will headline the second annual Nova Scotia sports awards dinner here May 23, it was announced today.

The dinner launches an annual campaign for funds for the Nova Scotia Retarded Children's Association. About 12 sports celebrities from centres throughout Canada will be on hand for the dinner.

Entire proceeds of the dinner go to the association.

Asphalt Track Surface Causing Many Problems

By JOE DUPUIS

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP)—Two years ago, St. Lambert's track and field promoters began wrestling with a perplexing problem.

It arose after the city and Royal Canadian Legion branch 68 decided to build a track and field park incorporating every modern technique.

The question was whether to build an asphalt track, knowing that any world records set on it wouldn't be recognized, or to put down a traditional cinder track that would be harder to maintain but would qualify for international recognition.

The promoters went to various persons for advice, including Lt.-Col. Jack Davies, an engineer and also Canada's representative on the International Amateur Athletic Federation, governing body of world track and field.

Told that the group had been approached about using a commercial asphalt mixture for the running track, Davies said:

"I'm warning you now; world or national records set on anything but a conventional cinder track won't be recognized by the world governing body."

"This bit of advice really shook us," says Ed Ruthven, a Legion member of the track committee. "We spent a lot of days and nights discussing this. There was a great deal of controversy and some frayed tempers."

Presently, the committee decided to install the commercial mixture. The asphalt track is much like an ordinary road surface but more resilient. Athletes wear the short pin spikes used on boards at indoor meets rather than the customary ½-inch outdoor spikes.

Deciding on the asphalt track was "a decision not taken lightly," Ruthven says.

When Davies heard about it he was strongly critical. "This is foolish. It's silly. I can't understand what they're doing."

He said the IAAF stand won't change in the forseeable future because all European track powers "are 100 per cent against it.'

About the same time the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada released the result of a poll of its provincial branches showing the majority in favor of the IAAF refusal to recognize records set outdoors on any but cinder tracks.

The Quebec Track and Field Association, an AAU member, backed St. Lambert, announcing it would recognize any records set on the asphalt track. But this was feeble support.

SITE OF TRIALS

Before the controversy blew up, St. Lambert had been awarded the 1964 Canadian Olympic trials. There was some fear that the fuss might result in a change of venue.

However, N. A. Beach of Toronto, national AAU chairman, assured St. Lambert that it would get the trials. They'll be held Aug. 7-8, the official opening of the $100,000 park.

James K. Stewart, the alderman representing the city on the track building committee, wondered what all the controversy was about anyway. He said only three world outdoor records have been set in Canada in 20 years, all by Vancouver sprinter Harry Jerome.

"There is a trend toward non-traditional type tracks," he said. "We are constructing this track as a municipal facility to help train youngsters in track and field."

Stewart noted that there are about 160 non-traditional tracks in the United States, 93 of which are made of the same material as St. Lambert's.

EASY TO MAINTAIN

Construction of St. Lambert's Seaway Park Track and Field Centre is due to be completed in mid-June. The Legion is paying $35,000 of the cost. There will be seating for 3,800 with room for additional seats. Track maintenance cost will be nil as compared with the $1,000 to $2,000 needed to keep a cinder track in shape each year.

Hugh McMillan, a Toronto architect and former track athlete recommended by Davies as a consultant, examined the proposed site—land reclaimed from the St. Lawrence River — and approved it.

Soil tests were carried out on the rock and rubble fill and, Stewart said, they showed a serious drainage problem, one that could be solved most easily with an asphalt-type surface. It would be waterproof and usable eight months of the year.

"But there was more to it than just that," says Ian Hume, chairman of the St. Lambert Community Sports Association. "Our idea was to give athletes the best possible track on which to run. There was no feeling that we were going to deprive athletes of any records."

"There's a safety angle, too," says Stewart. "Youngsters using rubber-soled shoes have a tendency to slip and fall on a cinder track but they will have surer footing on asphalt.

"Also athletes using spikes, while they don't slip on cinder, will have surer and more uniform footing on this surface."

Players Morals Are Questioned

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—British star Bobby Wilson took several sharp cuts Monday at morals encountered in the world of championship tennis.

In a pre-view copy of his book, My Side of the Net to be published May 19, he cited these incidents:

In New York one night an American woman telephoned him and suggested she spend the night with him.

A hard-up but well-known tennis starlet who needed money so badly she gave striptease performances.

A tournament dance at a swank New York country club where they lined up a collection of debs and invited players to take their pick for the evening.

He summed up the off-court sex by saying:

"To be quite honest, I would say that the moral standards in the world of first-class tennis are not good. But then I suppose this is only to be expected when players are out of their country.

"After all, a more liberal code of behavior when abroad is certainly not something peculiar to tennis players.

"One might say that tennis players are like sailors, they have a girl in every port. This is virtually a necessity, since some tournaments finish up with a dance for which one needs a partner, and there's no shortage of girls around the tennis circuit.

"Many would seem to attend tournaments purely on the off-chance of landing a date with a player. After a few circuit trips, quite a few players will have a regular girl for each tournament they attend and meet her year after year."

Wilson—who because of his ups and downs is referred to as the enigma of British tennis —is a 29-year-old bachelor.

For seven years he represented Britain in the Davis Cup. He reached the European zone finals in 1958 and the inter-zone finals in 1963.

Retired Canadian Champ Failed His Expectations

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP)—Some saw in him the makings of a second Jimmy McLarnin and Gale Kerwin admits he tried to model his ring career on that of the Vancouverite who was world welterweight champion in the 1930s.

But the Ottawa fighter didn't make the splash in the boxing world that McLarnin did and Kerwin is the first to admit that, too.

"I should have done a lot better," he said with apparent regret in a recent interview.

Since quitting the ring in 1962 as reigning Canadian welterweight champion, Kerwin has become moderately successful in the family real estate business here. He lives with his wife and three children in a spacious home in one of Ottawa's better residential districts and manages a senior hockey team in winter.

He says he works and plays hard to keep his thoughts away from boxing, a sport he has loved since boyhood.

MADE COMEBACKS

He has already made two comebacks and at 29 doesn't rule out the idea of a third. But his father discourages that thought and his pretty wife, Joyce, would be the last to applaud such a move.

A fair junior hockey player, Kerwin didn't have to think twice about turning his full attention to boxing.

"Maybe I could have been a good senior hockey player, no more. But I loved boxing and I wanted to know how good I was at it."

Fighting out of New York in the late 1950s, with Al Lang as his manager, he won 38 of his professional fights and drew twice. In his heyday he ranked ninth in his division.

His pet punch was a left hook and it kayoed 12 of his opponents. He is proud that he was never the victim of a knockout although several of his fights were stopped when he suffered bad cuts.

He was a favorite of boxing writers because he would not hesitate to give them good copy with his predictions of victory. He became well known to millions of fans who watched Friday night fights on U.S. television.

TRIED CARTWHEELS

Late in his career he began performing somersaults and cartwheels in the ring after each win, a stunt borrowed from McLarnin.

A blood disorder and some resulting shabby performances led to his first retirement. He quit a second time when the Ontario Real Estate Board told him he couldn't combine boxing and selling.

Kerwin says boxing has helped him in his second career by giving him confidence and a name most sport fans know.

But it has also left him with some nagging might-have-been thoughts—like what might have happened if Jack Dempsey, as referee, had not stopped his non - title fight against lightweight champion Joe Brown when Kerwin suffered a deep gash over his left eye.

Brown was one of the wonders of the boxing game then and Kerwin feels he could have won that fight but for the cut. Victory would have meant a sure crack at the title.

Thoughts like that are the ones Kerwin tries to erase from his mind. "But it's tough," he says.

Track Meet Preparations Are Being Made In S'side

SUMMERSIDE — The AAU of C meeting regarding the upcoming eastern age class track and field championships being held in July 24 and 25 in Summerside was held at Crest Lanes last evening.

Present at the meeting were James Hogan, chairman; Dave Boswell, meet director; Donald Matheson, facilties manager; John Tredenick, treasurer; Charles Ballem; Shirley White, a member of the AAU of C track committee; Creelman McArthur, accommodations; and Bob Jardine, in charge of transportation.

Mr. Jardine, the first to present his report stated that no definite accommodations were made as yet because no travelling dates have been arranged. Approximately 300 athletes have to be accommodated including 27 from southwestern Ontario, Despite no definite lodging yet, the possibility of the athletes being billeted at he Summerside Air Force Base was given consideraion.

Don Matheson said that work has been done on the track field where the track meet is to be held and work on the entire area is expected to be finished by June 11 provided the weather is reasonable. Curran and Briggs contractors have started on the runway and is due to be completed next week.

Buses will be running every 20 minutes for the athletes at the two day track meet shuttling between the track site and Queen Elizabeth Park which will be used as a practice field.

The question of policeing the track and field area was discussed and was hoped that possibly the RCMP would help in this matter. The Royal Canadian Air Police at Summerside were also being considered. If both could not be of assistance AAU of C would provide their own police.

Treasurer John Tredenick stated that a loan of $800 or $900 was approved by the Federal Government, and the Centennial Commmittee in Charlottetown by all indication were also considering extending a loan of $1,000 for the big meet. Program scheduling would total $700 that would include several hundred programs.

The AAU of C has all access to Prince County Vocational High School but catering service from the school was not confirmed but perhaps could be obtained at Crest Lanes.

Among the possible stars that may attend the track and field meet from other parts of Canada include Dave Steen, ranking Canadian shot putter and discus competitor, Harry Jerome and Don Bertoia. All are from British Columbia.

From Ontario will definitely come Abigail Hoffman and Nancy MacCready. Dave Boswell stated that even entries from the northeastern United States may be entered. One particular athlete considered if participating, would be Tom O'Hara, an outstanding miler attending Loyola University of Chicago. The presence of O'Hara would certainly be a dawing card in any track meet.

WANTS SENIOR HOCKEY

Sports Editor of The Guardian:

I saw a story in Saturday's Guardian that some people in the city are thinking about trying to get a hockey team in the Nova Scoia Senior Hockey League.

I'm all for it. Even since the Big Four left Charlottetown in the mid-1950's we've had nothing to watch but second rate Island hockey. I'd like to see some good players back playing on the Island, and I'd like to see some of our own boys, Sam Gregory and Alf Flannigan for instance, playing where they should be playing; with Charlottetown.

If other fans are the same as myself they're tired of seeing the kind of rough hockey we've had here for the past few years. I want to see some Oscar Gaudet's, Alain Caron's and some of the other good players who would be playing at the Forum.

Congratulations to those persons interested in having a senior team on the Island. We're not sure who they are, but we know they're would be plenty of fans who would take an interest in forming a team if a community organization was formed like they have in Windsor, N.S.

Yes, sir, the Forum would be just like the old days with another senior hockey team.

Yours truly,

City Hockey Fan

Larry Brown Belts Homer

CLEVELAND (CP) — Fred Whitfield's grand - slam homer and a three-run blast by Larry Brown snapped Cleveland's four-game losing string and powered the Indians to a 11-7 victory over Boston Monday night.

Young Tommy John, a 20-year-old left-hander, was breezing along with a six-hitter and a 10-run lead when the Red Sox suddenly struck for six runs after two were out in the ninth.

An error, John's walk, and singles by Lou Clinton, Dick Stuart and Tony Conigliaro produced three Boston Runs and brought on Gary Bell, who promptly walked the next two men, forcing in one run. Chuck Schilling singled in two more before Ted Abernathy finally got the side out.

Dancer Prepares For Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Northern Dancer, Kentucky Derby winner, stepped through is final extended workout Monday in preparation for Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness, and trainer Horatio Luro expressed satisfaction over the condition of the little hard - hitting Canadian-owned colt.

"I would have preferred he went a little faster," said Luro after Northern Dancer worked one mile in 1:53 3-5. "But I was satisfied. We'll now take it easy until post time."

Northern Dancer, owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor won the Kentucky Derby in a record two minutes.

Meantime, two of the Dancer rivals also were on the track for their final serious workouts.

Roman Brother, fourth in the Kentucky Derby, went the one mile in 1:41 1-5.

Quadrangle, fifth in the run for the roses at Churchill Downs was asked to go only five-eighths of a mile and he did it in 1:01 1-5.
