A 14-year-old Summerside youth, Haddon Mellish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mellish, Found Street, who was the object of a intensive Maritime-wide search late Tuesday when he failed to return home after leaving for school in the afternoon was discovered yesterday morning in Pelicodiac, N. R.C.M.P. at Summerside had radioed the lad's description throughout their Maritime network and received word about nine o'clock yesterday from their Pelicodiac detachment that he had been found.

BORDEN SOCIAL CLUB

Despite the inclement weather a large group of the members of the Ladies Social Club gathered at the home of Mrs. George Burch on Wednesday, January 24th.

The president, Mrs. Harold Coggins conducted the meeting while Mrs. Stanley MacLean had charge of the very effective worship period. At the opening of the New Year the club finds itself with much to be grateful for. All outstanding bills paid, an excellent and interested attendance of its members, now they are planning an all-out effort to pay off the debt on the new church.

Tentative plans were made for a bean supper to be held in the church basement. Further details will be planned later. A grab bag occasioned much merriment and added the splendid sum of seven dollars to the Club's funds. Twenty-three members answered roll-call and the president welcomed four visitors. At the close of the business meeting a brief social hour was enjoyed. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Jay, Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald and Mrs. Phillips served a delicious lunch. Thanks for her hospitality were extended to Mrs. Burch by the departing members.—A

Check Report Radioactivity Is Detected

CHALK RIVER, Ont., Jan. 31—(CP) — A report that radioactivity from atomic explosions in Nevada has been detected near Ottawa is being checked by atomic scientists, officials here said today.

They stressed that there is only the slightest chance that human lives would be endangered and said the report itself, on inspection, may prove unfounded. The report, an official said, indicated there was no danger to humans.

He declined to say where the report originated in case, if proven false, it might embarrass the man who made it. He would only say the area was near Ottawa, 125 miles southeast of here.

The official said American authorities notified Canada the explosions were coming.

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Henry Joseph, 95, prominent Montreal business man and all-round athlete in his youth, died today. Educated at McGill University, he was a member of the University's first intercollegiate football team. He also played hockey and excelled at billiards. McNeill - Cambell Wedding

— A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rt. Rev. Msgr. G. J. MacLellan on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Mary's Convent Chapel, Summerside, when Florence Matilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Campbell of St. George's parish, became the bride of Gerald Osborn McNeill, son of Mrs. McNeill and the late D. F. McNeill.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Neil McIntyre, of Summerside, the bride chose for her wedding a suit of blue mist wool with wine accessories and she wore a corsage of pink carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Matilda McIntyre, who was attired in a suit of wine wool with grey accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Tanton McNeill, a brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party at the home of the groom's mother, after which they left on a honeymoon trip to Charlottetown and the eastern section of the Province. On return they will reside in Summerside.—S

Board Turns

Marketing Board a resolution which resulted from the Summerside meeting and which reads as follows: "Be it resolved that it be recommended to the marketing board that the levy be reduced to one half cent per cwt., and that such levy be collected from producers by means to be arranged by the Board and that as dealers we will agree to act as collecting agents for levy."

The proposals of the dealers were discussed at length and then the delegation and the Provincial Marketing Board withdrew to permit the Potato Marketing Board to reach a decision.

The Marketing Board agreed with the dealers that the levy should be collected from the growers. They expressed opinion that this was no change in their policy as the Board felt that the growers had always paid the levy.

Potato marketing officials stated that if at the end of the year they found that a surplus was created at the present rate of levy, the amount of levy next year would be reduced accordingly as the needs warranted.

Following the refusal of the Board to reduce the levy the dealer delegation again strongly urged the board to reconsider their decision.

"In view of the poor potato season," a dealer spokesman stated, "we ask you to keep the levy on the grower at a minimum of not more than one cent per cwt." The dealers also made further proposals which the Marketing Board agreed to consider.

Only a small part of the money collected will be used for administration purposes, stated a Marketing Board official. The greater part of it will be used for the promotion and protection of the industry.

A Few Delinquents

A Potato Marketing Board spokesman last night stated that the majority of the dealers had co-operated wonderfully so far in paying the levy but that there were a few delinquents.

There seemed to be unanimous agreement among the dealers that the levy is necessary and from the tone of the meeting it was evident that the full co-operation of the Prince County dealers would be forthcoming, he stated.

Representing the dealers at the meeting were Messrs. James L. MacDougall, Summerside; Fred Bingham, Summerside; J. R. Holman, Kensington; P. J. Callaghan, Kinkora; and H. B. Willis, Charlottetown; Mr. Willis was on the committee because he does business in Prince County.

Provincial Marketing Board members present were Messrs. J. O. C. Campbell, Deputy Attorney-General; H. J. MacDonald, Dairy Superintendent; and J. Lincoln Dewar, Secretary of the Federation of Agriculture.

The Potato Marketing Board was represented by Messrs. D. A. MacDonald, Chairman; E. D. Reid, Manager; Jerome O'Brien, Charlottetown; Fred Bell, Summerside.

Farmers Institute North Bedeque Review Year's Work

—The North Bedeque Farmers Institute held their annual meeting in Bedeque hall on Thursday, January 25th. The President Mr Ruben Large presided and opened the meeting with a short address reviewing the work that had been accomplished since last meeting.

The Secretary and sales manager, Mr. Horace Heustis gave a resume of the years business, stating the total sales amounted to $49,699.44, a slight decrease from previous year. It is the object of the Institute to carry a small stock continuously of: feeds, concentrates, shell, grit, spray material, paint, seeds and binder-twine.

As the capital of the institute is small the interest charges amounted to quite an item in carrying on the business.

The Auditors report was given by Mr. T. J. Inman, who stated that he and Mr. Henderson had gone through the Secretary's papers and books and found them in excellent shape, and complimented the Institute on having such an efficient secretary.

Various farm topics were discussed; feed values of imported mixed grounds grain was considered inferior to our local home grown grains; price of seeds and fertilizer for coming year, Potato Marketing Board, Co-operative buying and selling of farm requirements. Etc.

The discussion was taken part in by Frank Jardine, Edwin Lord, George Hogg, The President and Secretary, and several other leading dairymen of the community.

The idea of creating a sinking fund by a small charge on all goods sold was also considered.

The following officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year: Ruben Large, President, James Marchbank; Vice President, Horace Heustis; Secretary and sales manager, Edwin Lord; Wilbur Stavert; Frank Jardine; Irving Hogg; and James Clark; Auditors, T. J. Inman and Arnold Henderson. —B ing, and outlined the purpose of the Legion's plan "Operation Preparedness." He stated the Legion feels industrial mobilization, and mobilization of man power are essential, and the Federal Government had not taken sufficient steps in these directions. He added that meetings similar to the one in Charlottetown last evening were being held throughout the Dominion to urge the Government to take the necessary steps.

Meeting Stresses

Appreciation of the Legion to those in attendance in spite of the extremely cold weather, was expressed by H. Vessey, who continued to say the Legion was concerned both with military preparedness and civilian defence. He expressed the thanks of the meeting to Phil Palmer, chairman of the committee on "Operation Preparedness", and his fellow committee men; Stan Bryant Ivan Whalen and Whiston Smith.

Lt. Col. Leo F. MacDonald stated it was his opinion the matter of preparedness was a very serious problem. "Citizens have a very definite responsibility and duty to perform", he said, and then commended the Legion on taking the necessary action in the matter at hand.

He urged that beyond national registration, the Federal Government should be urged to take steps in regard to the training of reserve forces, and said the Government should be made to feel the Canadian taxpayer is urging the need of such steps. He concluded by saying that in spite of advertising, recruiting had not been up to expectations and drastic steps should be taken.

Chairman Peake told the meeting that Canada had at present a total armed force of 114,000 as against Britain's 1,800,000. He stated Canada should have at least 600,000 men in the armed forces to compare with Britain's total.

For Compulsory Training

Major T. E. MacNutt expressed strongly the belief that both sexes should receive compulsory training, and said that every 18-year-old man in England must spend two years in compulsory service.

He continued by saying there were four rules of citizenship, which he outlined as follows: 1. Defence of country. 2. Payment of taxes. 3. Enforcement of law, and 4. Education of youth. He said that although the last three of these were compulsory the first one was voluntary.

Major MacNutt said the Legion had advocated conscription as far back as 1932, and it was his opinion this was the only solution to the present problem. "Young people cannot take the field without six months training," he said. He concluded his brief talk by saying "Nations in times of peace must prepare themselves for war."

Red Cross Organization

Brief talks were also given by Mr. R. H. Rogers, Provincial President of the Red Cross and Miss I. Arsenault, Provincial Commissioner. Each of these speakers told of the work done in the past by the Red Cross organization, and Miss Arsenault stated she hoped the meeting would approve the resolution drawn up by the Canadian Legion.

Major Lawson Jenkins, M.C., Secretary of the Vernon Bridge branch of the Canadian Legion and Chairman of the Disaster Services committee of the Red Cross stated Canada was not prepared for war and should be urged to take drastic action.

The final speaker, Mr. N. W. Lowther, stated the best way to secure peace is by the strength of arms, and the Legion is pressing for preparedness as the best preventative. At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Lowther read the resolution to the meeting and moved its adoption.

It was stated the resolution would be forwarded to the three Federal representatives: W. C. S. McLure, T. J. Kickham and J. Watson MacNaught, and copies would also go to Senators J. P. MacIntyre, G. H. Barbour and T. V. Grant.

bridge which in February a year ago was closed to heavy traffic while repairs were made to cracks in the concrete under the bridge to a point said to be considerably away from today's defection.

The Premier made his statement about subversive elements without complete information. But said he was led to this conclusion because of "the timing" of the early morning disaster and the fact that the bridge was named "The Duplessis Bridge."

The 42-foot-wide highway span —part of the main route between Montreal and Quebec—was one of the prides of Three Rivers and was named after one of its most illustrious sons, Mr. Duplessis' father. Mr. Duplessis himself sits in the Legislature for the constituency of Three Rivers. His father was a judge and former Three Rivers mayor.

No Chance To Escape

The four known dead had no chance to escape. As the bridge floor-work collapsed into the St. Maurice River in 26-below zero weather their cars plumetted down and lodged in the water left open by the bridge's impact with the ice. Some of the headlights remained on with the cars under water.

Otherwise the scene was one of darkness and horror because with the crash of the structure all lighting on the bridge was extinguished. All telephone communication across the bridge and east of Three Rivers also was snapped.

Brush With Disaster

For other car drivers—many of them taxi drivers—the bridge fall was a close brush with disaster. Some were able to put their brakes on just in time. One was barely across the collapsed portion before it went down.

Taxi driver James Spencer told of hearing a queer rumbling noise as he drove over the bridge.

"I am convinced that what I heard was the bridge starting to give way," he said. "It was a matter of split seconds between life and death for me."

The bitter cold and the darkness hampered efforts of police and would-be rescue workers to reach the cars which were tossed onto and through the ice. Finally work was suspended until after daylight when the Mayor took over official direction.

The dead were listed as R. Fiset of Montreal, and Noel Doucet and Alfred Beaubien and H. P. Gendron, all of Cap de la Madeleine.

Injured were Maurice Suprenant of Montreal and two Three Rivers residents, Benoit Lefebvre and Roger Landry. They were in a car which fell from the bridge. But apart from frostbite they suffered only minor injuries.

Never Forget It

Said Lefebvre, "I'll never forget this as long as I live. We were in the car on one of the sections which collapsed. The floor of the bridge began to shake. The car zigged and sagged and the first thing we knew our car was 50 feet below on the ice."

Suprenant said: "I thought I was in a cement mixer for a while."

At the daily newspaper Le Nouvelliste, getting ready its early edition, calls were received from residents asking had an earthquake occurred.

In Ottawa, Defence Minister Claxton said in the Commons he will find out if his Department can do anything to provide a temporary replacement for the bridge.

Leon Balcer (PC—Trois Rivieres) asked if the Defence Department could supply a temporary replacement.

Mr. Claxton said he had heard of the collapse only a few minutes before he entered the Commons. No request for assistance had been received from the Quebec Government.

Farewell Party For Mr. Fridgen

The Kinsmen and Kinettes held a joint meeting at the Olympia Restaurant, Summerside, on Tuesday evening at which the main item of business was a farewell presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fridgen, who are leaving shortly to live in Ottawa.

The preseniation to Mr. Fridgen of a brief case was made by club president Greg Mulholland who recalled Mr. Fridgen's many services to the club during the more than three years that he has been a member. "BRIGHT LEAF," GARY COOPER STARRING, IN LOCAL DEBUT —"Bright Leaf," Warner Bros. long-awaited picturization of the brilliant novel, comes to the Capitol Theatre today for a week's engagement.

Starring Garry Cooper, Patricia Neal, Lauren Bacall and Jack Carson, the picture is assured of a major cast strong enough to portray the roles in a story of the building of a tobacco empire in the old South, set against a background of Southern mansions, beautiful women, fiery tempers and courtly manners — all that went to make a story of the proportions that has not been seen since the epic "Gone With the Wind."

As Brant Royle, a devil-may-care southerner, Gary Cooper returns to his home town to woo again the aristocratic Patricia Neal whose father, played by Donald Crisp, will have none of him. Cooper launches a tobacco empire which ultimately ruins Crisp, and while he marries the girl, is never happy with her. Only Lauren Baacall, another beauty of shady background who loves him, and Jack Carson, playing a medicine show barker who decides to settle in the southern town, remain loyal as the empire subsequently crashes.

Alberton Adults Club Holds Regular Meeting

—The enthusiasm of those who attended the Alberton Adults Club in the United Church Hall on Monday evening shows that the four-fold programme is proving a popular attraction.

To the rousing strains of "Jingle Bells" the "sing-song" got under way with Mrs. Wesley Hardy as presiding officer and Miss Annie Leard as accompanist. On concluding the hearty singing of several songs, the president conducted the devotional and Rev. P. A. Fitzpatrick gave a talk on "Real Happiness According to Jesus," using the blackboard to bring out the ideals of the Beatitudes.

In the business period Mrs. Fred Leard was chosen secretary-treasurer during the period the regular officer, Mrs. C. H. Johnston, is absent because of an accident. Letters were to be sent to Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Cyril Leard hoping for a speedy recovery.

The pastor gave a practical talk on "Asbestos and Alumnium", using charts and maps to especially deal with materials which are used in aluminum manufacture. Bauxite mines in Guiana, cryolite from Greenland, petroleum coke from U.S.A., fluorspar from Southern Europe and the smelters at Arvida and Shawinigan Falls, Quebec, with a large number of charts of the articles produced gave the Group an insight into the place this industry holds.

Following this brief but interesting talk, several tables of crokinole, checkers and other games were directed by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coffin. All games were keenly contested. Dainty refreshments were served under the convenership of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. MacDonald.

The next gala time planned by the Group is the last Monday in February. Married and single adults are all included in the programme planned.
