The car was proceeding towards Montague at an early hour of the morning, when, at a point nearly opposite MacKenzie's mill, the right front tire blew, causing the driver to lose control and the car drove heading into the telephone post snapping it off at the base. However, the occupants escaped with only minor cuts and bruises.

Port Alfred, Que. - unloading bauxite

Port Alfred - loading aluminium

"... add a pinch of bauxite"

It is a recipe for a bigger, richer, more comfortable Canada. The "pinch" is scores of shiploads of the red earth—bauxite—from British Guiana. A three-thousand-mile ocean journey ends at Port Alfred on the Saguenay River. Then the bauxite goes by rail to the electrical "kitchen" at Arvida a few miles away. There aluminum is refined from the bauxite by using electricity provided by harnessing the same Saguenay.

You see, the Saguenay provides two essentials for making aluminum—deep water for cargo ships and cataraacts for power—within a few miles of one another.

Standing on the dock at Port Alfred, you see something unique. You watch freight cars filled with bauxite disappear over a hill and return with shining aluminum. The process of turning bauxite into aluminum has added Port Alfred and the city of Arvida to Canada's living space, and opened new opportunities for thousands of Canadians.
