

MR. AND MRS. RONALD SMITH

Trip To Montreal Follows Ceremony At St. Paul's

The marriage of Pamela Louise Elaine Aitken, daughter of Mrs. W. Reginald Aitken and the late Mr. Aitken, to Ronald William James Smith, son of Mrs. W. A. Smith and the late Major Smith, all of Charlottetown, was solemnized at St. Paul's Anglican Church on Saturday, May 15th.

Rev. J. Louis Elias performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Archdeacon J. R. Davies, who celebrated the Holy Communion. The junior and senior choirs under the direction of George A. Thompson, ARCO (Chm) ARCM, sang as a processional "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven".

The bride, on the arm of her uncle, John H. Leuty, wore a floor length princess line gown of bridal silk organza over tulle, with lace scalloped neckline and long, lily point sleeves. Her pearl coronet held a tiered shoulder length veil of bouffant illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, stephanotis and ivy. She wore a single strand of pearls, and earrings, gift of the groom.

Two charming flower girls, Heide and Kim Elias, wearing floor length dresses of white taffeta with blue sashes and carrying baskets of pastel flowers, led the bridal procession.

The maid of honor, Diana Lancaster, was gowned in a floor length dress of blue pean-de-sole with matching lace jacket and veil trimmed flower headpiece.

Judy Smith, niece of the groom and Susan Leuty, cousin of the bride wore similar gowns to that of the maid of honor, in yellow pean-de-sole with matching lace jackets and veil trimmed flower head-dresses. All three attendants carried nosegays of pastel flowers.

Groomsman was Terry Manning of Charlottetown, and Lynn Takle and Donald Nelson of Charlottetown and David Connell and Andrew Leuty of Summerside ushered the guests to their seats.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Montgomery Hall.

The bride's mother was wearing a gown of sapphire pean-de-sole and flowered hat of matching shade, with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The mother of the groom chose for her son's wedding a mint green silk ensemble with flowered hat and she wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. Janet Asprey circulated the guest book. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Elias and replied to by the groom.

Lynn Takle acted as master of ceremonies, and Terry Manning proposed a toast to the bridesmaids.

For her wedding trip to Montreal, the bride wore a sky blue coat with white fox collar, blue petal hat and white accessories.

ELLEN'S DIARY

We Gather Wood Chips For The Breakfast Fire

"Do you hear that, Ellen?" James queried this morning, stirring on his pillow. "And doesn't it sound good! But it means... all hands on deck" we supplied with a chuckle. That was the delightful birdsong we hear early in the quiet of the morning on a farm such as this. One not at all isolated in the summery seasons, apart from the world without.

It is good to come to the day while it is still new, the air freshened, cleaned by the night's dew. Before the wind comes by, when every last twig and leaflet is still. So quiet it is then, all about. No passing traffic - none. It is too early yet for that exodus which takes some folks off the farms to other callings. Yet there is interesting activity about.

We come to the outdoors, perhaps as far as the woodshed to gather up chips to hurry the breakfast-fire. A swallow wings by intent on a matter of building, so close it startles us. Tabby, paw damp, comes up the shortest from the mill. Papa Starling oblivious to watchers, bears up food to his home. Wild ducks fly on that course which leads above the spruces in the low of the valley, facing riverward. And there by the stream where a dark shape moves in the rushes, a muskrat excursions in the quiet. The fields up the farm are hazy. And nearer us the tulips' bright cups remain closed. Will the sun shine? Or are there showers in the offing? We wonder. "Now there's the right shower!" Mack smiled, getting down from the tractor or he had brought in through it from the fieldwork, this evening. "It is just continues, it will be worth more than we could guess, to the farms."

We hear now the ripple of an cave's spout, a sound which ending a fairly dry period, is indeed good to hear. Seeds will now germinate and grow, grasses increase, clovers thrive in the haylands. The sowing of grain was today's interest of our farmers, with fields also being as we say, "seeded down."

"Seeded down" Peter nodded. "I know what that means: two kinds of seeds are being sown at the same time - big and little: grain and grass-seeds."

He was pleased to catch rides on the little truck which supplied such seeds to the fields. Once when it returned to the yards, and in a happy picture, he and his grandfather rode "second", seated on a heap of empty sacks. A nice knowledge of the farm and the farmist, the lad would there even unwittingly absorb, truths taught and sayings, to make treasured memories for him all up the years.

Until tomorrow -- Diary
