Information against him or the source of that information." The question of changing the party's name by dropping the word "Progressive" from its title did not come before the meeting. Several resolutions proposing change were proposed by constituency associations but were dropped by the resolutions committee.

George Nowlan, retiring association president, told reporters that the suggestion was not raised in the general meeting. One resolution concerned oil and gas pipelines. It said the West's gas and oil should be sold "on the soundest economic basis, with due regard to security of supply for Canadians."

Other resolutions repeated policies already adopted by the party. They proposed: 1. A contributory health insurance plan in co-operation with the provinces, giving full recognition to existing medical insurance plans. 2. Lower taxes; redistribution of taxing power among federal, provincial and municipal governments; sales-tax exemption for municipal councils and school boards on purchases of machinery and equipment; federal payment of municipal taxes on government property.

Ask Expanded Markets
Regaining and expansion of world markets for food and other primary products, especially in the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth. 3. Processing of minerals in Canada as much as is economically possible before export. 4. Conservation of forests, streams and other resources and development of oil and hydro-electric resources in the interests of Canada. 5. A resolution on unemployment.

Basic Principles
The first resolution to be passed stated the party's "basic principles" as loyalty to the Crown, maintenance of "the closest possible relationship" with the Commonwealth and Empire, and private enterprise and initiative. It added: "It is essential that the present trend towards bureaucratic control be halted; that the supremacy of Parliament be restored, and that in this way our fundamental freedoms and liberties may be maintained."

It is likewise essential that punitive taxation as at present borne by our people be eased and that extreme care be taken before embarking upon experiments of excursions likely to increase the burden under which we now labor.

Let's Talk It Over

Some one has said: "Progress is a two-edged sword." This has been rather tragically exemplified ever since the days of the Industrial Revolution in England when the invention of new machines began to lessen the need of man power, and to force men out of employment. In the many years that have elapsed since then, very little improvement has been made in this deplorable condition. Machines continue to create unemployment and our statesmen have been able to do very little about it.

As cancer remains the "bete noir" of the medical profession, this unemployment situation seems to be the great stumbling block of the economic world. But while medical men are tireless in their efforts to conquer the cancer problem, economists seem to consider the unemployment enigma a natural by-product of advanced civilization, and little is heard of attempts to solve it. Make-shift methods intended to alleviate rather than obliterate the conditions are about as far as they go.

This strange indifference to what some people think is an intolerable condition is brought home to us when the fact of 500,000 being unemployed in Canada is termed by a government spokesman as "unpleasant, but not serious." Yet there are few things that strike harder at the happiness of family life, and the character and dignity of man than to be in the humiliating position of a dependent of the state. Unemployment presents a distinct challenge to present-day and future statesmen. Surely any prevention of machines should not result in degradation and misery to human beings who are more important than machines.

the different grading stations but don't take our egg grading stations away from us," he stated.

"I agree that the Department of Agriculture should take a more active part in controlling weeds," he continued. "Mustard is bad but we have other weeds which give us much trouble. We have ragweed in the Eastern part of the province which is poisonous to cats and sheep and grows where the land has not been cultivated. I am afraid that if the Department does not step in this weed will take over."

He also suggested that the Department encourage more custom cleaning of seed and thus eliminate weed seeds in grain.

Mr. Cullen commended the Government for their work in encouraging the growth of small fruits and vegetables and suggested that a horticulturalist be appointed to help in the development of this industry particularly in the growth of strawberries, blueberries and beans.

He stated that the Government policy of subsidizing limestone had done more for agriculture than any other policy and noted that although Island soil is fertile it is lacking in lime.

He recalled that much muscled mud had been taken from St. Peter's Bay back around 1914-15 and shipped across the Province to improve the lime content of the soil.

Mr. Cullen extended his congratulations to St. Dunstan's University on the occasion of their Centennial celebrations. He stated that he had attended S.D.U. for a year and a half and his only regret was that he didn't stay longer.

He also attended P.W.C. for a year and stated that the morning periods which lasted from 8.15 to one o'clock were far too long for any growing boy or girl. "During the last morning period I was there in body and that was all," he stated.

He stated that the morning period at the College was still too long and suggested that it be shortened from nine to twelve. He also suggested that the construction of a dormitory so that the students would be under proper supervision might also help conditions.

He approved of the Government's proposal to increase salaries and hoped that the school districts, although the times were hard during the past year, would not decrease the supplements on account of the Government increase.

The Second Kings Minister congratulated the Minister of Public Works and Highways and also the machine operators for the work that was done in his district last year. "It was a great credit that we got as many miles done last year as we did," he stated.

He asked for payment on the approaches to both Morell and St. Peter's Bay. "The road from Morell up to the Catholic Church needs to be paved as it carries a lot of traffic. We also need pavement on the hill going into St. Peter's a distance of about a quarter of a mile," he stated.

Mr. Cullen stated there were not enough snow plows in King's County and suggested that the Government do something about widening out the hills and back slopes where the snow was causing bottlenecks.

He stated that the Government's program on rural electrification would do much to keep young people on the farm and stated that the Farm Improvement Loan was available for the distribution of electricity.

In his remarks Mr. Cullen paid tribute to Premier Matheson and Senator Jones.

Bedeque Notes

Sergeant Wendell Reeves and Mrs. Reeves and little daughter were visitors to Bedeque on Sunday. Mr. Reeves had been serving in the Navy on the Air Carrier Magnificent. At present he is at the air training camp, Summerside, on a brief furlough. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reeves, North Bedeque, and a brother of Mrs. George Affleck, Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Millill and son Gordon, Summerside, were visitors to Bedeque on Sunday afternoon, where they were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Simms. They also paid a brief visit with Mr. Milligan's aunt, Mrs. Ernest Weeks and Mr. Weeks.

Her many friends and relatives in Bedeque were sorry to learn that Miss George MacFarlane, R.N., had the misfortune to fall on the way home from nursing duties at the Prince County Hospital last Wednesday, when she fractured her left wrist.

Mr. Gregory Corbett of the Bar, Summerside, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred on Sunday last.

The twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson, Pictou, N.S., who has been residing with his grandfather, Mr. George Rogers, Chelton, near Bedeque, decided to try a little adventuring on his own recently. So he set out for Southport without telling anybody what he was up to. When his absence was discovered the R.C.M.P. at Borden were informed. The woods in the nearby area were searched on night and the following day. A radio announcement was made. Soon it was learned that the young chap had arrived at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Gordon Cooper, Southport. By hitch-hiking he made the trip. All is well that ends well.

Rev. G. K. Ward, pastor of Bedeque Charge, United Church, delivered the second in his series of sermons on the Seven Last Words from the Cross on Sunday morning, March 14. There was a large gathering.

Rev. Charles A. Britten, pastor of Central Bedeque United Baptist Church, is delivering a series of sermons on the Seven Last Words from the Cross.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Artemas Wright, Middleton, who passed away on March 12, was held from her late residence on Monday afternoon. Rev. J. H. Bishop, Charlottetown, assisted by Rev. George K. Ward, Bedeque, officiated. Interment was in Lower Bedeque Cemetery.

The sympathy of friends in Bedeque and the surrounding communities is extended to Mr. Elliot Wright and other members of the family, on the occasion of the death of their mother, Mrs. Artemas Wright, on March 12. B.Q.

Capacity Audiance

Mr. Frank Costello sang "Killarney" and as an encore continued with "Believe Me If I These endearing young charms." Mr. Earle Clinton in response to his only request sang three comedy numbers in a row, including the ever popular "I had a Hat", the others being "When Paddy begins to play the Harp" and "I don't care if I do".

Characters appearing in the play were: Jennings, a butler, Lorne Hennessey; Julie, Rita MacDonald; George Gresham, with a future, John Walsh; Aunt Maria, with accent on Boston, Mary MacInnis; Dawn O'Day, you'll get up early to beat her, Joan Connolly; Patience, who has none, Teresa Rossiter; John Coit, head of the Paramount Radio Corporation, J. Pius Callaghan; Shane Casey, butler by chance, Everett Casey; Bentley, snoring reporter, Hugh Traylor; Nora, a second maid, Carol McCormick; Trudy, a new recruit, Patricia Morris.

Music was provided by the Charlottetownians composed of the following: Violin, Alf McKearney; Sax, Mickey Coker; Sax, Charley McGregor; Trumpet, Harold McRae; Drums, Garry McNevin; Piano, A. H. Maclean, Director.

Mr. Hugh Connor capably filled the position of Master-of-Ceremonies.

President Speaks
Previous to the last act Mr. John W. Hogan, President of the Benevolent Irish Society spoke briefly expressing his thanks on behalf of the organization to those who contributed in any way to the undoubted success of the entertainment. Marking, as it did, the 12th anniversary of the founding of the Society in Charlottetown, the day found the organization in a highly successful place in the benevolent and social life of the community.

Through the co-operation of the Ladies' Aid of the Benevolent Irish Society presided over by Mrs. Joseph Costello the children of both orphanages were guests of the organization at the musical performance. A treat of home made candy was given each child in attendance and supper was served to the dance group from St. Vincent's. Cars were provided by members of the Society for the conveyance of the children.

The play will be staged again this evening bringing to a close a highly memorable and successful celebration by the B.I.S. and their friends.

Final Games In Minor Series At Stadium Friday

The final games of the minor hockey leagues will be played at Raceway Stadium on Friday evening, when town champions will be declared in the paperweight, pee-wees, bantams and mid-level divisions. The paperweights will get under way at 6:30, pee-wees at 7:30, bantams at 8:30 and mid-levels at 9:30. The games are under the supervision of the Summerside Athletic Association, and it is hoped the fans will turn out in large numbers to see this climax of a very busy season's work with the younger players. In order to defray the cost of ice time and equipment a small fee, 25c will be charged, and tickets may be bought from managers, coaches or players.

A lot of untiring effort has been put into this worthwhile program by the coaches, managers, referees, other officials, and last but not least, the secretary of the association, Jimmie Hogan, but for whose faithful and energetic service the program could not have been carried out so successfully. If the people appreciate what has been done, they can best show this appreciation by coming out to see the boys in action Friday night.

Hockey At Crapaud Rink
At Crapaud rink last night, the New Haven Royals defeated the Crapaud Heartbreakers 7-4.

In school hockey games Crapaud defeated Hampton 6-1 and Augustine Cove defeated Victoria 9-5.

Today at 5 p.m. Crapaud Bantams will leave to meet Montague Bantams in the first game of the finals for the P.E.I. championship.

other vegetables. In addition the ships carried a total of over 200,000 pounds of fresh meat while the processed meat and dressed poultry weighed over 192,000 pounds. Eggs were a big item with more than 159,000 dozen being shipped, and butter ran to 147,000 pounds. Other main items included 10,000 pounds of cheese; 1,682 head of live cattle; 3,950 head of live swine; 18,222 live poultry; 89 live horses; 79 live sheep; 196,000 pounds of hay and feeds; and 136,000 pounds of miscellaneous freight.

The report of the Minister also noted that the work in the harbour here meant an income of approximately $10,000 to local longshoremen.

Cold Storage Plant
The activities at the cold storage plant were also noted by Hon. Mr. Cullen who said that during last year there were 803,474 pounds of fish in storage. This added much to the total of 3,864,619 pounds held in storage during the year. The amount represented an increase of 385,584 pounds over the previous year.

Among the fish in storage there were 266,837 pounds of herring; 174,905 pounds of smelts; 128,184 pounds of mackerel; 50,040 pounds of quahaugs; 17,010 pounds of eels and tomcods; and 153,498 pounds of other varieties. Most of the herring for bait was sold locally, whereas in former seasons it was mainly exported.

A large number of blueberries, representing a considerable increase over the previous year were also in storage with a total of 201,000 pounds. All of them were cleaned and graded at the plant after freezing. There were more than 401,000 pounds of strawberries in storage with a large amount being hauled there after freezing.

The quantity of cheese in storage was down from the previous year with only 7,410 boxes, or 566,106 pounds, being handled. This was a drop of 198,000 pounds. Poultry was also down a half-million pounds, but butter was up 201,504 pounds. Other commodities in storage last year were animal feed, 110,000 pounds, meats, 40,000 pounds, and eggs, 27,000 pounds. Other fruits and vegetables accounted for 667,462, an increase of 292,000 pounds.

over to P.W.C. where they should be.

"Some of the teaching in First and Second Year at P.W.C. is carried on at the University level. History in First Year is taught in the auditorium to four or five divisions at once. One would think that with only 15% more students and 87% more teachers than they had in 1943 the teachers could spend at least 45 minutes with each division," he stated.

Dr. Bonnell noted that the tourist industry is the third largest industry in the Province. "In this connection we must remember that the most important thing is the roads," he stated.

"I can't see how King's County can ever get those tourists dollars until we get the pavement or a first class road from Wood Islands to East Point. The tourists won't go through the mud," he stated.

"The tourists also look for good trout fishing. We have a lovely trout fishing pond at Murray River although it has been nearly fished out. What is needed there is a fish ladder."

The Fourth King's member thanked the Minister of Public Works and Highways for the roads in his District. He suggested that a bonus be given to the machine operators. "You should pay them while they are greasing up in the morning and while they are going home so that the District won't have to pay for this part of their work," he stated.

He stated that he was glad the Member from Second King's (Mr. Cullen) found farming such an independent life. He stated that a hard time to get a pair of pants while a youngster that he thought he would try some other way to make a living.

Dr. Bonnell, in his opening remarks, said it was an honor for him and the people of Fourth King's to have the Hon. A. W. Matheson representing them as Premier.
