The Disabled Sarnia.

ARRIVAL HOME OF HEDLEY V. PALMER, ONE OF THE PASSENGERS.

MR H. V. PALMER, Clerk of the City Court, returned from his trip to England this forenoon. Mr. Palmer was one of the passengers on the steamer Sarnia, so long overdue, and for whose safety fears were at a time entertained. He reports that the passage across, barring the accident, was a very pleasant one. The Sarnia left Liverpool on the 2nd inst., and all went well until Saturday, the 11th, when the unfortunate occurrence which caused the delay took place. The accident to the steamer consisted in the breaking of the star-crank shaft in the bearings. The fracture occurred about ten o'clock in the morning, and at one in the afternoon the steamer American came along side and offered assistance which was refused by the captain who thought to be able to repair the damage in a much shorter time than it took to do the work. The engineers worked at the repairs for all they were worth, but it was not until the following Friday that the work was completed and the engines were once more started. Amidst the cheering of the passengers—some six hundred and fifty in all. On Sunday afternoon, while the ship was proceeding on her voyage under her own steam the steamer Newfoundland was sighted. The Newfoundland had been sent out with the Lunenburg to search for the Sarnia. Both steamers sailed into Halifax harbor together, arriving at the quarantine station about ten o'clock in the evening. Mr. Palmer speaks very highly of Captain Smith, who, with the other officers of the ship, did all in his power for the comfort of the passengers during the voyage, and was especially attentive to them after the accident. Mr. Palmer appears to be in excellent health after his well-earned holiday.

Indignation in the Country.

Political Meeting at Donagh.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

A political meeting was held at Donagh Schoolhouse on the evening of the 20th inst. The attendance was large. Patrick J. Trainor, Esq., was called to the chair, and the undersigned was appointed secretary.

The Hon. D. Ferguson was first called on. He called Mr. Peters to account for attacking him behind his back in the House of Assembly, and for excusing himself for so doing by untruthfully alleging that Mr. Ferguson had, in his letters to the press, attacked his (Mr. Peters) father. Mr. Ferguson produced the letters in question, and challenged any man among them to find one word in them regarding Mr. Peters' father. He said that Mr. Peters' own record furnished ample grounds for criticism without attacking the dead. He then showed that the Sullivan Administration had reduced the expenditure by over $100,000 a year; that they received from the Dominion in refunds (not from capital) an amount in annuities, representing principal, and otherwise, equal to $600,000, while the entire cost of the delegation which secured this money was only about $5,000. On the other hand, he showed that the Peters Government among them had reduced the expenditure by over $150,000 by debentures, which would have to be repaid with interest, and that the cost of printing, negotiating and discounting the same was $7,344.24. He called attention to discrepancies in the public documents. Messrs. H. C. McDonald, D. H. Waaburton and Robertson had, in their report of the public accounts in 1892, shown that the expense of floating the debentures was $7,347.74, whereas the public accounts showed that only $6,320 was so lost. He demanded an explanation, and said the difference was covered up in the accounts. He also showed that the interest on the debentures was $1,800 more than was shown by the public accounts. He charged Mr. Peters with violating his election promises in using up the capital of the country and in making heavy deficits. He then exhibited a map of King's County showing the infamously gerrymandered, and condemned the passing of it with closed doors. It was no fault of Mr. Peters that the infamous mortgage vote wasn't illegal by binding. Only for Governor Carroll's manly act, the chains would now be fastened upon us. The disfranchising provisions of the Bill were fully exposed and also the attempt to take the management of the elections out of the hands of the sheriffs.

Hon. Mr. Peters followed. He took up the greater part of his time with attacks on Mr. Ferguson. His reference to the mortgage vote, gerrymander and disfranchisement measures was partly a defence and partly an apology. He claimed that he was now sincerely converted to opposition to the mortgage vote. But he was not equally clear in his repentance about the gerrymander. He defended the disfranchisement of the sheriffs and the taking of the Returning Officership from the sheriffs. He made no reply to Mr. Ferguson's charges regarding the financial blundering of the Government. He did not show how the Government were going to make ends meet, but promised a new boat for the Southport ferry. He also said that Engineer Brown did not know anything about iron bridges, and that he had a bona fide offer to build an iron bridge for $450,000 which would require no repairs for 50 years.

Cyrus Shaw, Esq., M. P. P., then addressed the meeting. He charged Mr. Peters with hypocrisy regarding the Southport ferry, having just before the last election encouraged an agitation for two new boats or a bridge. But although the late Government had procured a survey before they went out of office, Mr. Peters had done nothing until he had another election on his hands. He ridiculed the idea of any company making a bona fide offer to build a bridge without making a survey—if Mr. Peters' statement was correct that Mr. Brown's survey was no good. He showed, by reference to the Journals of the House of Assembly, that the statements made by Mr. Peters regarding the debt of the Province in 1891 and Mr. McLeod's vote on the Debenture Bill were not correct.

J. H. Cummins, Esq., M. P. P., then spoke briefly in defence of the Government. He was followed by the Secretary in condemnation of the Mortgage Vote, Gerrymander and Disfranchisement Bill.

Mr. John Jenkins then submitted a resolution of confidence in the Government and condemnation of Mr. Ferguson for having suggested the calling of the meeting.

The resolution was read by Mr. Peters, but was not handed to the chairman or secretary.

Mr. Joseph Power moved as an amendment, seconded by Mr. Edward Ryan:

Resolved, That this meeting strongly disapprove of the measures of the present Government, and declare that the present representatives of the District, Messrs. Peters and Cummins, do not possess our confidence.

A division of the meeting was then taken, when the chairman declared the amendment carried by a majority.

Very hearty cheers were then given for Messrs. Ferguson and Shaw and much weaker ones for Messrs. Peters and Cummins.

JAMES E. LAVERETT, Secretary. Donagh, March 21, 1893. (Other papers please copy.)

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Clarke Wallace Matter.

OTTAWA, March 22.

On the motion to go into supply, Mr. Cassey rose to call attention to a speech made by Hon. Mr. Wallace at Kingston, advocating sending assistance from Canada to Ulster Orangemen in the event of an uprising against Home Rule. He quoted Mr. Wallace's speech and said that nothing had ever been uttered more calculated to excite armed rebellion. Here was a member of the administration encouraging the people of Ulster to resist the authority of the British Queen. If physical resistance to law be not treason, then why was Kiel hanged?

Charles Wallace informed these hon. gentlemen who were anxious for information that he was correctly reported in the newspapers quoted by the member for Elgin and that he entertained the same views now. He repudiated the charge of disloyalty made against him and the Orangemen of Canada, and said he was following in the line laid down by Lord Salisbury, when Premier of the British Empire, who held that Parliament had no right to sell the people of Ulster into slavery. He denied all responsibility to Parliament for his views on British politics, and said that he had only done as his colleague the Hon. Mr. Costigan did in expressing his views on the Irish question. He was an upholder of the unity of Great Britain, Ireland and Canada, and was opposed to the disintegration of the Empire. The discussion was a long one. The House divided upon Dawson's resolution, which was defeated by 105 to 74. Twelve Conservatives—Costigan, Curran, Kenny, Bergin, Langevin, Heenan, McMurtry, Adams, Davin, Lapine, Pelletier, and McDonald, of P. E. Island, voting with the Opposition.

PARIS, March 21.

Charles DeLesseps, accused of corrupting ex-Minister of Public Works Baihaut, to support the Panama lottery bonds bill, Baihaut, who confessed that he was guilty in open court, and Blondin, who acted as go-between in the bribery of Baihaut, were all found guilty by the jury. The other defendants were acquitted. The court sentenced Baihaut to imprisonment for five years and to pay a fine of 750,000 francs, and loss of civil rights; Blondin was sentenced to imprisonment for two years and Charles DeLesseps imprisonment for one year, to run concurrently with the five years' sentence already imposed on him. All three convicted prisoners were condemned to pay costs and damages demanded by the civil parties to the proceedings.

Sir Charles Tupper's Position.

MONTREAL, March 22.

The Star's cable, dated London, March 21, says: Sir Charles Tupper has no intention of going to Canada at present. However, there is a possibility that the High Commissioner may resign his office. The Star's correspondent learns that in certain circles here it is generally understood that Sir Charles Tupper will step down and out if, under existing circumstances, the draft of the French treaty is rejected by the Canadian Parliament.
