Y.M.C.A. Instructor Receives Navy League Award

TORONTO, (CP) - Alex MacKay, 47, YMCA physical instructor at Glace Bay, N. S., has been awarded the Navy League of Canada award for service, President C. Kirk McLeod announced Thursday.

Despite the loss of his left leg above the knee in an accident when he was nine, Mr. MacKay learned to swim, skate, play basketball, baseball, tennis, and badminton.

A civilian physical training instructor with Cape Breton sea cadets since 1942, he is also swimming instructor of the Glace Bay Aquatic Club and Lakeview Sports Club and manager of a Maritime champion basketball team.

Mr. MacKay is credited with saving at least eight persons from drowning. In 1950, despite high winds and rough water, he made two canoe trips to the middle of Glace Bay lake to rescue four boys clinging to an overturned sailboat.

In Memoriam - In loving memory of our dear father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Paynter who departed this life, father, January 25th, 1938; mother, January 29th, 1948. Ever remembered by the family.

The officers for 1954 are as follows: President, Mrs. Helen Turner; vice president, Mrs. Mabel Worth; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Francis MacPherson.

Churchill Lady Passes Away In 101st Year

Mrs. Isabel MacGillivray, one of Prince Edward Island's centenarians, passed away yesterday at her home in Churchill where she had lived all her life.

Mrs. MacGillivray whose husband, the late Duncan MacGillivray, predeceased her 13 years ago, was quite active for a woman of her years and on December 18th she received the compliments of her many friends on the occasion of her 100th birthday.

Born Isabel MacKinnon, she belonged to a family of long living. A brother John MacKinnon of Charlottetown is over 90 and in good health; an aunt died some years at the age of 103. Left to mourn her passing are four daughters, Mrs. Isabel Provencer at home; Mrs. Catherine Docherty, New Haven; Mrs. Flora MacPhail, Winnipeg; Mrs. Sadie MacGillivray, Vancouver. She had seven grandchildren, 17 great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren who are the late Duncan MacGillivray, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Young of Bunbury.

Heavy Snowfall

Continued from page 1. clock she started but was forced back and it was decided to remain in port there until the trains bringing passengers for the Island should arrive.

No planes of the Maritime Central Airways made flights yesterday as all were grounded and a company spokesman stated they would probably stay down today as well.

Main highways leading to the city provided heavy going for motorists but enough, or foolishly enough, to attempt to get through.

Most people living on the outskirts of the city remained at home or walked to work in the teeth of the storm. There was no school for pupils of Grades 1, 2 and 3 in city schools and the schools in the so-called "fringe area" did not hold classes for any grade in their instances children frequently have to travel long distances to reach the school in the district.

All along the roads and streets cars were left to the mercy of the storm as the drivers found the going far too tough with frequent sheets of glib ice under the soft snow. Many motorists left their cars while people's driveways, and in some instances, even lawns, while ditches were a favorite spot for many others.

Traffic At Minimum - In the city the severity of the storm was felt mainly through the driving wind which whipped the fast falling snow into the faces of luckless pedestrians. Although traffic was much lighter than normal for a Thursday, what there was still moved, especially in the business centre where apparently there was not so much snow as elsewhere. Traffic continued to operate. The plows endeavoured to keep nearby streets as open to traffic as possible and it is planned that as soon as the storm abates to have one plow do the North-South streets while the other tackles the East-West ones.

As a result of the storm much of the business life here ceased as few people cared to be abroad. Many organizations had to cancel proposed meetings, among them the annual meetings of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion and the Catholic Welfare Bureau. Others cancelled included the "Capping" ceremony of student nurses at the Prince Edward Island Hospital and the Spring Park Burns Concert. Besides these many social events, both public and private, had to be postponed.

Report Sharp Decline In Juvenile Delinquency

OTTAWA, (CP) - Juvenile delinquency appears to have declined by half in the 10 years following the peak year of 1942.

A bureau of statistics analysis of delinquency issued Thursday shows that the 5,418 boys and 650 girls declared delinquent by the courts in 1952 is 49.4 per cent lower than 10 years previously. About one of every three had been in court before.

The number found delinquent - a drop from 1951 of 614 for boys but higher by 35 girls - was the lowest reported in the 31 years the bureau has kept records.

The courts dealt formally with 7,213 charges compared with 7,521 the previous year. In addition, at least 6,794 cases were dealt with informally by judges and probation officers.

Newfoundland and the four western provinces reported increases in the number of children brought to court. The other provinces reported decreases. The number declared delinquent followed a similar pattern except that New Brunswick reported an increase over 1951.

By provinces the number brought to court and the number found delinquent respectively, in 1952 with 1951 figures in brackets were:

Newfoundland, 223 and 215 (194 and 175); Prince Edward Island, 29 and 29 (56 and 52); Nova Scotia, 425 and 356 (554 and 483); New Brunswick, 274 and 267 (275 and 261); Quebec, 965 and 628 (1,348 and 1,180); Ontario, 3,370 and 2,889 (3,441 and 3,024); Manitoba, 454 and 409 (404 and 347); Saskatchewan 84 and 81 (71 and 64); Alberta, 368 and 317 (285 and 242); British Columbia 1,021 and 877 (893 and 815).

The bureau found that more than 77 per cent of the delinquent children came from homes where both parents lived, 19 per cent came from homes broken by separation or divorce of the parents or death of one or both parents. In 3.5 per cent of the cases, the marital status of the parents was not known.

The ages of 13 to 15 were the crucial years. Eighty-five per cent of the girls found delinquent and almost 70 per cent of the boys were in that age group.

P.W.C. Principal Appointed To Advisory Research Committee

At the mid-winter meeting of its Board of Directors in Ottawa, January 14, 15, and 16, the Canadian Teachers' Federation set up an Advisory Research Committee whose function it will be to work in conjunction with the newly established Research Division of the Federation.

The committee consists of Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, P.E.I.; Dr. G. M. Dunlop of the University of Alberta, Edmonton; and Dr. L. P. Patterson, Director of the school for Crippled Children, Montreal, and vice-president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Dr. Dunlop will serve for two years, Dr. MacKinnon for three years and Dr. Patterson for one year.

In addition to these three, the committee will have as members ex-officio Mr. L. John Prior of South Burnaby, B.C. and Mr. George Burnaby, B.C. and Mr. George Burnaby, B.C. and Mr. George Burnaby, B.C.

President and secretary respectively of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Dr. Dunlop was elected chairman for the first year and Dr. J. D. Ayers, Research Director of the Federation, will act as secretary to the committee.

Australia, U. S. Oppose Calling U. N. Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (CP) - Australia and the United States have announced opposition to India's proposal to call a meeting of the U. N. assembly next month to discuss the Korean question.

Their replies, and expected negative answers from other European and Commonwealth nations, indicated Thursday probable rejection of the Indian suggestion to recall the assembly Feb. 9.

There was growing talk, however, of a session in April in the event the Allied-Communist talks in Panmunjom still show no progress toward arranging a Korean peace conference.

At mid-day Thursday the tally stood 19 for the Indian proposal and eight opposed. It was evident the Indians had given up hope of attaining the necessary majority of 21 UN members by the deadline tonight.

Election Of Quebec's Mayor Confirmed

QUEBEC, (CP) - A judicial recount of ballots cast in last November's municipal election has confirmed the election of Wilfrid Hamel as mayor.

Judge Richard Alley of magistrate's court made the result known Thursday. The recount gave Mayor Hamel a 394-vote majority over his nearest election opponent, Raymond Cossette. Election night Mr. Hamel was given a majority of 462 votes.

The recount was formally requested Jan. 15 by Jean-Robert Beaudoin, counsel for J. L. Routin, Beaudoin accountant.

New Housing

The provision for insurance of mortgages was meant to safeguard the banking system. But it did not protect banks alone, as some members had said. By protecting the banking system it protected borrowers, nearly every one of whom had bank deposits.

Ensure Money - The insurance provision also would ensure a continued flow of mortgage money for house-building, but it was intended chiefly as a means to maintain public confidence in the banking system.

There was little fear that home buyers would lose their equity in their homes if mortgages went into default. All such cases must go to the courts and judges in the past had done "all in their power" to protect the owner's share in a house after mortgage foreclosure.

That provision that lenders report to the government housing agency when mortgage payments were in default was a "prudent provision when the government's money was insuring the loan."

Mr. Winters referred to the speech by George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview) in which he said the cheapest house available under the National Housing Act was $10,000 and that buyers would need an annual income of $3,960 to purchase such a home.

The minister said that 25 per cent of the NHA loans in 1953 were on houses costing less than $10,000. As an example, an $8,670 house could be bought by a man with a 2,600 income.

Up To Lender - The income levels were based on the provision that no more than 23 per cent of a buyer's income should go toward carrying charges on a mortgage. A buyer could devote a larger part of his income to his mortgage, but it was up to the lender whether to agree to such an arrangement.

As for lower down payments, they were "not an unmitigated blessing" since they resulted in larger mortgage repayments. But they allowed people to get a "foothold" on buying their own homes.

Some members had criticized Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation as "bureaucratic." CMHC merely implemented the wishes of Parliament and government regulations gave it no further powers.

In the last few years CMHC had inspected all NHA loans and would continue to do so, providing home inspections and giving a service which banks were unable to give.

Earlier in Thursday's debate, Rodney Adamson (PC - York West) suggested buyers of homes be allowed to deduct mortgage interest and municipal taxes for income tax purposes. The two moves would encourage home ownership in Canada.

He said landlords who rent homes are permitted to deduct municipal taxes and carrying charges on mortgages from their income for income tax purposes. The same privilege should be granted to those buying their own homes.

Municipal property taxes were "just like a mortgage" in that the home owner must pay or lose his home. But it was "the most evil form of double taxation we have" to charge income tax on income paid for municipal taxes.

Long-Term Loans - Harold Winch (OCF-Vancouver East) said the government should extend to individual home builders its plan of long-term loans for public developments and projects operated by non-profit organizations.

A. H. Hollingworth (L - York Centre) urged more action by the provinces under the present legislation for low-rental housing in which federal, provincial and municipal governments co-operate. This was the answer to the problem of low-cost housing for those with low incomes who could not afford to buy homes.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC - Hamilton West) said a family's total earnings should be considered as the minimum income required to obtain a loan under the act's regulations. Often, two or more persons in a family contributed towards paying the rent and the same principle should be accepted for loans.

Previously, Works Minister Winters said the minimum would be 23 per cent of the home owner's annual income. Opposition members used this figure to show that a homeowner would need an annual income of $3,960 to buy a $10,000 house.

Different View - Frank Enfield (L - Toronto Scarborough) took a different view. The 23-per-cent income limit was a "protection for the home buyer. Surveys showed people should not pay more than 23 or 25 per cent of their income on rent."

He said there is no sense entering a project unless the buyer can go through with it. The assumption that the present act had been a failure was "wrong". Its benefits would be extended to more people under the new legislation.

Thomas Barnett (OCF-Comox-Alberni) criticized the bill's provisions for CMHC loans to mining, lumbering, logging and fishing companies for low-cost housing for employees. Instead, the bill should require the companies to provide funds to CMHC for employees' homes.

Alpha Y's Men's Meeting

At the regular weekly meeting of the Alpha Y's Men's Club last evening, Mr. Fred Cannon, officer-in-charge, Field Crop Entomology Section, gave a very enlightening address on the functions of the Entomology Laboratory at the Charlottetown Station.

He began by explaining the set up of the different Science Service Laboratories which include plant pathology and entomology and seed potato certification and explained the various uses of each branch. Referring to his own particular branch he told of what controls have been accomplished over the years and said there are some pests such as the jointworm and maggot worm that are still in the experimental stages as yet, but are due to be brought under control soon.

Mr. Cannon concluded by saying that it costs more for the control of each pest than it does to raise the price of the crop.

Mr. Cannon was thanked for his enlightening and instructive talk by Y's Man Ralph Rupert.

Mr. Jack Halstead as guest artist rendered two solos, these were "Cap't Mac", a hitting sea song and "Bless This House" and as an encore sang "Stout Hearted Men". Mr. Halstead was accompanied by Kelvin Johnston at the piano.

Mr. Jack Kirby was introduced to the club as a new member.

The following guests were present and introduced to the club: Robert Motherwell, Jack Anderson, Wm. MacLean and Lloyd Grant. Mr. Lloyd Grant showed a film depicting the making and mixing of paints. Y's Man Jack Chisholm acted as chairman for the meeting.

Molotov Makes

Continued from page 1. He agreed to waive further discussion at this time of item No. 1 of the agenda-measures for reducing international tension and a Big Five conference.

But he got his western colleagues to consent to return to the item at a special session later and possibly to appoint a committee to seek an understanding on it.

For four hours, he wrangled with Foreign Secretary Eden, State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Minister Bidault over his pet proposal - Red China and a Big Five conference.

The westerners steadfastly refused to go into a conference with Peiping on sweeping world problems. But Bidault and Eden made it plain they would welcome "good-will" by the Chinese in solving the problems of divided Korea and the Indo-China war. In such case, a conference on specific issues would be in order, they said.

Peace The Goal - "We are always ready to seize any chance to conclude peace in Indo-China," Bidault said. "I am ready to go further. Every form of conversation which makes progress to peace possible on this specific point will be welcome to France. But how can France believe in Chinese good-will when daily on the battlefield she sees the Chinese in solving the problems of divided Korea and the Indo-China war. In such case, a conference on specific issues would be in order, they said.

The only real way of tackling problems in Asia-as in Europe-is on specific issues, Eden said. Disarmament was essentially a topic for the United Nations and there were an "immense number" of world problems to be dealt with the development of world trade.

In a speech loaded with sarcasm, Dulles called Molotov a diplomatic magician who wanted to bypass and replace the United Nations with a Big Five conference including the proclaimed aggressor - Red China.

"It would be incredible that the four of us, even with the addition of the fabulous Mr. Chou En-lai, Chinese foreign minister, would be able quickly to solve the political, economic and military problems with which the United Nations has wrestled unsuccessfully for the past nine years," the American declared.

Under the Russian scheme, Dulles said, the Big Five powers would be required to rule for the world, and the United Nations would be virtually scrapped for having refused to admit the aggressor Peiping regime.

Report Condition Of Pope Much Better

VATICAN CITY, (Reuters) - The Pope's condition was reported "much better" Thursday by the Vatican press office.

"A stomach disturbance of nervous origin has almost completely disappeared," said the announcement.

The Pope, who will be 78 March 2, spent a restful night.

Earlier reports said excessive work had "somewhat shaken his nervous system."

To Recommission Minesweeper

HALIFAX, (CP) - The modernized minesweeper New Glasgow will be recommissioned here Saturday, to swell the growing fleet of the Royal Canadian Navy.

She will be commanded by Cmdr. A. LaRue of Quebec and Victoria.

The New Glasgow, launched in 1943, served in the North Atlantic convoy lanes until the war's end when she was drydocked for conversion by Canadian Vickers at Montreal.

Senators See Too Many Lawyers On Committee

OTTAWA, (CP) - Two Liberal senators said Thursday that too many lawyers have been proposed as members of the joint parliamentary committee which will study lotteries, whipping and the death penalty.

Senator W. D. Elder (L - Ontario) and Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia), neither of whom is a lawyer, made the criticism during debate in the upper chamber on a resolution to name eight lawyers and one doctor as Senate members of the committee. The Commons has not yet named its members.

Debate on the proposal was adjourned after the criticism by Senators Elder and Reid and following a forecast by Senator John T. Hale, Progressive Conservative leader-in-the-Senate, that the committee will meet with serious difficulties.

May Be Prejudged - Senator Hale, one of those nominated by Solicitor-General Macdonald, government leader in the Senate, said he doubts whether committee members will be able to leave their "prejudices" on the three questions outside the committee room. He said he is sure he won't be able.

Senator Elder said lawyers are no better equipped than others to weigh the merits of whether to change the law on lotteries, whipping and the death penalty. These were matters of opinion, not matters of law.

He said he does not mean his criticism as a reflection on those proposed by Senator Macdonald. But the membership also should include "men of common sense who do not rely on a technical knowledge of the law in these matters."

Senator Reid said he agrees with Senator Elder. These were not questions of law. The personnel of the committee did not suit him.

These proposed as committee members included Senators W. M. Aestline (PC - Saskatchewan), Elie Beauregard (L - Quebec), P. H. Bouffard (L-Quebec), J. W. De B. Farris (L-British Columbia), Muriel McQueen Ferguson (L-New Brunswick), Selous A. Hayden (L-Ontario), A. W. Robertson (L-Ontario) and C. J. Veniot (L-New Brunswick). Senator Veniot is a physician and surgeon.

Marilyn Monroe Wants More Money

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) - Since Joe Dimaggio went to New York on business, newlywed Marilyn Monroe has been living on seclusion with a series of friends while she holds out for $5,000 a week from her studio, the Los Angeles Mirror said Thursday.

Marilyn was suspended last Monday for failing to report to 20th Century-Fox for work. She received $1,250 weekly before the suspension. She is holding out for $5,000 because of high grosses of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

After their marriage in San Francisco two weeks ago, the Dimagios honeymooned at a guest ranch near Palm Springs for several days.
