As the bees buzz busily from bloom to bloom, they carry the pollen which makes the seeds fertile. But tobacco flowers have no need for bees; they do their own pollination. Which is fortunate for the Burbanks of tobacco culture, for they can tie a flowering head in a bag without condemning it to perpetual spinsterhood and so found a blue-blooded tobacco family without fear that a busy bee will mix the breed.

Since Columbus discovered the tobacco plant, hundreds of varieties have been developed, each with leaves having their own particular qualities of size, texture, flavour and fragrance. Turkish leaves, for instance, will lie in a baby's hand while a leaf of Burley would almost cover the baby.

Soil and climate do curious things to tobacco which is one of the world's most finicky plants. From the seed, which is the smallest sold commercially, to the cigarette—in growing, harvesting and curing—tobacco must be handled as delicately as a royal infant. Your favourite Imperial brand never varies in fragrance and flavour. This is because the Company constantly keeps an adequate stock of many varieties maturing for years in storage ready for blending by experts who have spent years in mastering the art.

Self Help

As with old Scotland, one of the chief exports of the Maritimes has been MEN.

Maritimers are successful in many distant fields, while, here at home, the Maritimes themselves remain stagnant.

If the Maritime Provinces are to resume their former leadership it is necessary to conserve and to build up our own industries; to make employment to CREATE prosperity.

Maritime Life, a purely Maritime company, is a potent force for Maritime self-sufficiency. Investigate!
