After coughs and colds the germs of consumption often gain a foothold. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will not cure every case; but, if taken in time, it will cure many. Even when the disease is farther advanced, some remarkable cures are effected. In the most advanced stages it prolongs life, and makes the days far more comfortable. Everyone suffering from consumption needs this food tonic.

MESA JE TO MEN
Proving that True Manhood and True Philanthropy still Exist

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and I desire therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 50c silver to cover postage and address Mr. G. Strong, North Rockland, Mich. 135 p & w.

BABOO TOBACCO SCIENCE.

Information on the Right Mixture For Blinados to Smoke and Chew.

As we see, it is a most amazing extent to which tobacco has spread all over earth in these 300 years, when it was brought into England from America by Sir Walter Raleigh in 1586 A. D. In Turkey it is perpetually in every mouth. In China it is so universally practiced that a female of 6 or 7 has a pocket in her dress to hold her pipe and tobacco. In Burma it is smoked by persons of all ranks, even a child of 2 or 3. In India all classes and both sexes smoke, and acid smell.

It grows in India so vigorously that we can scarcely find a town or village in Hindustan where no plot of ground would be found covered by this perpetual plant. And in the same manner there would be very few of our readers who know the processes in which the tobacco becomes suitable for our usual smoking. It would be not therefore out of place to draw before the public an outline of its manufacture.

When it is full grown and its leaves have begun to acquire a yellowish tint, it is gathered and left on the ground to be withered one day or more in the sun.

Although we can have smoking tobacco from many different ways it would suffice here to mention some processes, for their suitability, current in a most famous place for the purpose in India, known as Biswan, in Seetapore district.

Being withered, it is brought to be cudged with wood so firmly as to become a dust, which is called ruddoo and mixed with sirup and alkali or impure carbonate of soda. It is left in balls to be dissolved.

Now a leavened or khamira tobacco is prepared by the undergoing formula: 1. Cloven. 2. Cardamums. 3. Mace. 4. Nutmeg. 5. Allspice. 6. Cinnamon. 7. Dry rose flower. 8. Filling aloes wood. 9. Filling sandalwood. 10. Nakh. 11. Fandree. 12. White cardamums. 13. Benzoin; of each part a seer. 14. Amiltes; one seer.

All these except the last one, which is boiled, are cudged and made a powder. And a next preparation is now made: Camphor, two Chatak—Karpas; salarus, quarter a seer; betel, quarter a seer.

All these being cudged are boiled, and now five punsaris of ruddoo mixed with sirup are mixed with both the preparations and stirred with hand, and in this essence of rose or keorah, one tola; musk, six mashes, and saffron, three mashes, "being grinded," are mixed, and the process now ready is called khamira, a good one for the purpose, ever used in India for smoking.—Calcutta New Age.

AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

Her Manuscript.
Into the ground floor office of a magazine noted for the red tapery of its methods rushed a woman. In looks, bearing and clothes she was the typical literary crank, and walking up to the rail especially designed to head off such as she she said, "I want to know whether your magazine will print this for me right away." "This" was a bundle of manuscript which, however it may have looked in those faroff days when the woman first began hawking it about, was now tattered and grimy. It was rolled. "We don't—er—we don't consider manuscripts down here," said the young man behind the rail. "You'll have to take it up stairs." "Up stairs," repeated the woman. "How far up?" "Oh, only four flights," said the man. "No, there is no elevator. I'm sorry, madam, but even our editor in chief uses the stairs."

The woman glanced at the stairs. "Four flights counting this one?" she asked. "Counting this one," said the man. "That's too much," said the woman. "I don't care if all the editors in creation don't care if all the editors in creation climb them, I shan't." And she turned to go when something caught her eye and back she came. "Look here," she said, "isn't that a speaking tube over in the corner?" The man admitted that it was. "Why can't you call up through it and ask them if they will print my manuscript?" The man explained that the manuscript would have to be read first. "Well," went on the woman, "why can't you read it to them through the tube. Then they can tell right off and it'll save me climbing those stairs." The man explained "some more," but, although he did his best, it was in vain. Before he was half through the woman, manuscript in hand, had flounced out of the door with, "And some folks wonder why literature is degenerating."—New York Sun.

A PRIVATE DETECTIVE

After a Government Official

We are in the Dairy Supply business to stay, notwithstanding the unfair competition of an official whose travelling expenses are paid out of the public funds. We pay our own and will compete with any of the Quebec houses thus represented, for quality of workmanship in cheese vats, cream vats, either single or duplex, portable or stationary, tempering or receiving vats, and all other Dairy Supplies in stock to order at short notice.

We have on hand Alpha Separators which return more money to the patrons than any other. Separator oil that will insure safer running at extreme speed than any other on the market. Butter Boxes for storing and shipping butter in. Dairy plants that will run without an expert engineer on hand. Boilers that will save fuel over any other that has been imported so far. Engines that do not require to be driven at extreme speed to obtain enough power. All work warranted for one year.
