Government's Fisheries Plans Laid Out

$5,000,000 Caiseway to Open Up 100,000 Acres of New Fishing Grounds

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland Thursday announced a provincial election for Nov. 19.

Mr. Smallwood said in a province-wide radio and television broadcast that he would ask the voters for a mandate authorizing his government to go ahead with a $50,000,000 fisheries development program.

He said he had advised 150,000 voters at Premier Levesque's assembly that he would ask the voters for a mandate to bring the province's privately-owned hydro power companies under public ownership.

Mr. Smallwood said he was in favor of the fisheries development program but there were many people not directly connected in the fishing industry who were difficult to convince them of the part it plays in their lives.

It was the "biggest program ever seen in Newfoundland." Part of the money would have to come from Ottawa and part from the government here.

He said it would cost a total of between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000 over a period of six years. The money would go to supply hundreds of new boats, engines and fishing seines for harbor improvement and fish handling facilities.

He said the program was announced on Aug. 20, 1959. The Liberals hold 31 of the province's 38 seats. Three went to the Progressive Conservatives and two to the United Newfoundland Party.

That election was fought over the issue of federal grants to Newfoundland.

Last spring the ridings were redistributed to provide for 43 members. There were 41 Liberals but one of them, Harbor Man, returns two members. Mr. Smallwood's Liberal majority will enter a full slate.

There has been recent speculation that an election was being called for next month ago when the premier announced he would make a special announcement on television and radio. This announcement turned out to be disclosure of the fisheries development program which resulted in creation of the NDP.

TO MAKE SUGGESTIONS

The commission is to provide recommendations to help the province expand its fisheries expansion program.

Speculation of an election was renewed this week when the premier again announced a television-radio address.

He said there was talk of an election, there was also talk of a referendum.

POWER FAILS AFTER LAUNCH

Ranger V Moon Rocket Likely to Miss Target

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—U.S. space agency officials said Thursday night that the Ranger V moon rocket, launched earlier Thursday, is expected to miss the moon by approximately 300 miles.

Scientists at the Jet propulsion laboratory, which launched the 755-pound spacecraft, said Ranger V apparently failed to get solar power and after eight hours and 44 minutes of flight, the battery on board the spacecraft ran down.

Officials said this means Ranger V will not be able to accomplish any of its missions. It was designed to take television pictures of the moon and land an instrumented capsule containing a quake measuring device.

Zizka then set up his biplane in his hands temporarily. But he knew nothing at the time about his wife's death and turned him loose because of his diplomatic immunity.

Finalists in Heredity Field

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A young American biologist and two British scientists were jointly awarded the 1962 Nobel prize for medicine Thursday for a major breakthrough into the workings of heredity.

Among other things, their work gives clues to some of the fundamental secrets of life. One makes a man a man, why are blue eyes blue. It also points toward new studies in the causes of such ailments as mental illness.

Sharing the award were Dr. Frederick Wilkins, 44, of Harvard University, Dr. Francis Harry Comstock, 46, member of the department of molecular biology at Cavendish laboratory, Cambridge, Eng.; and Dr. Maurice Hugh
