Canadian Firm Makes Sale As London Display Opens

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian firm made an opening-day sale at the London International Engineering Exhibition Wednesday despite a labor dispute that brought confusion to the big show and angered officials. Many of the exhibits, including several of Canada's, still were not in place when the doors opened. This was a result of an unofficial overtime ban imposed by workmen seeking to enforce backwage demands. Five Canadian companies are showing machines new to the British and European markets. The largest Canadian exhibit is a 97-ton cold roll-forming machine which can produce an almost limitless range of products formed in aluminum, stainless steel or copper. Another interesting exhibit is a working model showing how a perforated concrete wall dissipates the energy of waves and can be used to protect dikes, offshore drilling rigs and large, moored, floating structures. It is shown by Canadian Patents and Development Limited, a branch of The National Research Council.

Ticklish Decision Awaited On Railways' Cost Figures

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet faces a ticklish decision shortly on a bill for about $19,000,000 that has been submitted by the major railways to cover the 1964 cost of a wage increase they agreed to under federal pressure last June. Officials now are checking the CNR and CPR figures and will submit a report to Transport Minister Pickersgill. If the bill was paid in full it would push total direct railway subsidy payments for 1964 to about $90,000,000. Either way, it probably will ripen into a hot political issue. The problem dates back to last spring when the railways resisted a wage demand by their 100,000 operating workers, arguing that the federal freeze on freight rates gave them no way to raise the extra money. A conciliation board recommended a 19.1-cent hourly boost which the non-op unions accepted. The railways rejected it and a strike threatened. The CNR and CPR estimated that the 19.1-cent increase would cost them $18,200,000 in 1964, an estimated $39,000,000 for 1965, and $46,300,000 in each succeeding year. They told the government flatly that they couldn't pay it without some means of raising revenues to offset the added cost.

International Nickel Company Earnings Higher

TORONTO (CP)—International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. has reported net earnings of $37,000,000 or $1.25 a share in the first quarter of this year, compared with $34,856,000 or $1.18 in the comparable 1964 period. Announcing this Wednesday at the company's annual meeting, Chairman Henry S. Wingate also said Inco will start sinking shafts this year for two new mines—the Coleman mine in the Sudbury, Ont., district and the Soab mine near Thompson, Man. Mr. Wingate said demand for the company's products continues at a record level. Nickel deliveries in the first three months were records and in March more nickel was delivered to customers than in any previous single month in the company's history. Earlier Mr. Wingate told a press conference Inco will spend $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 this year on exploration, 25 per cent more than in 1964. Mr. Wingate said Inco still is extremely active in the Timmins, Ont., area, where Texeff Gulf Sulphur Co. announced a $2,000,000 base-metal strike last April. So far, however, exploration has uncovered "no real encouragement," he said. The company would have no trouble increasing nickel output as announced earlier to 500,000 pounds annually from 440,000 pounds. As reported earlier, Inco had net earnings of $135,768,000 or $4.59 a share in 1964, compared with $103,311,000 or $3.60 in 1963.

Operating income of the Montreal-based department store was $1,191,579 against $1,350,868 for the previous year, and preferred dividends $66,337 against $67,333, Mr. Frenette said. Gulf Sulphur Stockholders Would Consolidate Suits

NEW YORK (AP)—Two stockholders in Texas Gulf Sulphur Company say they are seeking to consolidate their private suits that charge some officers and directors with concealing news of a metal ore discovery in Canada. The charges are similar to a suit brought Monday by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission against 13 officers, directors and employees of the company. The suit charged that the 13 used inside information about the ore find at Timmins, Ont., to buy stock at low prices. The first stockholder suit was brought June 22, 1964, about two months after Texas Gulf Sulphur announced the ore find. The second came a few months later. OTHERS FILE SUIT—Two other stockholders filed suit April 8 against the company and five officers and directors. The suit is a "class action," meaning other stockholders similarly situated may join it. The two charged that the company and the individuals issued "false and misleading" information regarding the metals discovery. They said they lost money when they sold Texas Gulf Sulphur stock before the discovery was announced. The SEC contended in its suit, filed in U.S. District Court, that the "insiders"—officers, directors and employees with inside information—had a good idea of the nature of the ore deposits by Nov. 12, 1963, and that they then bought, sold or urged others to take a position in the stock. The SEC said the company's first announcement of the ore strike, on April 12, 1964, played down the importance of the find. Four days later the company held a press conference at which it said the discovery was a major find.

Distillers Firm Increases Profit RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The National Distillers and Chemical Corp. reported Wednesday record first-quarter net income of $7,275,000. Chairman John E. Bierwirth told the stockholders meeting income was up $1,855,000 over the first quarter of 1964. Bierwirth said National had purchased Alberta Distillers Ltd., so the company could have its own source of Canadian whisky.

DUMMY SPACECRAFT LANDS ON SIDE

A dummy Gemini spacecraft rests on its side after first test of soft land landing Wednesday at Ft. Hood, Texas. The spacecraft dropped on a controlled Parasetal, fired rockets prior to impact to soften the landing. The long bent tubes triggered the rockets when they touched ground. The test was termed a partial success by the project engineer. (AP Wirephoto) by 29 per cent to $48,900,000. Both the CPR and CNR had the highest gross revenues in their history.

There may be some opposition to the idea of raising federal subsidies in a year which saw such a gain in railway income. A proposal to the privately-run CPR, for example, would serve only to raise the profit level further. The railways' original estimate of $18,200,000 to pay the higher wage in 1964 was slightly below the final figure that has been submitted.

Nfld. Premier Visits Turkey

ISTANBUL (CPAP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland, arrived in Turkey Wednesday night to join First World War veterans in a pilgrimage to the Gallipoli battlefields. The 50th anniversary of the Allied landing at Anzac Cove will be celebrated this Sunday. Smallwood was greeted by Provincial Welfare Minister Myles Murray of Newfoundland, Sir Leonard Outerbridge, honorary colonel of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, and Col. Allen Brady, Canadian military attaché in Ankara.

Murray and Outerbridge arrived in Istanbul Tuesday as part of a group of eight Newfoundland regiment veterans.

Some 239 Australians and 77 New Zealand veterans of the assault arrived here Wednesday to join with Canadian, British, French and German ex-soldiers in the anniversary ceremonies. Their one-time foe, Turkey, planned a cordial reception. The veterans are to sail Friday night on the chartered Turkish liner Karadeniz for the Gallipoli peninsula, about 150 miles west of here.

Canadian Ambassador Jean Louis Desile will join the Canadians at Gallipoli and drive with them to Canadian cemeteries Suvla Bay on Sunday.
