

XXXIV. That in every case when the Chancellor or the Court of Chancery shall, under the provisions of this Act, be enabled to make an order having the effect of a conveyance or assignment of any lands, or having the effect of a release or disposition of the contingent right of any person or persons, born or unborn, it shall also be lawful for the Chancellor or the Court of Chancery, as the case may be, should it be deemed more convenient to make an order appointing a person to convey or assign such lands, or release or dispose of such contingent right; and the conveyance or assignment, or release or disposition of the person so appointed, shall, when in conformity with the terms of the order by which he is appointed, have the same effect in conveying or assigning the lands, or releasing or disposing of the contingent right, as an order of the Chancellor or the Court of Chancery would, in the particular case, have had under the provisions of this Act; and in every case where the Chancellor or the Court of Chancery shall, under the provisions of this Act, be enabled to make an order vesting in any person or persons the right to transfer any stock transferable in the books of any Joint Stock, or other Company or Society, established or to be established; it shall also be lawful for the Chancellor, or the Court of Chancery if it be deemed more convenient, to make an order directing any officer of such Joint Stock, or other Company or Society, at once, to transfer or join in transferring the stock to the person or persons to be named in the order; and this Act shall be a full and complete indemnity and discharge to the Joint Stock or other Company, or Societies, and their officers and servants, for all acts done or permitted to be done pursuant thereto.

XXXV. That when any person or persons shall be jointly entitled with any person out of the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery, or who cannot be found, or concerning whom it shall be uncertain whether he be living or dead, to any stock or chose in action upon any trust, it shall be lawful for the said Court to make an order vesting the right to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for or recover such chose in action, or any interest in respect thereof, either in such person or persons so jointly entitled as aforesaid, or in such last mentioned person or persons, together with any person or persons the said Court may appoint. And when any sole Trustee of any stock or chose in action shall be out of the jurisdiction of the said Court, or cannot be found, or it shall be uncertain whether he be living or dead, it shall be lawful for the said Court to make an order vesting the right to transfer such stock or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for and recover such chose in action, or any interest in respect thereof, in any person or persons the said Court may appoint.

XXXVI. That when any sole Trustee of any stock or chose in action shall neglect or refuse to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for or recover such chose in action, or any interest in respect thereof, according to the direction of the person absolutely entitled thereto for the space of twenty-eight days next after a request in writing for that purpose shall have been made to him by the person absolutely entitled thereto, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery to make an order vesting the sole right to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for and recover such chose in action, or any interest in respect thereof, in such person or persons as the said Court may appoint.

XXXVII. That when any one of the Trustees of any stock or chose in action shall neglect or refuse to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for or recover such chose in action, according to the direction of the person absolutely entitled thereto for the space of twenty-eight days next after a request in writing for that purpose shall have been made to him or her by such person, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery to make an order vesting the right to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, or to sue for and recover such chose in action in the other Trustee or Trustees of the said stock or chose in action, or in any person or persons whom the said Court may appoint jointly with such other Trustee or Trustees.

XXXVIII. That when any stock shall be standing in the sole name of a deceased person and his or her personal representative shall be out of the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery, or cannot be found, or it shall be uncertain whether such personal representative shall neglect or refuse to transfer such stock, or receive the dividends or income thereof, according to the direction of the person absolutely entitled thereto, for the space of twenty-eight days next after a request in writing for that purpose shall have been made to him by the person entitled as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Court of Chancery to make an order vesting the right to transfer such stock, or to receive the dividends or income thereof, in any person or persons whom the said Court may appoint.

XXXIX. That when any order shall have been made, under any of the provisions of this Act, vesting the right to any stock in any person or persons appointed by the Chancellor or the Court of Chancery, such legal right shall vest accordingly; and thereupon the person or persons so appointed are hereby authorized and empowered to execute all Deeds and Powers of Attorney, and to perform all acts relating to the transfer of such stock into his or their own name or names or otherwise, or relating to the receipt of the dividends thereof, to the extent and in conformity with the terms of such order; and all Joint Stock Companies, and all Companies and Associations whatsoever, and all persons shall be equally bound and compellable to comply with the requisitions of such person or persons, so appointed as aforesaid, to the extent and in conformity with the terms of such order as the said Joint Stock Companies or such other Companies, Associations or persons would have been bound and compellable to comply with the requisitions of the person in whose place such appointment shall have been made, and shall be equally indemnified in complying with the requisition of such person or persons, so appointed, as they would have been indemnified in complying with the requisition of the person in whose place such appointment shall have been made; and after notice in writing of any such order of the Chancellor, or of the Court of Chancery, concerning any stock.
