The Two Parsons.

An old song, somewhat altered to suit events of late:
Of a fine old English Parson, who lived at a good old rate,

And was a staunch old Tory, and swore by Church and State.
And drank to the glorious memory of "Sixteen Eighty-eight!"
Like a good old English Clergyman, all of the good old time.

Who, drinking too much good old Port, with good old Squire Jones, Dropped off with an apoplectic fit, as all the Parish owns;

His successor announced his coming, in a letter dated "NO YES,"
"Of ye feast of ye translation of Saint Symphorosa's bones,"
Like a Parson of the bran new school, to suit the bran new time.

Who, to reconstruct the Parish, took a new and different way.
And insisted upon double Choral Service everyday,
And with Candles, Copps and Crosses, made a wonderful display, And went on in a style that made most people curse instead of pray,
Like a Parson of the bran new school, to
suit the bran new time.

To the Court of Arches soon they brought this erring Ecclesiastic, Because they thought his chantings and his piety too gymnastic; Sir H. J. Fust, as every one must, condemned his poses plastic,
And his reading of the "Articles" as entirely too elastic.

Like a Parson of the bran new school, all of the bran new time.

Who to give up his good living was ordered very soon,
And then against his Bishop swore, like a Dutchman or Dragoon, And went to Rome on a Pilgrimage, with staff and sandaled shoon,
And at parting was greeted with words applied to an Irishman and spoon, Or a Parson of the bran new school, all of the bran new time.

LULLABY
SUNG BY A DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER, TO HER LITTLE NEPHEW.

Sleep, little Toad, in your cot! Or altho' you're the image of Frank, In your ivory form is a spot which your aunt will most speedily punk; As they won't let me marry your pa, you've just got the Senate to thank.

VICH DHOMNUL NAN ORD.

When, in 1829, Canada had but 80 post offices, Lt. Col. Edwin Pridham was appointed postmaster at Greenville, Argentino county, Quebec. Fifty-four years will have elapsed on the 5th of April since that appointment, and the gallant colonel still retains the office, and sends the Mail a neat P. O. N. Y. C., or post-office New Year's card, gotten up in a similar style to the new Canadian postal card. The card bears on the reverse side, "Born December 17, 1795; appointed postmaster Greenville, April 5, 1829. Number of post-offices in Canada in 1826, 80; number of post-offices in Canada in 1883, 6,500." Col. Pridham has two sons in the postal service, of whom one, Mr. Frederick Pridham, has been twenty-five years in the P. O. Inspector's office in Montreal, and the other, Mr. Richard Pridham, has been eleven years in the mail service on the T. G. and R. railway. In politics Col. Pridham is a life long Conservative. There are probably few families who can show so long and continued service in the postal departments of any country.—Toronto Mail.

It is stated in Montreal that negotiations are almost concluded for amalgamation of the North Shore and Rive and Watertown Railways and Richelieu and St. Lawrence Navigation Companies with the Grand Trunk, so as to form a monopoly of all land and water traffic on the St. Lawrence.
On the other hand it is stated that a very powerful steamboat company is being organized in Kingston, with Kirlpatrick, M.
P., at the head to run steamers through to Quebec and that the Pacific Railway is interested in the new company. The steamers are to be iron, and will be built on the Clyde and brought out in sections. Meantime a number of steamers will be chartered so that the line may commence operations with the opening of navigation.

PROPOSED ABRIGATION OF THE FISHERIES TREATY.—In the U. S. Senate on Wednesday, Mr. Frye of Maine, offered a resolution requesting the President to notify Great Britain of our desire to abrogate the fisheries clauses of the Treaty of Washington. Mr. Frye said that he was aware that this could not be done before July 1, 1882, but authority ought to be given the President at once. He said that returns at Boston and Gloucester showed that American fishermen derived no benefit from the treaty. The advantage was all on the side of Great Britain. It was time that these clauses were abolished. The resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee, with instructions to report at once.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

Mr. C. J. Brydges, Hudson Bay Land Commissioner, has returned to Ottawa from England. He does not apprehend that the Canadian Pacific Railway directors will be unable to procure all the money they want in the marts of Europe, but states that vigorous efforts have been made to block them in the money market. He reports that the prospects for a large immigration next season are good from Great Britain and Ireland, and also from the continent.

The mortality list of eminent men in France since the beginning of the year has been remarkable. Gambetta's death was followed by that of Gen. Chanzy, the most skilful commander in the French army; Chanzy was followed by that of Gen.
Vinoy, and now Vinoy's is followed by that of De Valdein, who was struck by apoplexy on hearing of the death of Gen.
Chanzy. There have been alarming reports of late about the health of President Grevy.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or statements of our correspondents.

A Slur on the Tenants.
To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—At a meeting of the electors of Ward 3, held last evening in the Stipendiary's Court Room, Mr. Campbell, one of the candidates for that Ward, whilst talking on the subject of water works, made the statement that two-thirds of the electors of Charlottetown were tenants who were unable to pay their rents, or even to buy a bucket of water. This was rather a rash statement for that gentleman to make, especially at a time when he is looking for the support of these very tenants whom he had thus insulted; and I am greatly mistaken if he does not find this out when election day comes round. The sneer which accompanied Mr. Campbell's remarks would lead one to infer that he considered it a disgrace to be a tenant; but I would rather reminer one all my life—content to do an honest day's labor and pay rent—than become a house-owner on the profits of a business such as he has been engaged in for the past eight or nine years, and which more than two-thirds of the electors of this Island have declared to be unlawful.

Yours, etc.,
A TENANT OF WARD 3.
Ch'town, Jan. 18, 1883.

The Grand Jury and the Press.
To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I notice that the presentment made by our respected townsman G. W.
Milner, Esq., Foreman of the Grand Jury, is published in both the EXAMINER and Patriot. This is well, and it is hoped it will have its due weight and influence with the powers that be. But why were the several speeches by which the Foreman enlightened and electrified the Court not published. They were masterpieces of forensic eloquence, and delivered with that dignity which is so remarkable a trait in the worthy Foreman's character. Even the Court had to admit that the oratory was unprecedented.
Now I think these speeches should have been published with the presentment and that the Grand Jury and particularly the Foreman have just cause of complaint against the press.

Yours truly,
JUBOR.
January 18, 1883.

LENNOX COTTAGE,
Grafton Street, Jan. 19th 1883.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MY DEAR SIR,—In your column of "Telegraphic News" for last evening, I see a paragraph about "the high political scandal of to-day in England," concerning Lord Brabourne, formerly Knatchbull Hugessen. I had not previously heard of such a title as "Brabourne," but I do know something of the family of Knatchbull, ancient magistrates in the Saxton County of Kent, the garden of England. "Further this deponent sayeth not," since he is, for the present debarred from consulting his Attorney as to whether his words might or might not be actionable. But your paragraph mentions that a certain anonymous writer is believed to be Granville Barkley. Many years ago a gentleman named Granville Berkeley, a connection I believe of the Earl of Berkeley, and of my mother, and, unlike me, a zealous Whig radical, did horseshoe James Fraser, Esq., editor and publisher of Fraser's Magazine, (now defunct) at noon; or I may say altogether, to the death of the said James Fraser, who died after a considerable period of lingering and suffering, caused by the injuries he received from the horseshoe of his assailant.

I remain, my Dear Sir,
Your constant reader,
VICH DHOMNUL NAN ORD.

The addition to our population last year from foreign immigration reached more than 100,000 souls, a number far in excess of any previously recorded. In itself this increasment represents a great addition of cash capital, and of muscle, pluck and bone to our working population, but a still more satisfactory aspect is that it forms only the beginning of the influx arising from the opening up to settlement of our great North-west. From all the information at hand, the immigration this year will considerably exceed that of 1882, and as each new settler becomes an agent of immigration, the near future promises to swell our returns to figures that will contrast unfavorably with those relating to the foreign influx into the United States.

This week the annual auction sale of the pews was held in Mr. Beechers Church, and the amount realized reaches over twenty-four thousand dollars. This sum is somewhat smaller than that realized last year, but for the best positions in the church higher premiums were obtained than ever before. A lively competition took place for first choice, and before it stopped $725 had been offered. The privilege of second choice was knocked down at $700. The addition of the sum raised by this method of obtained premiums on the pews to the rental assessed on them makes the income of the church from this source this year over thirty-one thousand dollars.

The mortality list of eminent men in France since the beginning of the year has been remarkable. Gambetta's death was followed by that of Gen. Chanzy, the most skilful commander in the French army;
Chanzy was followed by that of Gen.
