Alberton's Oldest Resident Enters One Hundredth Year

Alberton's oldest resident has entered her one hundredth year. Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson, born at Charlottetown on August 1, 1858, has been a resident of Alberton for so many years the western town now claims her as its own. Since the turn of the century, her happy face, her cheery nature and her infectious laugh have been known to a host of friends. Before she was out of bed yesterday morning the first visitors arrived to present a box of gifts from the Presbyterian W.M.S. Society. She has been a life member for many years. So on afterwards the nearest neighbours began to arrive with flowers and gifts. All through the day well wishers continued to call on one who might be labeled the town's happiest woman. Each sunny morning her daughter, Mrs. Kerr, takes her in a wheelchair to the east verandah, and in the afternoon to the west verandah of their home. The daily outings and visits from friends are the highlights in her life. The years have deprived her of good hearing and brought a slight dimness of vision but her heart is young and a gay. It is the sincere wish of all who know her that continued good health will permit this remarkable lady to attain the century mark and perhaps further journeying along the pleasant pathway of life.

The team that wins this series will meet either Tyne Valley or O'Leary for the Championship.

These four special programs will receive more than $4 million dollars from Canada in 1957. As this represents only a small fraction of what is spent in military defence the church people may well think whether they shall be prepared to lower their standard of living or accept higher taxes in order than a larger amount may be spent to help less fortunate people. There were 29 ladies present. Mrs. W. C. MacLeod reported the July offering had been $12.70. Community Friendship Secretary Mrs. F. L.
