MacLean Says No Cut In Fishermen's Benefits

MORELL — Branding as false and the tactics of desperation reports that the Conservative government will discontinue unemployment insurance payments to fishermen, Hon. Angus MacLean declared at an overflow meeting here last night that "The Diefenbaker government has paid unemployment insurance to fishermen for six years, and will continue to do so."

He further stated the recommendation of the Gill Commission was that the unemployment insurance payments to fishermen should be transferred from the jurisdiction of the department of labor to the department of fisheries.

The minister stated that, "Any change in unemployment insurance for fishermen will be for the better and any statement that the benefits will be stopped is utterly false and without foundation".

In the course of his hard-hitting speech, Mr. MacLean reviewed some of the policies of his department aimed at improving the fishing industry. He specifically dealt with government assistance in the financing of trawlers, the federal salt subsidy to fishermen and processors and the close co-operation with the provincial department of fisheries.

Mr. MacLean also reviewed the various policies of the Diefenbaker government which have assisted P.E.I. and discussed the obstruction tactics employed in the last parliament where the official opposition, "feared passage of legislation and prevented it by any means possible".

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other principal speakers at the joint Queens and Kings meeting were Mrs. Margaret Macdonald and Heath Macquarrie.

Mrs. Macdonald referred to the devaluation of the dollar and pointed out that the action of the Diefenbaker government did not result in economic ruin and inflation as the Liberals stated it would. Instead, she said, it was a policy which brought about growth.

Mrs. Macdonald also referred to the proposed extension of family allowance to age 18 for boys and girls attending school and stated she was particularly pleased that when the Diefenbaker government is re-elected, that would become law.

Platform guests included Senator J.J. MacDonald, Hon. Andrew MacRae, Hon. Leo F. Rossiter, Walter Dingwell, MLA, Russell Driscoll, MLA, Frank Myers, MLA and Alton Younker.

Chairman of the meeting was Ralph Coffin. Entertainment was provided by Francis Chaisson and Francis MacDonald. Refreshments were served by the Women's PC Association of 2nd Kings.

'Only Theory' Says Official

Highways Minister Philip Matheson said yesterday that it is "only theory" that the tire size of trucks has any bearing on damage to paved highways.

Island truckers have complained that highway weight restrictions in the province are "severe" and have an adverse effect on the economy. They point out that in other provinces weight restrictions are applied on the basis of per square inch of tire surface on the road and not simply on a per axle load limit.

Mr. Matheson said it has not been proved that weight distribution through more and larger tires produces less strain on the roadbed.

Truckers also point to school busses which they say exceed weight limits.

This matter came up in the Legislature last week when Opposition Leader A.W. Matheson asked what the government's policy on overweight busses is.

One cabinet minister said "they're given the blind eye treatment."

Palmer Worries About Chances In Golf Classic

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—There are two big worry wrink'es in Arnold Palmer's brow as he prepares to go after an unprecedented fourth Masters golf championship here this weekend.

His driver, the bulwark of his game, has lost some of its zing, he contends, and the men he must beat are a much stronger threat than they were a year ago. The tournament starts Thursday.

"Everybody seems to be playing better and I'm not playing as well," the 33-year-old defending champion from Latrobe, Pa., lamented Monday. "Unless I get cracking off the tee, I'm afraid I'm going to be in trouble.

"It's not accuracy that's bothering me so much, I must be getting old, I don't seem to be getting the distance I used to.

"These younger fellows are hitting them so far that I'm getting a complex. They've got me thinking I'm going the other way."

Arnold could be accused of playing possum. Although he didn't keep score in his practice round Monday, his two previous practice rounds over the 6,850 - yard Augusta National course were 65 and 66-13 shots under par for 36 holes.

Red Cross Clinics Underway Today

Barely two days supply of O Rh negative blood remains in the Red Cross blood bank at Halifax to meet the needs of patients in Nova Scotia and P.E.I. hospitals, according to word received yesterday at Red Cross headquarters in Charlottetown.

"O Rh negative" is the "universal" type of blood which is given in emergencies, and for which there is always a great demand.

A. Fremont Archer, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown stated that all former O-negative donors in Charlottetown and the surrounding area, have been sent a special letter asking them to make every effort to attend this weeks Red Cross clinics being held at Zion Church hall today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Archer said that at least 1,065 donors of all types are urgently required to meet the current needs of the Maritime blood bank at Halifax which is depending on residents in Charlottetown and environs, to supply the fresh blood required by patients in both the P.E.I. and Nova Scotia hospitals for the next two weeks.

"This is a terrific responsibility", Mr. Archer said, "and I am confident that both old and new donors will rise to the urgent need and meet this challenge by attending the Charlottetown clinics and making them the complete success they have been in the past."

The Parkdale Lions Club with Edward Dennis as chairman, has entered the "Inter-Service Club" Red Cross blood donor competition with great enthusiasm, and is out to take the trophy away from the present holders — the Charlottetown Junior Board of Trade.

At a meeting of the board of directors held last night, plans were made to have the members of the Parkdale Lions Club solicit support of their endeavour to walk off with this trophy by signing up prospective donors among their wives, families, friends and neighbours, and having them credit their contributions to the club.

Charles Mullen who heads the blood donor committee for the Canada Research Branch, the present holders of the Dominion department of agriculture blood donor trophy, announced last night that the office staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm—numbering some 50 employees—will enter this competition and endeavour to capture the trophy.

AT SDU TODAY

Lee Gillis, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee for the students' council at St. Dunstan's University said last night that everything is in readiness for the Red Cross clinic which gets underway at the college at 1 p.m. and has an objective of 225 donors. Mr. Gillis stated that the 'flu had been prevalent among the students of late and he expected that this would cut down somewhat on the number of donors in attendance. However, he still hoped that the college would make a good showing.

AT ZION TONIGHT

The Charlottetown clinics will open at Zion Church hall tonight at 8 tonight and run until 10, and continue on Wednesday morning from 9-11, Wednesday afternoon from 5-9, and conclude Thursday with an afternoon session from 2-4, and the evening hours will be 7-9.

Four-Way Test Of Rotary Topic Of Luncheon Address

"The Four-Way Test of Rotary" was the subject of an address by Rotarian, Rev. T.H.B. Somers at the luncheon meeting held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday.

In the course of his address the speaker said: "The four-way test — is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build goodwill and better friendships and will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

He said it can be used on any subject by anybody, anywhere, at any time. It runs the gamut of human thought and action all the way from children at play to the councils of the United Nations.

"The four-way test is not a code, nor a creed, nor a rule, but a stimulus to self-appraisal. It is not a pledge, but rather a springboard to voluntary self-improvement. It is not a sermon, although any number of sermons could be preached on it. The four-way test follows the Socratic method of eliciting the right conclusion through aggressive questioning. It reverts to the root meaning of the word "education": to lead out. It draws the right answer from the responsible; it encourages obedience to the unenforceable.

"The Rotary Club of which you and I are members is an organization of men engaged in the business or professional life of this community who accept the moral principal of service to humanity as an essential to human happpiness, and who are determined, to the best of their ability, to practice that principle in their domestic, social, business or professional life, and to endeavour, especially by example, to influence others to accept and practice that same principle in the firm conviction that such acceptance and practice will lead to better conditions for all, eventually to world peace and universal happiness.

"All who become Rotarians have one thing in common — they believe that life has responsibilities, duties, and obligations; that they owe the world something; that they just cannot be taking from life all the time without giving something in return. The spirit of Rotary is in the very essence of its soul. It is invisible, intangible, indefinable; but it is the most real thing about Rotary," the speaker said.

He was introduced by chairman F.M. Cannon and thanked by co-chairman, Fulton Pierce.

Guests of Rotary were: Stanly Thompson, city; Gordon Warren, Dartmouth, N.S.; Joseph Robinson, Montreal.
