If troubled with any PRIVATE or CHRONIC disease DON'T DELAY, but CONSULT
AT ONCE A SPECIALIST who CAN CURE you if it is possible for you to be cured.

Much permanent illness is brought about from the simple fact of ignorance in the management of our own bodies. Many serious troubles might have been prevented by consulting a specialist of known ability at the proper time. That well-known axiom, "a stitch in time saves nine," may be applied to the practice of medicine in the treatment of diseases of the most painful and dangerous nature. If the first warning symptoms are observed and brought to the notice of a competent specialist, the final (and often fatal) permanent disease might have been prevented.

But even if such a chronic condition is present, it is always possible to alleviate and often possible to arrest the progress of the disease, and thus make an otherwise miserable existence a happy one, by consulting one who has devoted years of his life to the treatment of chronic ailments.

To Treat Private and Chronic Diseases Successfully not only requires special ability, but also an extensive experience, and as thousands of rare and obscure cases are yearly treated by them, aided by all that medical science of to-day affords, it can readily be seen why it is that they are so successful in the curing of all Private and Chronic Diseases, Syphilis, Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Heart Disease, Dyspepsia, Kidney, Liver and Bowel Diseases, Piles, Rheumatism, Cancer, Tumor, Varicose Veins, Ulcers, Deafness, Sore and Weak Eyes, Blood and Skin Diseases, Fits, Female Complaints, Nervousness, Stammering, Bashfulness, General Debility, and all Diseases of the Nervous System, are among their principal specialties.

The Special Remedies used for DIABETES Mellitus never fail to Cure

It will be for your interest, if sick or unwell, to consult the Consulting Surgeon, who has had years of experience in treating the above-named diseases. All cases that have come under his personal supervision have rarely if ever failed to be benefited or cured.

A Winter Trip.

Mr. T. L. Chappelle writes from New York, Feb. 17:—Glorious weather, such as we have in June! There are so many points of interest to engage one's spare time that one is in a quandary. In company with Mr. E. D. Stair, well known to your readers (and who acted as guide), I started this morning on an exploration of Central Park and its various attractions. We at first viewed the menagerie and devoted an hour to the study. Then proceeding to "The Metropolitan Museum of Art," a profitable two hours gave us an insight to the beauty and variety of its gorgeous display. One is actually bewildered with the variety of attractions contained therein.
First, "The Catherine Lorillard Wolfe Collection" in the western galleries demands attention. This estimable lady's gifts aggregate $200,000. She was a so constant and unflinching in personal charities among the poor, whom she often visited, and her presence always carried with it the atmosphere of purity and kindness. A friend tells her sending to him in New York, from her boat on the Nile, $25,000 in a check to be distributed in charities.
By her last will she disposed of more than a million dollars in money and objects of art. Her gifts to the Museum of Art illustrated the judicious consideration which had characterized her generosity. The department bearing her name is one of the chief attractions of the building. One of the pictures, "Friedland, 1807," was sold at auction at the sale of the Stewart collection on March 25, 1877, for $66,000. From this you may form an idea of the magnitude of the display. The pictures by modern masters in the old western galleries are many and grand. Some interesting fragments of the 15th and early 16th century wall pictures are exhibited on the Museum south-east stairway. But I would tire your readers if I attempted a recital of all I saw. From the large collection of Egyptian mummies—the endless variety from the most eminent sculptors in their art, together with relics from old revolutionary times, the handiwork of Chinese, Japanese, Egyptians, etc., make even a brief visit to Central Park a pleasurable period. Cleopatra's Needle, or the Egyptian Obelisk, situated near the reservoir, is fast falling into decay, and fears entertained that it will soon be numbered among the things of the past. However, it can be saved by any method preserved, we can with safety trust New Yorkers to do the level best for that purpose. A "block" occurred on the Elevated this morning, which created a little commotion, but the wrong was soon righted. In addition to the peculiar signs mentioned in my last, I noticed to-day, "Beefsteak John's Restaurant." Americans evidently love to be sensational.

Skirting the beautiful shore of the famous Hudson, runs the N. Y. Central and Hudson River Railroad, making it both a trip by land and sea. Yesterday afternoon I went out to Peekskill, N. Y., by this route, a ride occupying one and a quarter hours, distance from New York 41 miles. In this town of 9,000 inhabitants is the mansion of Channey M. Depew and the residence of Gen. James Husted (nicknamed Bald Eagle) Speaker of the House of Assembly of the New York Legislature.
Thirteen stove foundries exist here, only two of which are at present working. One shirt factory, together with wire-mill and iron works, are supposed to be permanently closed. Business is very dull and the place appears to be going through a season of deep depression. I left there this morning for New York, and on my way stepped off in company with a friend at Sing Sing, a town of 8,000 population, and located in the east bank of the Hudson River, 32 miles from New York and 118 from Albany.
I had the pleasure of visiting the prison bearing the name of the town and seeing Ferdinand Ward, Jaehne, and other distinguished convicts—the average number of prisoners is about 1,500. The name Sing Sing is derived from Ossining, the appellation given it by the Indians, and signifying "stone upon stone." The State prison which has made Sing Sing noted the world over was built in 1825. The two white marble prisons were erected solely by the convicts, and that used for male prisoners was completed in 1829. It contains 1,200 cells, is 484 feet long and 44 feet wide, and six stories high, with ranges of work shops running at right angles 40 feet wide and two and three stories high. The prison yields an annual revenue of $250,000.
Sing Sing is a busy, stirring, prosperous town, and possesses a healthy invigorating climate.

Nearing New York we pass Tarrytown, 25 miles distant, with a population of 6,000.
It is delightfully situated in the lap of a range of hills overlooking the Hudson at widest point of Tappan Lee.

Immediately joining New York is Yonkers, with 20,000 souls. Before many years it will be part of the Empire city as it is rapidly growing towards New York, and this city moving towards Yonkers. We now pass through Fourth Avenue Tunnel running from 130th Street to 45th Street, the train enters the Grand Central Depot.
We mount the elevated road and are again back to the starting point.

To-day we are experiencing perfect summer weather, underclothing is uncomfortable, while overcoats are at a decided discount.

I had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Talmage preach in the Academy of Music this morning. People were crowding into the building for fully an hour before service began, and at 10.45 every seat was occupied and hundreds were standing in the aisles. I suppose the audience numbered 6,000. The doxology was at first sung, led by a cornetist and pianist. The effect of such a congregation rising at a signal from the former was grand. The divine read the 23rd Psalm and briefly commented on it, after which he made various allusions to the proposed tabernacle. Next September, it is expected, the new building will be first occupied. There was collected for the fund up to February 1st, $104,000, yet it will require $150,000 more to finish the work.

Mr. Talmage, in order to assist the Trustees, has accepted the position of Editor on the Christian Herald and asks his people to assist in procuring 100,000 additional subscribers. He donates one year's salary, the mention of which created great applause.
The building proper will seat 5,000 and the auditorium 2,000. "Now," said he,
"if you want me to preach in Brooklyn you will build the church; if you do not, you will not." The sermon was based on part of the 31st verse of the 3rd chapter of John. "He that cometh from above is above all." Although Mr. Talmage does an immense amount of writing himself, he dictates an almost incredible amount more. His record, when he is in a rush, is 150 words of dictation a minute.
He is an intensely nervous man, and does only his clerical work sitting down. His dictation is all done while pacing up and down the floor of his study. He attributes his perfect health at fifty-eight—he was that age on January 7th last—to exercise and the care of his stomach. Dr. Talmage dines always at one o'clock. At two o'clock he goes into his study and takes his nap.
He believes in sleep, and plenty of it, and must have that hour's siesta though the heavens fall. He takes a good, long walk before it is time to receive his callers at 6.30. At 7 he has tea. As a pedestrian he is hard to beat, and even now can run for a three mile stretch without getting winded. Dr. Talmage is a teetotaler and does not smoke.
His god in literature is John Ruskin—whom he resembles somewhat. Dr. Talmage's salary from his congregation is $12-000 a year, while his income from the platform is at least twice that amount. He gets besides $10,000 from a single firm for the advance publication of his sermons, which are transmitted all over the world; a check for $5,000 as editor of a religious journal, and also comes silver from Friday evening lectures, to say nothing of his marriage fee, which are considerable. The other day he was offered $50,000 for a series of lectures, the tour and dates subject to his convenience. His sermons are translated into all tongues, in Scandinavia in Swedish, and in Spain in Spanish, as they are in English in England. They are not infrequently met with in Chinese, in Japanese, in Turkish and in Hindoostanee as well. The late Henry W. Grady (whose funeral oration Mr. Talmage says he will preach next Sunday morning) computed that each of his (Mr. T's) sermons in all lands had a circulation of thirty millions.

After to-day's service I called upon Dr.
Joseph M. Creamer, formerly of Charlotteton, but who is now living at 170 Sixth Street, Brooklyn. The Doctor is as jolly as ever, and has a lucrative practice. His family like the place exceedingly. I move homewards via Fall River to-morrow afternoon, stopping at Taunton, Mass., and Providence, R. I., several days prior to taking the boat at Boston on Saturday, the 22nd inst., for Halifax.

Thinking that your readers would like a brief description of the somewhat famed lady who circled the globe in the remarkable short space of 72 days, I attended Union Square Theatre, last evening, to hear a recital of her name, Nellie Bly (whose real name is O'Connor), is, I should suppose, about twenty years of age, somewhat good looking, and intensely interesting in manner—but very nervous. From the time she came upon the stage until the conclusion of the lecture, she continuously fumbled with a chair, moving it to and from the table, and appeared to be an innocent, well-meaning school-girl. I must confess to much disappointment—the only thing of a high order was the prices of tickets, $1.50, $1.00 and 75 cents each.
The lecture, however, which occupied one and a half hour, contained some interesting and amusing incidents. Beginning with the tempestuous voyage across the Atlantic, she continued her story until she reached Jersey City. The story of the man who spoke so scornfully of a woman attempting to circle the earth, and getting sea sick before she got out of New York Bay, and how the same man was nursed by the same little woman he had held in such contempt, was rich. The trip to London, the hurried departure to meet Jules Verne at Amiens, the warm welcome extended by Verne and his wife, and then the journey to Brindisi on the world famous Indian Mail, were attentively listened to. The odd sights that met the traveller's eyes when she reached Colombo, in the island of Ceylon, were described in a natural manner and a girlish frankness. "Globe trotters" have often told of the wonderful Kandy Temple and the great tooth of Buddha, but were not so quizzical as the lecturer appeared to be. Her devotion to the American flag was conspicuous, passing from the amusing to the serious, Miss Bly described the ghastly surroundings she inspected in the place of execution near Canton, in China, where criminals are beheaded and their hearts preserved in jars. Her failure in retaining a monkey which she purchased at Singapore was ludicrous, and the deserved tribute paid to the beauty and gentleness of the Japanese woman brought applause from the ladies present. Her trip from Yokohama to San Francisco and from San Francisco to New York was brightened with a variety of experiences, and at the conclusion the audience moved rapidly to the doors, not seemingly enthusiastic over the girl who travelled around the world in ten weeks.

An alarm of fire last night in a building quite near my lodging, gave me an opportunity of witnessing the work of the department. In a surprisingly short time numerous streams of water were playing on the premises, during which time business on the Elevated and Street railways was entirely suspended.
