70 Lives Lost In Aussie Floods

SYDNEY (Reuters) — A solid wall of flood water 17 miles wide today rolled westward through the state of New South Wales and battered down hastily-erected levees. The worst floods in the state's history already have claimed the lives of at least 70 Australians by unofficial count and swamped the homes of 40,000 people over an area of 30,000 square miles.

150-ton Coastal Vessel Burns

BRAS D'OR, N. S. (CP)—The 150-ton coastal vessel Amy May burned to the water's edge in less than two hours Tuesday night in a fire which also destroyed the wharf it was moored at for the winter. Melvin Fiander, 39, of Bras d'Or was thrown through the cabin door when the batteries he was charging exploded. He suffered a severe shakeup and bruises when he landed on the deck. Shortly after the gas tank exploded. The Army May was purchased by the Bras d'Or Coal Company about 18 years ago and carried coal cargoes to Maritime ports. Estimate of loss was not immediately available.

At the same time the marketing committee of the Maine potato industry council approved a motion favoring withdrawal from the New York mercantile exchange. The action stems from recent record-high trading in Maine potatoes on the exchange after which Maine potato groups asked members of Maine's congressional delegation and federal agriculture officials to investigate possible "manipulation."

New Demands For Release Of Airmen Pressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department announced Tuesday that the United States has presented a new demand to Communist China for release of 41 American civilians. The action was taken in a meeting of U.S. and Red Chinese consular representatives at Geneva, Switzerland. U.S. consul-general Franklin C. Gowen told acting consul-general Shen Ping the U.S. government asked the freedom of the 41 on grounds of their "unwarranted detention." The Communist official, the state department said, "reiterated the Communist position that no Americans are being unjustly detained. However, the announcement said, since contacts between the U.S. and Red Chinese representatives started last June at Geneva, 18 Americans who had been imprisoned or otherwise denied permission to leave Red China have been released. Press officer Henry Suydam said "these negotiations have not been unproductive and we naturally hope more will be released."

Legislators Guests Of Centennial Committee

An atmosphere of cordiality dominated the Centennial Banquet honouring the members of the Prince Edward Island Legislature who were the guests of the Charlottetown Centennial Committee at the Charlottetown Hotel last night. More than 125 citizens turned out to pay their respects to the Legislators of the Province. Mayor J. D. Stewart presided and welcomed the guests. Seated at the head table with His Worship were His Honour Lieutenant Governor Prowse, Premier A. W. Matheson, Mr. R. B. Bell, leader of the Opposition, Hon. Forrest Phillips, Speaker of the Legislature, Hon. B. Earle MacDonald, Dr. W.J.P. MacMillan, W. F. Alan Stewart, A. W. Gaudet, general manager of the Centennial Committee; Frank Curtis, chairman of the Special Events Committee; Lt. Col. Frank Storey, chairman and Lt. Col. Leo F. MacDonald, vice-chairman of the Centennial Committee. Music for the occasion was provided by Les Alexander and his orchestra. Miss Helen Roach sang "The Centennial Jamboree" which is an original composition by Mr. Alexander and sung for the first time in front of an audience. A toast to the Legislature of Prince Edward Island was proposed by Mr. Frank Curtis and responded to by Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan and Mr. W. F. Alan Stewart. Other speakers who addressed the dinner briefly were Lt. Governor Prowse, Hon. A. W. Matheson, Mr. R. B. Bell, Q.C.

In welcoming the members of the Legislature, Mayor Stewart reminded them that the City of Charlottetown takes all its legislation from the House of Assembly. He told them that no less than 30 conventions are at present booked for Charlottetown during the coming season and pointed out what the presence of people in such large numbers would mean to the City. Mayor Stewart said, "I believe that one of the most important industries in this Province is the tourist industry and as yet the surface has only been scratched. We hope to more than scratch the surface this summer" he added. In proposing the toast to the Legislature, Mr. Curtis termed the gathering a unique occasion in that the members were departing from the usual experience of having the complaints of angry taxpayers directed at them but were receiving the just appreciation of a group of grateful citizens. Mr. Curtis asked the question "Why do men seek public office." Listing many reasons he concluded that in most cases they enter politics because they feel that they can be of service to their fellow men. Dr. MacMillan said "Charlottetown has been good to me and it was a lucky day for me when I came to this City." He lauded the work of the Centennial Committee. "I am glad that we have a Committee such as this to make the citizens up to inviting the members of the Legislature to a dinner of this kind." The Doctor said that in all his

Higher Freight

Maritimes. Mr. Matheson said early indications were that automobiles would not be affected by the ruling. However, he added, this was reversed by a board announcement. The $350,000-$400,000 figure was based on 1954 figures, Mr. Matheson said. The increases would be roughly the same to all Maritime points. The commission officer said the change has been protested already by the Automobile Dealers' Associations of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

CARLOADINGS DOWN — OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Railway Carloadings in the first seven days of February declined to 66,981 from 69,163 in the same period of 1954, the bureau of statistics reported Monday. Carried in reduced volume were grain and coal and freight in less-than-carload lots. More cars of non-ferrous ores and concentrates, lumber, timber and plywood were loaded.

Duke Aids In Trick, Doesn't Learn Magic

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh stepped up on a stage Monday night and grabbed a saw and hacked his private secretary into two parts. That's what it looked like, anyway. The royal trickery occurred at a meeting of the Magic Circle, an organization of conjurers and illusionists. The part of the victim was played by Lt.-Cmdr. Michael Parker. Magician Francis White, who helped the duke pull off the trick, refused to tell him how it was done. "Sorry, sir," said White, "members of the magic circle are all under a solemn oath not to divulge our secrets."

Churchill Sees

"It is now a fact that a quantity of plutonium—probably less than would fill this box here on the table and quite a safe thing to store—would suffice to produce weapons which would give indisputable world domination to any great power which was the only one to have it."

LADEN WITH DOOM — There was an immense gulf between the atomic and the hydrogen bomb. "The atomic bomb, with all its terrors, did not carry us outside the scope of human control of manageable events, in thought or action, in peace or war," he said. "But with the H-bomb, the entire foundation of human affairs is revolutionized and mankind placed in a situation both measureless and laden with doom." Should war come there were a large number of targets Britain and the United States must be able to strike at once—scores of airfields from which the Soviets could launch H-bomb attacks once they had the bombers to carry them.

PARALYZE ASSAULTS — It was essential to be able to paralyze these potential Communist assaults in the first few hours of the war. He qualified his forecast of no major war for three or four years by saying it was conceivable, of course, that Russia, fearing a nuclear attack being launched on her might make a surprise attack as her own form of deterrent. The U. S. and Britain must make it clear that such a surprise attack would bring immediate retaliation on a far larger scale. Defending Britain's decision to make her own H-bomb, Churchill said that in an emergency, the plans of other powers might not be exactly what Britain wished. She must be able herself to deal with targets that could be a matter of life or death to her.

RUSSIA NOW VULNERABLE — The hydrogen bomb had made Russia, despite her enormous space and scattered population, as vulnerable as small, densely-populated Britain and Western Europe. "To this form of attack continents are as vulnerable as islands," he said. Churchill ended by saying that in the next 10 years the deterrent might well "reach

Travelogue Talk At St. Paul's Laymen's Ass'n

Miss Lena McLure took the members of St. Paul's Laymen's Association on a highly interesting travelogue trip to Salisbury, England, at their monthly supper meeting in the parish hall last evening. In her remarks, Miss McLure touched on the historic background of the George Inn where she stayed in the Cathedral City while on vacation last summer. Although it was built in 1820 and retains its original state in most respects, it has been fitted with modern conveniences. It was named by the Guild of St. George which was organized by the Mayor and Corporation in 1906. While wines, spirits or ale can be procured, smoking is not allowed in the dining-room. The present garden was the old courtyard where Shakespeare with his band of strolling mummerys, played a one-night stand. The Inn is referred to in Pepys' Diary, where it is recorded, in effect that he was well treated but meeting for a comfortable price. Dickens also mentions the Inn in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Miss McLure described the interior and exterior of the building and touched on the interesting details of the building. She mentioned the fact that the present garden was the old courtyard where Shakespeare with his band of strolling mummerys, played a one-night stand. The Inn is referred to in Pepys' Diary, where it is recorded, in effect that he was well treated but meeting for a comfortable price. Dickens also mentions the Inn in Martin Chuzzlewit.

SALISBURY CATHEDRAL

"The story of Britain's past is written not only in history books, but in stone, and Salisbury Cathedral is an example of this," Miss McLure said. The cathedral contains one of the original official copies of Magna Carta, 1215. Of Salisbury Cathedral it is said that there are as many windows as days in the year, as many marble pillars as there are hours in the year (720), as many gables as there are months in the year. "A strange tale to tell, yet none more strange than true."

Miss McLure, who had been introduced by President Jack Anderson, was thanked for her address by Tom DeBlois, who presided. The meeting was opened with Grace by Gerald Proctor and closed with the benediction by the Rector, Rev. J. T. Ibbot. Guests were Mr. P. Bridges, Moncton, N. B. and Mr. E. Johnston, Charlottetown.

WANT MORE WORK

BRACKNELL, England (CP) — Three hundred workers at an aircraft factory in this Buckinghamshire district went on a one-day strike in protest against a shortage of work.

QUETTA, Pakistan (AP)—

Violent earth tremors rocked this West Pakistan city Monday for the third successive day. Death toll in the area during the weekend was put at 12. Nearly half the population, which with the suburbs totals more than 82,000, fled their homes. Its scene and reap its final reward.

"The day may dawn when fair play and love for one's fellow man, and respect for justice and freedom, will make the tormented generations to march forth, serene and triumphant, from the hideous epoch in which we have to dwell. "Meanwhile, never flinch, never weary, never despair."

Controversy In Legislature On Potato Tariff Amendment

An amendment to the potato tariff resolution introduced by Opposition Leader Bell, sparked a heated debate in the Legislature yesterday in which Premier Matheson said, "Let us not get out on a limb about something we know nothing of."

The amendment asked that the Legislature now in session, urgent by request the Government at Ottawa to provide either by agreement or by legislation, a minimum reciprocal rate on all potatoes without quota.

The original clause read: "And further resolved that this Legislature do hereby request the Dominion Government to take immediate steps to confer with the United States Government on the very unjust tariff against our potatoes."

The Premier said, "We shouldn't be in the position that we are in today. We had people representing us on horticultural councils who agreed to certain things with the United States a few years ago. Continuing the debate, he returned to the subject of the amendment, saying that if you are not, then let's not put it through."

He went on to say that Canada in agreement with the Geneva conference on Tariffs and that Hon. C. D. Howe, who has just returned from Geneva, had made it plain that "and I am willing to abide by that."

Mr. Myers: The Premier is blaming conditions on the Horticultural Council.

Mr. R. R. Bell told the House that Premier Jones had once asked for a fifty per cent reduction in tariffs with elimination.

"I am hoping with the amendment," said the Premier, "and if we get stuck this time as we did before who knows what conditions we will find ourselves in."

Frank Myers (P.C. 1st Queens) suggested that the Premier put the resolution in his pocket and start for Ottawa right away.

Premier Matheson: "That suggestion is like all those we hear from the Opposition—no thought behind them."

Lorne MacFarlane (L. 5th Prince) said he could find no fault with the amendment. "We are asking for something definite and I cannot see that we are going out on a limb," he said.

Premier Matheson: "To make changes here in committee without careful consideration, is a dangerous thing." He suggested that the amendment be referred to the Committee on Agriculture for further study and presented to the House today.

Lorne MacFarlane (L. 5th Prince) said he had been moved by Mr. Thomas Cullen (L. Second Kings) who was first debated yesterday by Mr. Harvey Douglas. All the speakers on the resolution expressed agreement in principle although the Opposition for delaying it for so long. Those speaking to the resolution were Harvey Douglas, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Frank Myers, George Saville, Harold Smith, Lorne MacFarlane, Hon. C. C. Baker, Hon. Eugene Cullen, John A. MacDonald, Hon. William Hughes.
