Self-appointed chronicler of "Generation X" and all around cool dude. Stan attempts to prove that his generation isn't lazy, exactly... just content to go with the flow. His own plans for the future: graduate and then just let things slide.

Don't you DARE call him Stanley!

Name: Carol Schneider
Age: 20 (but we didn't tell you!)
Height: just right
Weight: None of our business
Faculty: Arts
Position: Guerrilla columnist

Carol is a bright ray of sunshine in our gloomy lives. She is blonde, but she's no dim bulb. For watt it's worth, she's got a dark sense of humor, but is a cheery, radiant soul. She glows in the dark, too. Well, I've milked the lighting pans long enough.

Carol hates William S. Snotner, and has been known to shoot TVs when Rescue 911 is on. Why? We don't know.

Name: David Blackburn
Age: ?
Height: ?
Weight: ?
Faculty: Being Mysterious
Position: Distribution (he carries papers)

This impressive but seldom seen giant is the last of a poor Russian peasant family. Endowed with the ability to change his body to solid steel, he is a big hit at parties and as a pedestrian at demolition derbies. His mission in life is to corrupt the evil capitalist system by delivering the subversive X-Press.

We still know nothing about Dave, and we probably never will. Well, nothing we'll admit to, anyway.

Name: Kirby Ferguson
Age: ?
Height: tall enough
Weight: a minute!
Faculty: Arts
Position: Record reviewer

Kirby's razor wit and sharp tongue enable him to slash through record company hype. His reviews cut to the quick, removing with surgical precision what makes a band suck. His mutant healing factor allows him to survive encounters with all but the most irate fans.

Kirby Ferguson is not dead. He's in X-tral Australia.

Name: Todd Petrie
Age: vintage
Height: 05 obscenity
Weight: For me!
Faculty: No, student!
Position: Typesetter

Here at the X-Press we go through typesetters like clean underwear. Todd is the latest and last in this gear's line up of "official" typesets. He is quiet, polite, non-judgmental, keeps to himself mostly. A ticking time bomb. If he sticks around, we'll make a weirdo out of him yet!

We know as much about Todd as we know about Dave. He could be Elvis. For all we know.

statistics

Name: Andrew MacPherson
Age: slow
Height: 175 (190 carrying pizzas and Cola)
Weight: Engineer (he's even got the hat!)
Position: Pizza dude and Ad exec

Andy works his butt off to get people to advertise in the X-Press. As reward for his arduous task, we let him deliver the pizza each week. Watching Andy at work is like watching WKRP reruns with Andrew as Herb Tarlek. To his credit, Andrew does not wear a tacky suit.

Andrew's wings have a X-tral mind of their own and sometimes go to parties without him. Can it be a coincidence that last year's worst hurricane was named Andrew's let there not.
