His cries for help were heard by Melvin Winchester who was near at hand and who came to his rescue. When brought to the hospital he was pretty well exhausted and had considerable water in his lungs. He was reported last night as having considerable congestion and some temperature. Early in the evening his car had overturned on the clay road at the western boundary of the town and it is thought he was rather shaken up. —S.

Parachutist Killed At St. Catherines

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., June 25 —(CP)—Joseph Chadwick, 21-year-old St. Catherines aviation enthusiast, dropped 2,500 feet to h's death when his parachute failed to open during an air meet here today.

A crowd of 2,000 spectators, including the victim's mother, Mrs. Joseph Chadwick and several other of his relatives, saw the young man crash into an orchard one mile north of St. Catherines Airport.

Chadwick was the first of three novices scheduled to make their initial parachute jumps but following the accident the remainder of the show was cancelled. For the last two years Chadwick has been taking flying instructions but never has flown solo.

An investigation was opened immediately by Coroner Dr. J. L. Poirier and Provincial Police. Chadwick carried two parachutes and had been instructed to open both. One opened partially, it was learned after the crash.

CORNMEAL GIVES DRY SHAMPOO

There's not always time for doing the needful things for your own person when you run a busy household, so that the shampoo encroaches too much on the schedule of daily chores. In that case, here's a speedy substitute—a dry shampoo: Sprinkle cornmeal lightly through your hair and over your scalp, then brush out every trace of it. This scalp and hair-cleansing routine requires a lot of brushing, as every trace of the powdery deposit must be removed.

The popularity of the young couple was truly evinced by the many good wishes and beautiful presents they received from both old and young who attended, as well as the large number who were unable to be present at the happy gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock were sedately escorted to the place of honour in a room which was attractively decorated in yellow and white for the special occasion, by Miss Carrie Woodside. Mrs. Ray Hamilton, assisted by Miss Ruby Moase opened the many presents and Miss Lucy Brown read the accompanying verses, she in turn passing them on to Mrs. Elmer Bernard who presented them to the bride and groom. After the opening of the presents all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Mr. Whitlock then in his most capable manner, on behalf of himself and bride, in a few well chosen words thanked them most graciously for their thoughtfulness and many beautiful gifts. After an evening of music and singing by the happy throng a dainty lunch was served and enjoyed by all. Mr. Roscoe Walker then on behalf of those gathered, sincerely wished the happy couple many years of happy wedded life, and then thanked the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. William Champion for their help and support in making the shower such a wonderful success. The happy evening was then brought to a close with the singing of "Good Night Ladies", and "God Save the King." —H.

Test New Submarine Life-Saving Raft

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

POLA, Italy, June 25 — Naval officials reported yesterday the successful conclusion of the first test of a pneumatic or submarine life-saving raft. They said tests made yith a rub-marine 60-feet below the surface showed the raft was capable of bearing 40 persons.

The device, developed by Monfalcone shipyard technicians, consists of five tubes joined together four empty and buoyant while the middle one contains an outboard motor, wireless transmitting apparatus, clothing and first aid equipment.

Carried in the prow of a submarine, it would be released for use by a device which would function from any part of the submersible. The raft would rise to the surface but remain tied to the submarine by a long chain.

Members of the crew would rise to the surface by means of underwater breathing apparatus and board the raft.

Confirmation Service Held At Summerside

St. Mary's Church, Summerside, was filled to capacity at the 11 o'clock service yesterday morning when His Grace Archbishop MacKenley, visited the parish and held a confirmation service.

There were fifteen young people presented by the Rector, Rev. G. R. Harrison, for confirmation. His Grace after conferring the Holy Rite of Confirmation, on the candidates addressed them in simple but impressive words. He told them that by coming forward for confirmation they had made the most important decision of their lives in as much as they had openly declared their faith in God and right. In beautiful language His Grace pointed out the fatherly goodness of God our Father, using the story of the prodigal son to illustrate his meaning and quoted the commandment of Jesus Christ to do unto others as ye would they should do unto you, as the embodiment of the righteousness of God. On these two things hang everything, said His Grace. They are the very foundation of life itself and the church.

The Archbishop was the celebrant at the Holy Communion which followed and at which the newly confirmed received Holy Communion. His Grace was assisted by Rev. Canon Andrew and Rev G. R. Harrison.

The choir rendered special music, Miss Dorothy Wyatt taking the solo parts.

In the afternoon the Archbishop held confirmation at Burlington and in the evening at St. Mark's Church, Kensington, from there His Grace will go to Crapaud, Milton and Charlottetown visiting these places during the coming week.

SMART TIPS FOR YOUNG FINGERS

"It has been said that pointed fingegrtips denote an impulsive nature, but they're the envy of every woman who doesn't own them," says a famous nail lacquer expert.

"However, if your fingertips are pointed, it's a mistake to file your nails to sharp, claw-like points. Sharply pointed nails are no longer considered chic, anyway, but, chic or no, they are not for fingers which are naturally pointed. So let the shape of your nails be almond-like and don't forget to wipe your polish off the tip of each one." She went on to discuss spatulate fingertips, generally thought to denote practical capability

Such fingertips are broad and unless the nails are shaped correctly, the hands will seem too short, too chunky-looking. If nails are filed reasonably short at sides, with the centre portions left long but not pointed, the finger will appear to be longer and more slender than they actually are. Polish ought to be started at the edge of the moon and carried downward the full length of the nail with only a hairline at the tip removed."

The nail of a conic fingertip — not too pointed, and alleged to signify creative artistic temperament—should be filed into an oval shape with the faintest suggestion of a point. Polish ought to extend from moon to tip, with only a line (hair width) removed.

The best way to make sure that your nails are the correct shape and your polish the right shade is to do a little experimenting.

INDIGNITIES

1. Japanese Consul-General Shigenori Tashiro sent a strongly worded protest to the British Consul-General, E. G. Jamieson, charging the British military with interfering with and attacking a Chinese constable on Japanese-occupied territory. The incident, precipitated when a British soldier allegedly assaulted a Chinese shopkeeper, occurred late Saturday.

2. Japanese tightened their blockade by allowing only one Chinese to enter the British and French Concessions each half hour and declared martial law near the railway station, beyond the International Bridge, sweeping back a crowd of Chinese waiting to enter the French zone.

3. G. A. Smith, British Exporter, was released after being held for eight days by the Japanese on charges of manhandling a Chinese policeman outside the British Concession.

4. John Caldwell, United States Consul-General, announced he had lodged representations with the Japanese, charging them with mistreatment of Robert S. Casey, an American seaman, in detaining him four days. The incident was regarded closed when Japanese Consular officials expressed their regret.

5. Supplies of fresh milk to both Concessions were cut off and British official circles alleged the Japanese had threatened Chinese outside the barricaded zones with imprisonment or death if they were caught supplying Britons with fresh foodstuffs.

72nd SESSION

Women's Missionary Society of the Church. Mrs. J. A. Clark of Charlottetown was elected president. Mrs. S. D. Trites, of Tryon, retiring president was in the chair. Other officers elected included vice-president, Miss Edith MacLeod, Dundas, secretary-treasurer, John MacLeod, Summerside, (re-elected), Guest speaker at the session was Miss Laura Bain, native of North River, this Province, missionary home on furlough from India. She gave an interesting account of her work in that country. The W. M. S. met in connection with sessions of the United Baptist Association of the Province in convention here.

Part of the session was devoted to a memorial service for members of the organization who passed away during the past twelve months.

Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Vera Malcolm Campbell and Mrs. John MacLeod of Summerside.

Young People Meet

Saturday evening the annual meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union was held. Mr. Lorne Callbeck was named new president of the Union. Mr. Ralph MacLean of New Dominion was elected secretray-treasurer. Retiring president Lloyd Manuel of Charlottetown was chairman.

At this meeting guest speaker was Rev. H. O. T. Burkwall, missionary for 40 years in China and now representing the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Another inspiring address at this service was given by Rev. A. D. Matheson of Dundas, missionary on furlough from India.

Mr. Athol Roberts of Marshfield, winner in the provincial oratorical contest was also a speaker.

A vocal solo was rendered by Miss Bernice Ward of Charlottetown.

Sunday Services

The Sunday morning service in connection with the seventy second session of the Prince Edward Island Baptist Association opened at 10.30 with a period of congregational song, under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Duncan. The lessons of the day were read by the Rev. J. B. Wilson and the Rev. Heston Flanagan. The preacher of the Association Sermon was the Rev. Heston Flanagan of Montague, who took as his theme "Debtor to all men." Three types of mankind are suggested in the story of the Good Samaritan. There is the type which says "what you have is yours, but I am going to take it from you" . . the predatory. There is the type who says "what I have is mine, and I shall keep it" . . . the indifferent. The type of "what I have is yours, I shall share it" these have the spirit of Jesus, not to be ministered unto but to minister. Very truly are all men debtors to all, if we can help we owe this debt.

We are debtors on account of our common humanity, our common gospel, our common salvation. We are debtors to all men through our common debt to Jesus which we may pay as we help our fellow men. May we strive each day to recognize our debt to all men and live so that in effort, in helpfulness, in the influence of our lives the debt to all men may be nobly paid.

Mr. J. E. Sterns rich bass voice gave notable expression to "Consider and Hear Me O Lord". The morning anthem was Walmisley's "From all who dwell beneath the skies." The violin offertory was by Miss Vera Campbell.

The afternoon session at 2:30 p. m. was addressed by the Rev. W. C. Machum of Kentville, N. S., who delivered a characteristically brilliant and pointed message.

He represented a comprehensive survey on the responsibilities facing the Maritime convention, discussing the subject under the following headings, missions, education, aid and relief, and social service. He made an inspiring appeal to the church to make advances in the work of the Kingdom of God.

Mrs. John MacLeod sang two solos, "Forgive Me Lord" and "Leave It With Him."

Concluding Session

At the concluding session of the convention last evening a song service at 7 p. m. was led by Rev. Heston Flanagan.

The worship period which followed was presided over by Deacon P. J. Proud, moderator-elect assisted by the Rev. J. M. Blesdell and the Rev. H. L. Denton.

Rev. S. D. Trites was the speaker taking as his text II Timothy 1:7. His topic was "fundamental spirits" which he discussed under four headings. They were spirit of fear, spirit of power, spirit of love and the possession of a sound mind.

He made an impressive appeal for the practical application of the principle of Jesus Christ. The Christian Church could usher in a new era through an active belief in and relationship with the personal God, the speaker declared.

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Heston Flanagan.

Music at this service included, a solo, "Return Unto Thy Rest," Miss Pearle Burns; a quartette, "The Lord Is My Shepherd", Misses Campbell, D. Baker, P. Burns and T. Burns.

The Choir rendered the anthem, "Sun of My Soul."

At this service Miss Vera Malcolm Campbell, Mus. Bac., director of music who is severing her connection with the Charlottetown Baptist Church in the near future was presented with a delightful gift accompanied by an address. Miss Campbell made a gracious reply. Presentation was made by Mr. J. W. Boulter, representing the music committee of the church.

The most popular airport for flies is a bald head

WASHINGTON, June 25—(AP)—The United States Army lifted its secrecy surrounding a weapon that hurls a 100-pound shell 15 miles.

A 155-millimetre calibre gun, bulky but mobile, it fired a projectile in tests at Fort Bragg, N. C., which travelled about 25,000 yards and blew a hole 16 feet in the ground.

The shot was the longest ever fired from a standard American Army field gun, Colonel Ralph McPennell, chairman of the Field Artillery Board, reported.

The weapon, developed by the army's own ordinance experts has been adopted as standard for long range artillery fire and an undisclosed number are being turned out now at Arsenals.

Describing it in a military periodical, "Army Ordnance," Pennell explained its function was bombardment of enemy reserves, supply dumps and communications far behind wartime lines of battle.

The gun weighs 30,765 pounds, or about 15 tons, and is mounted on a 10-wheel, pneumatic-tired carriage capable of a top speed of 12 miles an hour.
