Dorothy Dix Says—that is what will happen to you if you don't have something to break the monotony of your life, some change and diversion that would give you something new to think about.

If your husband knows what is good for him he will make it a rule to step out with you one or two evenings every week just as a matter of self-protection, even if he isn't interested in keeping you happy and contented.

Men seem to have the idea that the more a woman stays at home and the more she never takes her eye off her baby, the better house-keeper and mother she is, but the reverse is the truth. The more variety she has in her life, the more fitted she is to grapple with her home problems because she comes to them refreshed and stimulated by her little contacts with the world.

DEAR MISS DIX: A says she knows at least a dozen men of about the same intelligence and position in life with any one of whom he could experience as much happiness and affection in marriage as he could with any of the others. B thinks that she could only love and be happy with some one particular man, and that she would always be indifferent to the others. Which is right.

X. Y. Z.

ANSWER: If A's ideal of marriage is merely to possess a husband and a home, then any man who would escort her to the altar and give her a house would suffice. But the girl who is capable of a deep love would single out some particular man from the group and set her affections on him. Why she chose him from among others just as good-looking, just as intelligent, just as desirable she could not tell. And that is the mystery of love.

CAVENDISH W. M. S.

The Cavendish Auxiliary of the W. M. S. met at the Manse Wednesday March 8th at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Olaf Stevenson led the Devotional Service Theme—"You are not your own." A few of the teachings of the Bible about Stewardship were presented by the reading of various portions by Mrs. Lorne MacNeill, Miss Bernice Ainsworth, Mrs. George MacCoubrey and Mrs. Alvah MacNeill, interspersed by singing verses of hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be".

After hearing the Bible teachings about Stewardship the group committed themselves to endeavor to live by these principles. Mr. Ernest MacNeill gave a sketch of Miss Eleanor Parker's life and work as missionary teacher in Chissambur, Africa and offered prayer on her behalf.

The President then presented the last chapter of Study Book—"Growing with the Years" "In Sharing and Sacrifice." "What can I give to My Church." Questions on the Subjects, Full Time Service, Voluntary Service and Money were answered by Mrs. Lewis Toombs Christian Stewardship Secretary—Mrs. Olaf Stevenson, Mrs. Lorne MacNeill and Miss Bernice Ainsworth reading from the Study Book.

While full time service was impossible for those present it was decided to encourage the young people in our homes and community to give their earnest consideration and prayer as the need for Ministers, missionaries, doctors, nurses, teachers, evangelists and deaconesses is urgent.

All could do more in Voluntary Service for the question is—"Am I giving in Time and Talents all that God would have me give?" Gifts of money to the Church were not to be looked upon as an obligation, but as one of the greatest opportunities for Christian Service.

Minutes were read and adopted. Roll call answered by 10 members giving a verse of a favorite hymn. A letter was read from the Presbyterian President reminding that this is the 25th Anniversary year and the members should make it a year to be proud of. Advancing in membership and gifts.
