

Bacon Literature.

DIALOGUE ON THE TARIFF.—"Well Sam, how do you like the tariff?" "First rate, first rate."

THE ARGUMENT AN ABSURDUM.—"We never believe a man when he professes to be restrained from marrying by the extravagant style of female dress."

CUTTING FOR THE CUTTER.—"Hair-dresser (anxious to puff his anti-bare's grease): 'excuse me, sir, but you are a leetle'—Old Gentleman: 'Bald, eh? Yes, I was born so!'"

QUERIES.—When William obtains a sweetheart is he an accepted Bill?—Should James's wife want diamonds when she possesses a "Jem" already.

There is a shyness, the offspring of refined sensibility, which is often mistaken for pride; and there is a forward and designing familiarity which frequently wins the applause of those who become its destined victims.

A horse dealer in the Athenian city of Oxford made an addition to his stock of two fine horses, to which he assigned the classical cognomen of Xerxes and Artaxerxes. A gentleman commoner having demanded of him his "exquisite reason" for so doing, he replied, "Why, you see, when I drives tandem I makes Xerxes my leader, and puts the other in the shafts, so I calls him Arta-Xerxes."

THE SADDEST FUNERAL.—There is no funeral so sad to follow as the funeral of our own youth, which we have been pampering with fond desires, ambitions, hope, and all the bright berries that hang in poisonous clusters over the path of life.

Secret kindness done to mankind are as beautiful as secret injuries are detestable. To be invisibly good is as godlike as to be invisibly evil is diabolical.

ANGER AND RECONCILIATION.—It is best not to be angry; and best in the next place, to be quickly reconciled.

"Don't put too much confidence in a lover's vows and sighs," said Mrs. Partington to her niece. "Let him tell you that you have lips like strawberries and cream, cheeks like a tarantula, and an eye like an asterisk; but such things of tender come from a tender head than from a tender heart."

It is said that an Ohioan, who beat his wife all night, recently, was arrested next morning—not for the beating, but for disturbing his neighbor's rest.

THE TEMPORAL POWER.—The brain. THE POOR IN SPIRIT.—Bankrupt Publicans.

A young clergyman, just married, undertaking to give out a notice of a meeting to be held at his house, which happened not to be a rectory, said, "There will be service at my—our—at the house of the minister."

An Irishman decapitated a turtle and afterwards was amusing himself by putting sticks in his mouth, which bit with violence. A lady who saw the proceeding exclaimed: "Why, Patrick, I thought the turtle was dead?" "So he is, ma'am, but the crayfish is not sensible of it."

ADVICE TO ROMEO.—If a woman doesn't love you, make her hate you. Hate is an unnatural extreme to her, and the rebound to affection is easy and eventually certain.

MAGNETIC ATTRACTION.—It was a clever thing of an officer of engineers, who visited the Zoological Gardens the other day, and, leaning gracefully over the chairs of his lady acquaintances—talking soft nonsense the while—applied his magnet-headed cane to their hair-pins till he had drawn them all out! Of course there was great tribulation when, on rising from their seats, their chignons tumbled off! It said the ladies called the captain a "brute;" but what else does one go to the "Zoo" for but to see brutes?

AN ESSENCE THAT YIELDS MOST.—Acqui-escence. THE BEST STIMULANT FOR THE "HARE."—A greyhound.

The Philosopher Bion said pleasantly of the king who by handfulls pulled his hair off his head for sorrow, "Does this man think that baldness is a remedy for grief?"

INDEPENDENCE.—Serenity, health, and happiness attend the desire of rising by labour; misery, repentance, and disrespect, that of succeeding by extorted benevolence. The man who can thank himself alone for the happiness he enjoys, is truly blest; and lovely, far more lovely, the sturdy gloom of laborious independence than the fawning simper of thriving adulation.—Goldsmith

IMMORTALITY.—When I consider the boundless activity of our minds, the remembrance of things past, our foresight of what is to come; when I reflect on the noble discoveries and vast improvements by which those minds have advanced arts and sciences; I am entirely persuaded, and out of all doubt, that a nature which has in itself a fund of so many excellent wings cannot possibly be mortal.—Xenophon Agricultural.

CHOPPING WOOD.—Almost every farmer has upon his farm a wood lot, from which he obtains his year's stock of fuel, and some time during the winter either sends his hired man or goes himself into the woods and chops the necessary amount of fuel to supply his wants for the next season.

FEEDING TURNIPS AND CABBAGES.—There has been a good deal of discussion of late concerning the feeding of turnips and cabbages to milk cows.

STEAMING FOOD FOR CATTLE.—There is no doubt but the value of hay and other food is greatly increased by steaming. Those who have followed this practice for years, all agree that the good results more than compensate for the trouble.

MAGNETIC ATTRACTION.—It was a clever thing of an officer of engineers, who visited the Zoological Gardens the other day, and, leaning gracefully over the chairs of his lady acquaintances—talking soft nonsense the while—applied his magnet-headed cane to their hair-pins till he had drawn them all out!

KEEPING VEGETABLES.—Those intended for table use through the winter should be so cared for that they will not shrivel, but retain their freshness even until spring.

TREES.—Manure may now be hauled and placed around the young trees that you wish to push forward next season. The snows of winter and rains of spring carry down the valuable properties in a condition to be absorbed by the roots next year.

To preserve potatoes an exchange recommends the following:—Dust over the floor of the bin with lime, and put in six or seven inches of potatoes and dust with lime as before.

IMMORTALITY.—When I consider the boundless activity of our minds, the remembrance of things past, our foresight of what is to come; when I reflect on the noble discoveries and vast improvements by which those minds have advanced arts and sciences; I am entirely persuaded, and out of all doubt, that a nature which has in itself a fund of so many excellent wings cannot possibly be mortal.—Xenophon

Mrs. S. A. Allen's, PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer

It is suited to both young and old. It strengthens the hair, prevents its falling or turning grey, and imparts to it a beautiful glossy appearance. It never fails to restore grey hair to its original youthful color.

THE Restorer Reproduces and the Hair Dressing Beautifies. Principal Sales Office, 198 Greenwich Street, New York City. August 1, 1867.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Dressing, or ZYLOBALSAMUM, is essential to use with the Restorer, but the Hair Dressing alone often restores, and never fails to invigorate, beautify and refresh the Hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position.

FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN, whose hair requires frequent dressing, it has no equal. No lady's toilet is complete without it. The rich glossy appearance imparted is truly wonderful. It cleanses the Hair, removes all dandruff, and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance. It will prevent the Hair from falling out, and is the most economical and valuable Hair Dressing known. Millions of bottles sold every year.

Just in Time FOR THE SPRING TRADE!!

The Subscriber has opened a Tailoring Establishment!

in Mr. H. J. Richardson's Old Stand, which he trusts will be the real Fashionable one of Summerside. If an accurate fit, a stylish cut, and superior workmanship can ensure custom, he flatters himself he shall not be without patronage from the tasty and discerning. Every trade requires brains, and none more so than the art of cutting and making up a garment to fit every variety of the human form; but some people seem to imagine that it requires no more judgment to cut a coat than to sew a log—an erroneous idea, the effects of which are seen in the countless ill-fitting garments we every day behold in the streets. There is no cordily reason to prevent us Provincialists from being as elegantly and fashionably dressed as the Americans, and the subscriber will use his best endeavors to reach a "consummation so devoutly to be wished."

JAMES GAFFNEY, late Cutter at Mr. H. J. Richardson's Clothing Store. Summerside, May 23, 1867.

British Periodicals. The London Quarterly Review (Conservative) The Edinburgh Review (Whig), The Westminster Review (Radical), North British Review (Free Church) AND Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory)

These foreign periodicals are regularly published by us in the same style as heretofore. Those who know them and have long subscribed to them, need no reminder; those whom the civil war of the last few years has deprived of their once welcome supply of the best periodical literature, will be glad to have them again within their reach; and those who may never yet have met with them, will assuredly be well pleased to receive accredited reports of the progress of European science and literature.

TERMS FOR 1867. For any one of the Reviews $4.00 per annum For any two of the Reviews 7.00 " For any three of the Reviews 10.00 " For all four of the Reviews 12.00 " For Blackwood's Magazine 4.00 " For Blackwood & one Review 7.00 " For Blackwood and any two of the Reviews 10.00 " For Blackwood and three of the Reviews 13.00 " For Blackwood and the four Reviews 15.00 "

A discount of twenty per cent. will be allowed to clubs of four or more persons. Thus, four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $12.80. Four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood, for $48.00, and so on.

POSTAGE. When sent by mail, the POSTAGE to any part of the United States will be twenty-four cents a year for "Blackwood," and but eight cents a year for each of the Reviews.

PREMIUMS TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS. New Subscribers to any two of the above periodicals for 1867 will be entitled to receive gratis, any one of the "Four Reviews" for 1866. New Subscribers to all five of the Periodicals for 1867, may receive, gratis, Blackwood or any two of the "Four Reviews" for 1866.

These premiums will be allowed on all new subscriptions received before April 1, 1867. Subscribers may also obtain back numbers at the following reduced rates, viz: The North British from January, 1863, to December, 1866, inclusive; the Edinburgh and the Westminster from April, 1864, to December, 1867, inclusive; and the London Quarterly for the years 1865 and 1866, at the rate of 1.50 a year for each or any Review; also Blackwood for 1866, for $2.50.

Neither premiums to Subscribers, nor discount to Clubs, nor reduced prices for back numbers, can be allowed, unless the money is remitted direct to the Publishers. No premiums can be given to Clubs.
