ST. THOMAS W. A.

—The members of Sea View W. A. and St. Stephen's W. A. were delightfully entertained by the members of St. Thomas Women's Auxiliary at the Church Hall, New London, on August 18. Mrs. Horace Meek presided and opened the meeting with the member's prayer, the Lord's Prayer and the hymn, "The Love of Christ Constraineth." The 18th chapter of St. John was read responsively.

The hymn, "Have Thine own Way, Lord," was pleasingly sung as a duet by Brenda Ridgeon and Laura Jollymore. An interesting Quis on Women of the Bible was conducted by Mrs. Bruce Adams, and a reading in the form of a prayer was given by Mrs. Isaac Jollymore. Two contests, "Trees of the Bible" and one of the "complete the verse" type on Bible personalities were interesting.

The speaker of the evening was the rector, the Rev. W. Eric Ingraham, who allowed the members to view the new private Communion service, and gave a detailed account of the duties of an Altar Guild, an organization needed in the churches of New London Parish.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Ingraham named the altar furnishings and told the purpose of each. In reference to caring for the house of God, he said, "We should do what we would do in our own homes," in caring for and providing proper places for the storing of the precious things used in the church.

The visitors were welcomed by Mrs. Meek and delicious refreshments were served by members of St. Thomas W. A.

Seeks Control Of Montgomery Ward

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis E. Wolfson, a new and spectacular figure on the American business scene, said Thursday he would seek to gain control of Montgomery Ward, and Co. billion-dollar-a-year Chicago mail order firm.

The one time Florida junk dealer, who now heads companies with $200,000,000 in assets, made the announcement at a press conference in a Baltimore hotel. He said he will challenge the leadership of 80-year-old Sewall L. Avery, tough uncompromising chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward.

"We believe we now hold the largest block of shares in the company," said the 42-year-old financier.

This set the stage for a proxy fight to win stockholders to his side for a showdown at the annual Ward meeting in Chicago in April, 1955, when three members of the company's nine-man board, including Avery come up for re-election.

TORONTO (CP)—Three-year-old Michael Hamilton was rushed to hospital after being almost strangled by a dog chain Monday. Neighbors said the child was playing with a dog when the chain wrapped around his neck. They believe he was dragged along the ground by the dog.
