THE GOLDEN GATE

There is a golden gate beyond
Through which our loved ones go
To find that perfect love and peace
Which earth can never know.
And sometime, too, the clouds shall lift.
For us who watch and wait.
When loved ones meet to part no more
Inside that golden gate.

Ever remembered by daughter Pearl.

GRAHAM — In loving memory of our dear sisters, Mrs. Bexey Graham. who was killed on Nov. 12th. 1961.

If we had all the world to give
We'd give it, yes and more

And greet you at the door
But all we can do dear sister
Is go and tend your grave
And leave behind tokens of love
To the best sister God ever made.

Ever remembered by sisters, Katherine. Helen. Harriet, Cephena, brothers Brent, Albert.

BENJAMIN C. WOOLNER

The death occurred on September 18 of Benjamin C. Woolner of North Rustico at the age of 86 years. Mr. Woolner, who was the son of Frederic and Eliza MacNeill Wooner, was born in North Rustico. As a young boy he went with his family to California, where he remained for a number of years, returning at the age of 21 to take up farming at North Rustico.

Mr. Wooner was the first man to drive a motor truck on Prince Edward Island, beginning a trucking business in 1917 which he carried on for many years. With his cheerful and likeable personality, he became well and favourably known.

Gifted with a love of music and an excellent singing voice, he took an active part in the work of his church and gave wholehearted support to all progressive community activities. His greatest happiness, however, lay in his home and family.

His memory will be cherished by his wife Ella, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Brown of New Glasgow, and three sons and four daughters. They are Dr. Stewart of Bon Ilsland, Alberta; Arthur of Brantford, Ontario; Dr. Lewis of the staff of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota; Evelyn and Helen of Ottawa; Margaret, (Mrs. A. E. Bullen) of New Liskeard, Ontario; and Miriam, (Mrs. B. Mozer) of Long Island, New York. One son, Bruce, died in 1919. There are 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He will also be remembered with affection by a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral service was held on September 20 from the North Rustico United Church, of which Mr. Woolner had been a faithful attendant and where he had sung in the choir for over fifty years. The affectionate regard of his friends and neighbours was shown by the large number who came to pay their last respects. Rev. Morley P. Bentley, who conducted the service, gave a comforting address, emphasizing that death was the gateway to a fuller life in the Home prepared for those who love God. The hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me." A favourite hymn of the deceased, "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling," was rendered by the choir.

The pallbearers were James L. LePage, Revel LePage, Lorne Houston, Wesley Smith, Roland Buntain and W. L. Toombs. Interment was in Cavendish cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

SIMONS — In loving memory of Alfred Simons, who passed away November 13th. 1961.

A leaf in memory's garden,
Is gently turned today.
Ever remembered by his sister-in-law Mrs. John H. Simons, and niece, M. Elizabeth Carr.

JAY — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Lemuel E. Jay, who passed away November 13th. 1960.

Yet again we hope to meet him
When the days of life have fled
And in Heaven with joy to greet him
Where no farewell tears are shed
Not until each loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly,
Will God unroll the pattern
And explain the reason why.

Always remembered by his wife and family.

Canadian Aircraft Company Finds Sales Problem Tough

MONTREAL (CP)—The difficulty of capturing a share of the world market for aircraft is being felt by Canadair Limited, one of Canada's leading producers of airplanes.

The company, also manufacturer of fighter planes for the RCAF and North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries, is having trouble finding buyers for its CL-44 transport plane an aircraft the company and many others thought would be a good seller.

Only 33 of the planes have been sold in the last two years, 12 of them to the RCAF. The remaining 21 were sold to private companies in the United States which have been high in their praise of the aircraft.

Eight of the big planes, financed jointly by the Canadian government and Canadair and all ready to be flown away by anyone who wants them, remain unsold.

Employees of the company are worried. The International Association of Machinists (CLC) has sent a delegation to Ottawa to urge the federal government to help finance more CL-44s and to give special grants for other Canadair projects to keep production lines rolling.

EMPLOYMENT DOWN

Employment, well over 10,000 at peak periods, is down to 7,500 and men with as much as 10 years seniority are next in line for layoffs. said one Canadair source.

The largest single owner of the four - engined turbine - propellor plane is the Flying Tiger Line which owns 10. Robert W. Prescott, president of the line. said in a recent report:

"We started full operation of this fleet of CL-44s in the second quarter of this year.

"Our pre-tax net profit for this period has averaged $600,000 a month, or at a rate of $7,200,000 a year. This compares to the previous year of a loss at $1.500 a month, or a loss of $19,000 a year."

He said he believes the CL-44 will be the best plane in the air cargo field for 15 to 20 years.

USERS PROFIT

Seaboard World Airways, which now owns seven CL-44s, reported a profit of $120,083 for the quarter ended June 30 this year. This compared with a loss of $1,126,162 for the corresponding quarter of 1961.

Slick Airways which ordered two planes originally, doubled this order to four.

In the light of such praise, why aren't the planes selling? Trans-Canada Air Lines declined to buy any on grounds that the plane would not be able to compete successfully on any route where there is jet competition. TCA said the aircraft is not suitable for a line whose primary business is carrying passengers. Sales, it said, have been made to "all-freight" operators.

The United States Air Force declined to buy CL-44s on the grounds that better planes could be built. But Flying Tiger reported that 60 per cent of its business is cargo carried for military air transport service.

LEASES SPACE

Lufthansa, the German airline, looked over the CL-44 but didn't buy. However, it leases 10 tons of space six times a week on a Seaboard World CL-44 to carry freight between New York and Europe in Lufthansa's name.

"There is no present aircraft in production or on the drawing boards that will match the performance costs of the CL-44 for our operation," says Mr. Prescott.

Canadair is pointing to this and other statements in its efforts to find new customers.

WOLF BOUNTY

Ontario's annual wolf bounty payments average $50,000 but the number of wolves has not lessened.

Airman Injured By Horned Owl

MONTREAL (CP) — Airman Melvin O. Hill, 48, of Ottawa was airlifted to RCAF hospital at nearby St. Hubert for observation after surviving a vicious attack by a huge horned owl at a radar site near Septiles, Que.

Hill, a warrant officer second class stationed at the Pine Tree radar line base at Moisie, was one of three persons attacked by the owl in the last week. The other victims were a civilian worker on the base and a 12-year-old boy, but they received only a bad scare.

The owl was shot down Thursday by an RCAF hunting party. It had a wing span of five feet.

Officials at Moisie said the bird had been terrorizing the area for several weeks. They could give no explanation for the attacks.

Hill said he was leaving a building on the base about 8 p.m. last Tuesday when the owl suddenly pounced on him.

It sank its talons and beak into his face and throat, missing his jugular vein by a scant two inches. He was knocked to his knees in the struggle.
