AMERICAN KILLED IN RAID CRITICAL OF VIETNAMESE

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP)—"My four-day operation was uneventful and maddening, working with the popular forces. They are the dumbest, laziest, weakest, unpatriotic I have ever seen."

Capt. Carlton J. Holland, 36, made that comment in a letter to his wife—a letter that arrived at their Junction City home on the same day his wife was notified he was killed in South Viet Nam.

"The rangers are good and the commander did everything I wanted, but time and the mission were devoted to waiting for the popular forces and going after them when they got lost.

"Well, they got paid the day we got back and now they have 30 deserters—that leaves 46 in the company."

Holland, in the service 18 years, was among three U.S. Army advisors listed as killed when Viet Cong forces overran the town of Duc Phong in South Viet Nam three days ago. A fourth American is missing.

TRANSFER ORDERED

Holland's letter, which arrived Wednesday, also brought the news that he had received orders for transfer to Fort Bragg, N.C., in April and that he would get a 45-day leave before reporting to his new post.

In his letter Holland expressed the wish that he "could take some of these soldiers and just live in the hills and train them myself.

The captain told of difficulties he encountered in the field.

"I had some Saigon brass out here on the 3rd of February. I get a kick out of some of their forms and questions; do I keep a mess fund, who does the laundry, how is the filing system, any complaint on the movies, can we send you a hi-fi set?

"I just laugh at them; my bath, laundry and drinking water are in that creek; filing system in my pockets; no large mess bill on dried fish and rice; the movies and hi-fi—I'm lucky to get power for a flashlight.

CAN TAKE HILL

"Can I defend this hill? I said 'see all that barbed wire around this hill. That is to keep the soldiers on the hill, more than to keep the Viet Cong off.' I defend this hill with 53 men. The Viet Cong can take it with 300 men and 60 rounds of mortar. They have 500 Viet Cong and 150 rounds of mortar. I have one 60 mm mortar and two machine-guns and 23 sandbags and 40 rounds of mortar."

Holland said he was writing "with candlelight but the wind is going to blow it out."

"The rats are very bad tonight and I keep coughing up this stuff in my lungs. These damned rats. I have to keep my feet up, they are running across them."

Pearson Hint Is Seen More Cabinet Changes

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

OTTAWA (CP) — Cabinet changes announced last week by Prime Minister Pearson — one new minister and three portfolio changes—fell far short of fulfilling recent speculation that major shifts would occur before the parliamentary session resumes Tuesday.

But, in announcing the changes, Mr. Pearson seemed to hint more are to come.

In an apparent reference to the Dorion inquiry, he spoke of a situation that "prompted me to delay" cabinet changes he might wish to make. But the resignation of Works Minister Deschatelets made immediate action necessary.

The Dorion inquiry into accusations of influence peddling and attempted bribery against ministerial aides may last another two weeks, possibly more. There is no indication as to when Chief Justice Frederic Dorion will submit his findings to the government.

Political observers look on appointment of Jack Nicholson as minister of immigration as probably the most significant of Friday's changes.

NATIVE OF N.B.

He is a no-nonsense administrator for whom politics is a third major career. The native of New Brunswick practised law at Vancouver from 1924 to 1941 until the Second World War thrust him into a business career. During the war he was deputy controller of supplies for the federal department of munitions and supply.

The portfolio of citizenship and immigration ranks as one of the most sensitive in the government. Certainly, over many years it has produced more than its share of political controversy.

Mr. Nicholson, 63, will be the third minister to preside over its affairs in the less than two years that the Pearson government has been in office. The first was Guy Favreau, 47, now justice minister, the second Rene Tremblay, 42, who now replaces Mr. Nicholson as postmaster-general.

All told, the department has had five ministers since 1960.

Appointment of Lucien Cardin, 45, as minister of public works to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Jean-Paul Deschatelets, 52, is looked on as a move up for the 45-year-old Sorel lawyer who has been associate defence minister since the Pearson government was formed.

In defence, Mr. Cardin is reputed to have shown considerable talent as an administrator with a good grasp of detail.

A POPULAR MEMBER

The new associate defence minister, Leo Cadieux, 56-year-old MP for Terrebonne, is said to be one of the most popular members of the Liberal caucus. Associates say he represents middle ground among Quebec Liberals, linked neither to the so-called old guard nor the younger, new wing.

Mr. Tremblay is a new-wing Quebec Liberal, solidly identified with the forces behind Premier Jean Lesage in the ousting of the Union Nationale from power in the province.

An intellectual and an economist, Mr. Tremblay entered the Pearson cabinet in 1963 as minister without portfolio. He was slated to become Eastern minister of agriculture under the Liberal plan—never put into effect—of having Eastern and Western ministers for the portfolio. He moved to immigration a year ago when Mr. Favreau became justice minister.

Opening lead—jack of spades.

It happened at a mixed pair tournament a few summers ago. When we got to the table the man was expostulating widly about what his wife should have done on the preceding hand instead of what she did do.

He drew no response. The lady just sat there quietly taking it all in. This served only to irritate the man more. Finally, in a sweeping gesture, the man grabbed a score card and printed something on it in large letters. He reached over and placed the card in front of his partner. It had one word on it: THINK.

No greetings were exchanged as we started to play. The man (South) bid a heart, the lady broke silence by bidding three hearts, and South bid four.

West opened the jack, of spades, dummy played low, I played the king, and declarer won with the ace. A trump was led, my partner took the ace, and returned the ten of spades.

Dummy's queen was played and I ruffed. Declarer later lost two more spade tricks and went down one.

The man could find no flaws in his partner's bidding, so he began to complain about his bad luck in the play. In the meantime, the lady had had a chance to examine his hand. And now she did an amazing thing.

Without uttering a word, she took the card he had placed before her and put it in front of him. All it said was: THINK.

The lady was right, of course. The man should have allowed the king of spades to win the opening lead. The king was obviously a singleton, to win the first trick subjected the queen to a subsequent ruff and defeat. Ducking the king would assure declarer of two spade tricks and the contract.

When West got in later with a trump, he could lead his ten of spades in the same way, but declarer would duck in dummy and thus make the contract.

The man didn't follow his own suggestion: THINK!

Steel Ingots Output Higher

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian production of steel ingots in the week ended Feb. 13 increased 1.6 per cent to 183,922 tons from 180,937 in the preceding week, the bureau of statistics has reported.

Output in the corresponding 1964 period was 169,173 tons. The index of production, based on the average weekly output during 1957-59 of 96,108 tons equalling 100, and 191 in the current week as compared with 188 a week earlier and 176 a year ago.

Japanese Unite With Canadians To Develop Mine

TOKYO (AP)—Four Japanese and two Canadian companies have signed a formal 10-year contract to jointly operate a copper mine on Copper Island in the middle of Babine Lake, about 450 miles north northwest of Vancouver, Sumitomo Shoji Trading Company reported here.

Sumitomo said the other Japanese firms are Sumitomi Metal Mining, Mitsubishi Metal Mining and Mitsubishi Shojo Trading Co. and the Canadian firms are Granisle Copper Mining and Granby Mining Co.

Deposits at the copper mine are estimated to be 23,000,000 tons, Sumitomo said. The mine is scheduled to start operating in 1967.

Sumitomo said the Japanese companies agreed to put up 2,520,000,000 yen ($7,000,000 of the $11,000,000 in funds required.
