

THE DAILY EXAMINER. OCTOBER 5, 1889.

Our Exhibitions.

The success of our Exhibitions this year was undoubtedly due, in great part, to the fine weather and the facilities for travel afforded by the P. E. Island Railway.

They are over, it may be well to consider some of the benefits resulting from them. Certainly they were of little value to the few (yet all too many) who came to our county towns to get drunk.

But for the "great majority" they were beneficial in more ways than can be told. Look, for instance, at the exhibits of fruit. They have demonstrated, that which was denied only a few years ago, that our farmers can produce fruit of the very finest quality.

Many farmers, seeing this fruit, must have been inspired with a strong desire and ambition to produce fruit of the same kinds and quality. How shall they set about it? They must first find out the methods employed by those who produced the fruit.

This could be done, first of all, by personal enquiry of the leading exhibitors, and of those who, like William Brown, Esq., of this city, make a specialty of fruit culture. Specialists and hobbyists are generally the men most valuable to the community at large, and for these opportunities is offered by the exhibitions to show the results of their efforts.

Specialists and hobbyists are generally the men most valuable to the community at large, and for these opportunities is offered by the exhibitions to show the results of their efforts, to make apparent the truth and practicability of their theories, to do what they can to benefit their fellow-men.

Mr. Brown has been enabled to perform a service of incalculable value to this province. We shall soon have orchards, producing excellent fruit, on almost every farm. Almost every farmer will, ere long, rest under his own apple or pear tree and enjoy the fruit of his own labors; and, instead of importing large quantities of apples and pears, we shall export them.

What is true as to the benefits of the exhibitions in respect to fruit, is true in respect to roots, vegetables, grains and live stock. A farmer desires to improve his grain, potatoes, horses, cattle, sheep or pigs; he goes to the exhibition; he sees and compares the various articles or animals on exhibition; he finds out who has that which best suits his taste; where he can procure the means of improving his products according to his wish; where he can purchase the foal or calf, or a sample of the root or cereal which suits his taste, and he begins the work of improvement at his earliest convenience.

Not must we forget the services rendered by our Lieutenant-Governor in the delivery of practical, suggestive and encouraging speeches; nor the benefits conferred by men who, like the Hon. R. P. Haythorne, make the exhibitions occasions for the preparation of thoughtful essays respecting the history, condition and prospects of agriculture in the Province; nor the advantages which spring from having the prize lists published in the newspapers and discussed at every fireside. Then, the converse of man with man—the rubbing of shoulders—which is promoted by these annual exhibitions—is as the Lieutenant-Governor has pointed out—to be reckoned as of incalculable value when our exhibitions are considered from the social point of view.

The conditions which make our exhibitions worth having are, (1) that the best products of the farm be exhibited in sufficient numbers and quantities to make comparison profitable; (2) that large numbers of thoughtful, progressive farmers from all parts of the country, come to see them. The second of these conditions is invariably present; the first has not always been obtained. There was not, for instance, a fair representation of the cattle of Prince George County at the exhibition lately held at Summerside.

In Memoriam.

PROFESSOR LEPAGE, PRINCE OF WALES COLLEGE, CHARLOTTETOWN.

Oh, bright and glorious morn! Oh, dark and doleful noon! Earth's shadows gather soon Where brightest hope is born.

Not as the leaflets fall, Seared with decay of time; Thy fair young manhood's prime Is shrouded in the pall.

From gifted sire to son The rays of genius fell; Thy work,—let ages tell; True work, and truly done.

Thine was no latent power! In narrow soul combined! Thine to exalt the mind! Thine to extend the hour.

Unstained with wrongs of life, Replete with filial love, Friend whom no storm could move, Brave heart, who feared no strife.

Amid the beauteous flowers We lay thy form to rest; Fair spirit, crowned and blest In amaranthine bowers.

Teachers' Association.

FRIDAY—AFTERNOON SESSION. A very excellent paper on "Chemistry" was read by Mr. McLeod, of Summerside. The paper was exemplified by illustrations on the blackboard.

A splendid paper on the "Kindergarten System," written by Mrs. Condon, of Halifax, was read by Miss McKinlay. Mrs. Condon was unable to be present at the meeting, and forwarded her paper to the President to be read before the Association. She was tendered a vote of thanks.

A committee of five was appointed to begin the nucleus of a professional library for the teachers, and the sum of $100 was voted for that purpose. The committee consists of D. Montgomery, J. McSwain, J. D. Seaman, Miss Barr and Miss McKinlay. The committee were also authorized to make the necessary provision for the preservation and circulation of the books.

The officers elected for the year are,— President—John Arbuckle, Summerside. Vice-Presidents—D. J. McLeod, Charlottetown, and Ewen Stewart, Georgetown.

Secretary—John P. Wickham, Charlottetown. And an executive committee of five. Meeting adjourned.

The Philharmonic Society.

We are pleased to hear that the Philharmonic Society is to commence work again next Tuesday evening. The coming autumn months will be the most useful portion of the year for developing the vocal powers of the members, as the other societies of the city will probably not commence work until later in the season. There will be nothing to interfere with the Philharmonic practices for some months to come, during which time they will have grown so pleasant for the members in their tastefully-arranged and comfortably-heated hall, that nothing in the way of entertainments or other social gatherings will be able to induce them to irregularity in attendance. Tuesday evening of each week has been chosen for the Society meetings during the winter, and it may be hoped that all other societies or churches whose members may belong to the Philharmonic will look upon Tuesday evenings with a sort of old Scottish "substituted respect," and allow them to be sacred to the musical development of our citizens; for it may possibly be worse for the other societies and churches if they do not do so. The Society made such a favorable commencement during last spring, and the members are now so enthusiastic about its continuance, that we may safely predict for it a successful season and several well attended concerts.

Personal.

A reverend Jones returned from Ontario last evening. Mr. Sam. T. Austin, of Macfarlane, Austin and Robertson, Montreal, is making his fall business trip to the Island.

The Prince of Wales intends making a tour of Egypt for the royal wedding at Athens. The death is announced at Hotel Dieux, of Joseph, Buppat, the oldest printer in the Dominion, aged 89.

Mr. M. McDonald, of B. S. Davies & Co's. merchant tailoring establishment, is at his post again after a few days illness.

Lord Melgund, who used to be in Canada as the military secretary of Lord Lansdowne, and made many friends while in this country, has been made brigadier-general of the South of Scotland Volunteer Infantry Brigade.

Not so much is heard nowadays of Empress Eugenie, the lonely survivor of the pomp and vanity of the second Empire. Since the death of her son, the Prince Imperial, in South Africa, the ex-Empress has borne her sorrow in strict seclusion. She has been visiting lately in Scotland the Baroness Nairn, the mother of the Marquis of Lansdowne, and has gone to stay at Balmoral with the Queen. An English correspondent says: "A friend of mine, who has recently had an interview with the Empress, informs me that she is looking very well but much aged. Her hair is now completely white, and she has very heavy lines under the eyes. Still it is impossible not to recognize her, even at a little distance, on account of the exceptional elegance of her figure and walk." When in Malvern recently Her Majesty was so quietly dressed that she was quite unrecognized by the townspeople. My friend, who took her over the abbey, tells me that he was surprised at the excellence of her English, which the lady who with her did not speak, so the Empress acted as interpreter. She said that she had seen nothing to surpass in beauty the views from the Malvern hills, and that she enjoyed the dry atmosphere, which reminded her not a little of that of the Pyrennes."

Mr. J. B. Coulson, teacher, left for Boston via Point du Chene and St. John on the 3rd inst. He will spend his vacation visiting the principal cities in the New England States.

Mr. Albert D. Nelson, a member of the firm of H. A. Nelson & Sons, Montreal is visiting the city.

Clayola Sold.

CLAYOLA SOLD.—We learn from an exchange that Mr. J. L. Cox, of Canning, N. S., has sold his bay mare Clayola, 4 years, by Allie Clay, to W. Ashe, of Lyman, Mass. The reported price is $700. Clayola is well known throughout the Province. She trotted at Summerside last autumn.

Supreme Court—Prince County.

SUMMERSIDE, Oct. 3. Fidele White vs. Frederick A. Ashley and another. Action of trespass—finished to-day. Verdict for plaintiff for $70. McLean for plaintiff; Warburton and Bell for defendants.

The Queen vs. William Landrigan. Convicted for attempt to rape. Attorney General for Crown; McQuarrie for defence. Fidele White vs. James Wallace and another. Action of trespass. Verdict for $10 without costs. McLean for plaintiff; Warburton for defendants.

Frederick A. Ashley vs. Fidele White and another. Action of trespass. Plaintiff's counsel withdraws the record. Warburton for plaintiff; McLean for defendant.

Robert Arsenaux, appellant, vs. Frederick B. Ashley. Respondent appeals from conviction of R. B. Reid. Settled between the parties. McLean for appellant; Warburton for respondent.

The Queen vs. Antoine Arsenaux. Prosecution for forgery. Prisoner defended himself. Verdict "Not Guilty."

BALDNESS is says a scientist. Its catching flies in summer time. Use Hall's Hair Renewer and cover the bald place with healthy hair and flies won't trouble.

The State workmen in the stricken Johnstown district have quit work for good, and 1,000 men have been paid off.

It is astonishing how rapidly the feeble and debilitated gain strength and vigor when taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For what are called "broken-down constitutions," nothing else proved so effective as this powerful but perfectly safe medicine.
