Tomorrow's Promise

By Temple Bailey

Continued And that had seemed to settle it. Vicky would have one of her young-sisters take Anne's place in the school. And in June they would all be together. They must look forward to that.

"If you would only go with us, Vicky," Anne had pleaded. Vicky had said quietly, but with decision: "My people need me at home."

On Christmas eve Garry dined with them, and Betty Lanvale and her young husband, and a few others. Francis had insisted on it. "You've been shut up too long, Anne."

Garry brought Anne a pair of silver buckles set with aquamarines and brilliants. "For your little slippers," he said. "And I want you to have a satin gown to match the stones—and a velvet cape lined with silver."

"Garry, I should feel gorgeous. I've been living the simple life. That's all right for a time, but you belong to a different atmosphere. I'd like you with a crown on your head and a golden scepter."

"Don't be silly, Garry." She laughed and turned away from him. Crown and scepter and satin gowns? Charles would have loved her best in a knitted frock and old tan shoes, with her hair blowing, shut close on his island. Shut close in his heart.

She was very happy, for another present had come to her that morning—a tiny ivory box, old and yellow and exquisitely carved. There had been no name, but the postmark was that a remote settlement on the Nile, so Anne had known. And the knowledge had made her world glow and sparkle as if life were set with diamonds. She had told no one about the box. Not even Vicky. She felt that was a secret between herself and the man who loved her. It was her treasure and his, that secret, and no one was harmed by it.

It was in mid-January that Anne went South with her father. She wrote back to Vicky: "Oranges and flame vines; bright gold everywhere, and the waves of pale purple. Everybody is taking sun baths. Daddy and I have an adorable cottage, with palms about us like the pillars of a temple. We know a lot of people here. I spend the mornings with Daddy and the afternoons, while he has his nap, with the young crowd at the Casino. And at night after Daddy is asleep I go to dances."

"Garry is down, and we are very gay and splendid. My gowns are beautiful, and I wish you could see me in them. Everybody raves about the aquamarine sash that I bought to match Garry's buckles. My complexion is taking on a most marvelous suntan to set off my white sports dresses, and I am by way of being a great success, though I say it who shouldn't. But I'm not spoiled, Vicky, so you needn't worry. I miss my school and I miss the children, and you mustn't think I'm forgetting. Some day I am coming back to you and to my island."

Vicky, reading the letter, wondered. Would Anne ever come back?

Mt. Stewart and Vicinity

Mr. Sheldon Jay, Montague, was a visitor to his home in Mt. Stewart on Sunday.

Mr. David Jay was a recent visitor to the home of her parents in New Zealand.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Coffin and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jay.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny McQuaid of Vernon were visitors to Mt. Stewart on Sunday.

Mr. Sterling Pigott left the latter part of last week to spend the winter in Boston with relatives.

Mr. Winston Birt, Manager of Clark Bros. St. Peters Bay was a visitor to Mt. Stewart Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Glover, Charlottetown spent Sunday visiting Mr. Glover's mother, Mrs. Clark, Mt. Stewart.

Mrs. Cyrene McIntyre has returned to her home in Mt. Stewart having spent the past six weeks in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Smallwood of Borden were recent visitors to Mr. Smallwood's mother in Mt. Stewart.

Mr. Stanley Glover of Dredge No 115 of Souris has returned to his home in Mt. Stewart for the winter months.

Mr. Leigh Coffin has returned home having spent the past month visiting friends and relatives in Boston, Mass.

Miss Lottie McDougall, Mt. Stewart who is employed at the MacDonald and Rowe Woodworking Co. Charlottetown was a week-end visitor to her home here.

Miss Mary Lou MacDonald has arrived home for the Christmas season to spend it with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Urban MacDonald.

The many friends of little Miss Jean Ross, daughter of Mrs. Rita Ross will be glad to know that she is improving after her serious operation in the City Hospital and is expected home soon.

The many friends of Mr. Thomas Smith will be sorry to hear that he has entered the City Hospital for treatment and all wish for his good recovery.

Visitors to the City on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Roby Birt and family, Mrs. Leith Affleck and family, Mrs. Oliver Smith, Mrs. Algen Birt, Mrs. James Leard, and Mrs. A. D. Feehan.

A very impressive Candle Light service was held in St. John's United Church, Mt. Stewart on Sunday evening under the guidance of the Rev. W. T. Mercer. A large crowd was in attendance.

Much credit is due the post mistress Mrs. Bertrum MacDonald who at this Christmas season handled a very large volume of mail for local delivery as well as for four rural carriers who make their rounds in rain, snow or sunshine.

Owing to the sudden storm on Monday night the electricity failed in Mt. Stewart about 10 p.m. and it was 5 P.M. on Tuesday before lines were put in operation again. This left a lot of citizens without light and heat for about 15 hours, as well as a short water supply, as many depend on the electric motors for their water supply. Those with the hand pump were more fortunate and shared it with their neighbors who were running with kettles, pots and pans for water. The telephone lines were also down but motor traffic was not tied up at any time although car owners reported a very heavy road on account of the wet snow.

The accused pleaded guilty and was fined $18.00 and costs of $19.50. Restitution of the $10.00 damage was also made. In default to serve one month in jail.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN McLEAN GRAHAM God does all things well. The Angel of Death visited Murray North on Nov. 24, 1950 as the shades of evening were falling his spirit winged its flight to realms of joy and peace. Deceased had reached the age of 82 years and 10 months. He was a son of the late John B. Graham and Phoebe (Hicken) Graham. Although in failing health for the past two years he was able to be around until two weeks previous to his death. His wife, nee Mary Senebaugh, survives also two children (Lois) Mrs. Percy Hicken, Sturgeon and Wilbert Graham, Gaspereaux and one grandchild, Garfield Graham. He was tenderly cared for in his last illness by his wife, son and daughter, also a devoted daughter-in-law with relatives and friends, who were always at his bedside to minister to his comfort. Deceased was a worthy citizen and a good neighbour, ever ready to give a helping hand to all. Also left to mourn his death is one brother Stephen G. Graham, Maiden, Mass., three sisters, (Mary, Janet) Mrs. Hart Senebaugh, Oak Valley, (Carrie) widow of the late John Johnston, Peter's Road, (Jessie) Mrs. William Senebaugh, Murray Harbour North and a large number of nephews and nieces. He was a member of the Masonic Order for fifty two years, the oldest member of the Lodge. The funeral which was largely attended was held on Monday, Nov. 21, Rev. Mr. Young officiating. There was a short service at the house then from Murray Harbour North Church. Rev. Mr. Young based his discourse on the text, in my father's house are many mansions, bringing comfort to his sorrowing ones. Hymns sung were, The Lord Is My Shepherd, Asleep in Jesus, Haven of Rest. By request, while the congregation viewed the remains the choir sang Rock of Ages, a favorite of the deceased. Burial service in the new cemetery at Murray Harbour North was under the order of his brother Masons with Past Grand Master Mr. Douglas Gordon of Rosemeath in charge, where all that was mortal of a worthy citizen was laid to rest to await a glorious resurrection. The pall bearers were, James and George Graham and Rowan Senebaugh, nephews, Wendell Graham, Benjamin Henderson and Mark Jackson, friends and neighbors. Funeral director Mr. Lowrey of Montague.

Card Of Thanks

Mrs. John McLean Graham and family wishes to express their sincere thanks to the Minister and doctor and all kind friends and neighbors who helped in all ways in their recent sad bereavement. Also all who remembered them with letters and cards of sympathy.

Farquharson-Kennedy Wedding

St. George's United Church, effective with standards of flowers, and tall lighted pink candles, was the setting for the marriage of Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen Kennedy, to Mr. John Ernest Farquharson, son of Mrs. Farquharson and the late Percy Alfred Farquharson, Toronto and Prince Edward Island. Rev. Dr. Willard J. Brewling officiated at the evening ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a handsome gown of ivory velvet, with shoul-der necklace draped into a Queen Anne collar, and long sleeves. The skirt ended in a sweeping train. Her long veil, with heirloom lace panel, was held with a cap, and her flowers were Joanna Hill roses, pink chrysanthemums, forget-me-nots and myrtle. Mrs. S. A. M. Robertson was matron of honor, and Miss Shyrille Hambleton and Miss Janet Ferguson were bridesmaids. With their full-skirted strapless dresses of deep pink tissue faille, they wore matching jackets and mittens, and feather headresses. All carried pink roses and chrysanthemums with myrtle. The best man was Mr. W. Ostvik, and the ushers were FO William Cunningham, Trenton; Sqdn-Ldr. J. F. M. Bell, London; Mr. George Farquharson, Toronto. The reception was held at Prince Arthur House. The bride and groom will live in Toronto.

Midnight Mass At Montague

As the Christmas bells chimed their message of the birth of Christ, the first Christmas eve midnight mass was celebrated yesterday at St. Mary's Church, Montague, with the pastor, Rev. W. J. McCordie, officiating. Montague having been made a permanent parish this year, this has been the first occasion for the celebration of midnight mass.

Beginning at 11:30 p.m., the choir, under the direction of Mr. William Steele, rendered a half-hour of Christmas carols appropriate to the Yuletide season, and during the service the choir sang the angelic mass with Mr. Eugene Dunn as organ accompanist.

Taking as his text, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will," Rev. Father McCordie brought a message of Christian love and charity to one's fellowman in accordance with the message brought on that first Christmas morn at Bethlehem.

During the communion service the hymns "Adeste Fideles" and "Silent Night" were sung by the choir. At the conclusion of high mass, the benediction of peace was given the congregation by the celebrant.

Montague United Church W.M.S. Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the W. M. S. of the Montague Trinity United Church was held at the manse on Thursday night. The beautiful devotional service, conducted by Mrs. Ethan Stewart, took the form of a candle lighting service. The theme song was "Home and Worship." Mrs. L. A. Johnston was the pianist and Mrs. Douglas Coffin led the carols. Five carols, representing Love, Joy, Light, Peace and Hope were lit, and a carol to suit each candle was sung. Several leaders took the Christmas story, old, but ever new. Prayer by the leader closed this part of the program.

The president, Mrs. Leon Johnston, then took over the business arising from the minutes which was discussed extensively. It was decided to hold work meetings in the new year when the members will continue to make warm quilts for overseas relief. The financial statement showed that members must make a special effort, and send in a little extra so that the allocation may be reached.

A report of hospital and sick calls showed: hospital calls, 14; sick, 18. 18 cards and 11 treats were sent to sick and shut-ins.
