

Banks To Discuss Loans For House Construction

OTTAWA (CP)—The amount of mortgage money available from chartered banks for house construction this year will be discussed at a meeting this week between the chartered banks and the Bank of Canada.

Indications are that the chartered banks will say they are prepared to increase their mortgage loans insured under the National Housing Act. Since the chartered banks entered this field three years ago, their insured loans to house builders have totalled almost $500,000,000.

Works Minister Winters who heads the government's housing program said in an interview Saturday he has had indications that the chartered banks are prepared to make more money available as a result of the government's increase in the interest ceiling on insured loans. The maximum rate was boosted to six per cent from 5½ on Jan. 21.

Last year the chartered banks invested about $112,000,000 in insured mortgages to increase their investment to about $493,000,000 from $281,000,000 in 1955. In 1954, the first year they were permitted into this field of investment, they invested some $75,000,000.

EXPECTED DROP

When he announced the ceiling increase, Mr. Winters said he expected some house construction to be below the record 139,000 completions of 1956 but completions would be "at least 100,000—better than record."

The record construction pace evident most of last year slowed in the first two months this year. January starts were less than half the 4,000 starts a year earlier.

But the decline in house building was evident even earlier. In December mortgages insured under the NHA were only one-quarter the 2,317 of December, 1955. This trend continued in January.

However, Mr. Winters said the picture is likely to improve within the next six weeks as constructors and mortgagors for their summer building program. Stewart Bates, president of the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which insured the mortgages of the chartered banks, also said he expects an improvement.

Last year insurance companies invested more than $478,600,000 in all types of mortgage loans, including those under the NHA. This was a $37,300,000 increase over the $441,300,000 investment the previous year.

Borden Railway Freight Traffic For February

A decrease of 376 carloads exported from the Province in February as compared with that of last year is noted in the recent report of the statement of carloads ferried between Borden and Tormentine by the Island Division Canadian National Railways. A decrease is also noted in the number of carloads imported, with 992 being imported in February of this year as compared with 1096 last year. Total exports this year amounted to 1575.

Heavy Rain, Warm Weather Make Road Travel Difficult

Yesterday's high temperature and warm sunshine, following Saturday's heavy downpour, combined to play havoc with P.E.I.'s snow-fringed highways. The runoff from the fast-melting banks streamed down every hillside, forcing huge ponds in every hollow, and creating water hazards in many low-lying sections of the roads.

Plow crews and highway maintenance men were busy all day in an attempt to drain away the fast-accumulating water.

The situation deteriorated so rapidly yesterday afternoon that the provincial Department of Highways closed all paved roads in the Island to vehicles of more than 6,000 lbs. gross tonnage. However rubber-tired plows are not included in this embargo, stated despatcher William J. Baker. These will be used to cut-back the high hard-packed banks that have been making travel hazardous in many sections of the chief arteries. The department's bulldozers will confine their operations to secondary roads, the highways official stated.

Concerning the progress being made in opening main traffic routes following the recent succession of storms, Mr. Baker declared that all paved roads were open with the exception of a short section between New Glasgow and South Ruston, which he expected would be broken through this morning. In this area a route to Rustico has been established via Oyster Bed Bridge.

Novices Receive Habit Of Sisters Of St. Martha

Six young ladies received the habit of the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Martha at a ceremony in the chapel of St. Dunstan's College on March 9th. Most Reverend M.A. MacEachern, D.D., Bishop of Charlottetown, officiated assisted by Reverend P.F. Macdonald and Reverend E. Roche. Reverend Frederick Cass preached the sermon. The preacher said that this was an occasion of rejoicing in that courageous young souls were offering themselves in the first steps leading to a complete consecration in the service of Christ.

Ushers were Messrs. Alfred Morrison, Wayne and William Power and Basil Gillan. The young women who received the Holy Habit and their religious names are: Miss Vivian Trainor (Sister Mary Bennett); Miss Mary De Courcy (Sister Maria Cordis);

Miss Joan Doyle (Sister Mary Jude); Miss Eleanor Hughes (Sister Mary Edwin); Miss Gertrude Gillan (Sister Teresa Gertrude); Miss Mary Morrison (Sister John Bosco). The habit bearers winfully dressed in floor-length pastel gowns were Misses Adele Greenan, Elaine Mullen, Barbara Doyle, Shirley Hughes, Joan Kenny and Norma Morrison.

At the close of the ceremony the Most Reverend Bishop addressed special words of congratulations to the parents of the new novices; these good fathers and mothers deserve credit for the excellent training they had given their daughters and for their willingness in allowing them to follow Christ's call, said the Bishop.

Many relatives and friends of the young Sisters were present at the ceremony.

Research Program For The Atlantic Provinces

FREDERICTON, N.B.—A two year research program into the basic economic problems of Canada's Atlantic provinces will be undertaken here as the result of a $20,000 grant from the Ford Foundation, New York to the University of New Brunswick.

Dr. Colin B. Mackay, president of this provincial university, announced today that the grant would permit the investigations to be carried out by faculty members and graduate students of this and other universities in the Atlantic region.

"The work will be carried out with the co-operation and collaboration of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, which has already conducted preliminary study into many of this region's problems," Dr. Mackay added.

He said the project would get under way June 1, 1957, and would be completed in 1959.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Research would centre about special problems which are basic to this region's economic development. Dr. Mackay said. Some of the areas to be covered are: growing potential of the pulp and paper industry; economic aspects of mineral production; problems of electric energy; Atlantic manufacturing; measurement of welfare levels in the Atlantic provinces; problems of municipal government and urban planning.

The program will be divided in two parts. During the summer, a research team composed of faculty members from this and other Atlantic universities will work together on their investigations. The other part of the program provides for assistance to honors Graduate students to work toward their Masters' degrees and to conduct research into the specified areas of enquiry.

Three post-graduate fellowships each having a maximum value of $1,500, are being made available at once, Dr. Mackay said. Students from any Atlantic university are eligible for the fellowships.

This summer, a five-man faculty team will begin its research work here. At least two of the five on the team will come from other universities in this region.

Overall guidance for the research project will be provided by the Department of economics and political science, which is headed by Prof. W.Y. Smith. Prof. Hugh F. Whalen will act as secretary of the program. Other department members involved are: Prof. Eugene Grasberg and Prof. A.L. Levine.

Declares British Gov't Is Not Tiptoeing Out Of Europe

PARIS (Reuters)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said here Sunday the British government "has no intention of tiptoeing out of Europe."

Britain plans to cut its European forces in line with her new economic policies, the British prime minister said, and the changes which we are designed to make our forces in Germany at once more effective and less costly in manpower and money."

Macmillan conferred Saturday with French Premier Guy Mollet and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on the subject of the blocked Suez Canal and other world problems.

He spoke at Le Bourget Airport before flying home to London.

He said Britain had "gone on for too long with an army built to the pattern imposed by the last war."

"This is extravagant and inefficient. To be good allies we must be economically strong and have the right pattern of forces to meet our undertakings," he said.

Macmillan also touched on the European defence pact to establish a customs-free trade area between France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg—and the 17-nation free trade area which includes Britain.

"The common market and the free trade area must and will be established without difficulties. Nor will it be possible to devise without much hard work and a real spirit of mutual understanding a form of United Kingdom participation and co-operation. But I am convinced that ways must and will be found to surmount these difficulties."

Macmillan spoke in French. The crowd broke into cheers of "Long Live England" as Macmillan said:

"The value of these talks is to get together with friends, and M. Mollet is a very old friend of mine. The talks were of particular value because he (Mollet) had just come back from Washington and I hope to set out for Bermuda next week."

New York Dogs Are Living Longer But Still Behind Cats

By JOE MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (CP)—Spring is showing its pretty face, the sun is smiling, the crocuses blooming. And there's another sign of spring: The dogs are going around naked again on the sidewalks of New York.

Not all, mind you, but the occasional pooch has been spotted in the altogether. This was mildly shocking to eyes grown accustomed to dogs being clad in everything from woools to mink.

Seldom, it seems, do dogs venture outdoors anymore in winter wearing just dog fur. Dogs are big business. An official of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said living here has a higher standard of living than anywhere else in the world.

POWERFUL FORCE

If dogs could vote they would be a potent political force. New York alone has just counted a record 753,981 licensed dogs, not including those in the city, which has an additional 275,000 wearing tags and probably a total of 400,000 in all. Here is a statistic for those who love the country: It is going to the dogs: Dog food manufacturers report the U.S. has a total of 25,000,000 dogs and they have been increasing four times as fast as the human population.

Prince Of Wales Chorus Will Present "Trial By Jury"

One of the most delightful musical comedies ever written, "Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Trial By Jury,'" is to be presented early in April by the Prince of Wales College Chorus under the direction of Miss E. Lillian MacKenzie, Mus. Bac., F.M.C.M.

The enormous success of last year's production of "The Mikado" has encouraged the group to select another Gilbert and Sullivan opera as its major project. Because "Trial By Jury" is comparatively short, the program will also include several choruses and solos. A fine cast has been assembled and several of the stars of last year's show will be seen in equally memorable roles.

"Trial By Jury" is not only an amusing and entertaining comedy but also a magnificent musical production. Some of Sir Arthur Sullivan's finest music was written for it and the songs and choruses have been popular the world over.

Indeed this was the first work on which Gilbert and Sullivan cooperated and its success made them famous overnight.

"Trial By Jury" is a story of a breach of promise case being heard in court. The plaintiff is an irresistibly beautiful girl, but the defendant has an unanswerable argument for not marrying her. So the judge solves all difficulties by marrying her himself.

Authentic scenery and costumes will be provided again this year by Malabar's, the well known theatrical supply house, and the music and stage directions are arranged through the co-operation of Bridget Doyle Carte. Two pianos and an orchestra will play the musical score.

Because nearly three thousand people saw "The Mikado" last year and hundreds were turned away, this year's performance will be presented on three nights, April 2, 3, and 4.

Halifax Port Schedule Heavy

HALIFAX (CP)—Port facilities will be taxed to capacity—so the next few days with the arrival of about 18 ships, a port official said Saturday.

Harbor master Harold Tuzo said, "We are expecting some ships on Monday for which we haven't got berths."

Most of the traffic will be cargo ships. Only two passenger vessels are expected. The Canada liner Saxonia was scheduled to arrive Saturday to take on passengers bound for Europe and the German liner Seven Seas was due Sunday with 600 persons.

The Canada liner Ivernia from London docked Friday and discharged more than 600 passengers, including 40 Hungarian refugees.

Sings To Fame From Wheelchair

LONDON (AP)—A polio-crippled bachelor with a bubbling sense of humor is singing and talking his way to stardom from a wheelchair. Bearded Michael Flanders, 34 and five-foot-four, was a promising young actor when he joined the Royal Navy early in the war. An attack of polio paralyzed both his legs.

By capitalizing on a talent for original lyrics he used to amuse his friends with at private parties, Flanders is drawing sellout crowds at the Fortune Theatre in the Drury Lane section.

He is teamed with pianist Donald Swann, a composer of revue songs. In a two-hour show that keeps the audience raring, Flanders, who spent six months in an iron lung, finds his success a little hard to believe.

"I forgot all about my career," he said in a backstage interview. "I was too ill to care. I just concentrated on getting well. After that I was simply glad to be alive."

He was invalided from the navy on a £450 ($1,260) annual pension. He found an opening on radio with the BBC. Then his friends told him the lyrics he was writing were actually deserved a wider audience.

With Swann at the piano, Flanders booms his way through a host of numbers that poke fun gently at cherished aspects of domestic and Empire life.

British Auto Industry Goes On To Full Time Once More

By GEOFFREY MILLER
LONDON (AP)—Britain's automobile industry is showing the first signs of getting on its feet again after being knocked sideways by the blocking of the Suez Canal and the gasoline shortage.

Plants that have had their workers on three-day and four-day weeks are putting them on full time again and hiring new men. The industry is retooling which it clamped on after the Suez Canal was blocked. Before rationing, gasoline cost four shillings seven pence (65 cents) an imperial gallon. Now it costs six shillings and a penny (94 cents).

Britain has promised the extra tax would last only as long as rationing, but the government has said nothing on the subject since.

From 5,000 to 200. Meanwhile the government has given no indication whether it will meet the industry's request for cut in purchase tax when the budget is announced next month. At present one-third of the purchase price of a new car goes in tax.

Nor has the government said anything more about wiping out the extra tax on the rationing which it clamped on after the Suez Canal was blocked. Before rationing, gasoline cost four shillings seven pence (65 cents) an imperial gallon. Now it costs six shillings and a penny (94 cents).

Britain has promised the extra tax would last only as long as rationing, but the government has said nothing on the subject since.
