CHRISTIAN FAITH IN CHRISTIAN CONDUCT

Up to Trinity the calendar of the Church brings before the worshipper great phases of Christian faith and story—in particular the Incarnation, Passion, Resurrection and Ascension of Christ, and the giving of the Holy Spirit. All is summed up when the Church responds in worship to God through the Christian revelation.

From then on, for the rest of the Church's year, attention is fixed on the practical working out of Christian faith in daily conduct, on the transformation of character which should follow its acceptance, and on the life of service in which the Christian character—still in the process of transformation—should find expression. This period in the year, the opening of the period of "practical application," may be a suitable time to consider the bearing of worship on life, and life on worship.

Undoubtedly the true Christian view is that all life is worship. Christ was as fully devoted to loving and serving his Father when he was healing the sick or teaching his disciples as when he was praying on the mountain-top. St. Paul said, "Whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God." This thought has gripped the minds of hymn-writers and poets.

Get Quick Relief From CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

"Ever since birth, I was subject to attacks of Chronic Bronchitis," writes Mr. Roy Jarvis, 1026 Dovercourt Rd., Toronto. "I coughed violently and wheezed a great deal. Then I learned about RAZ-MAH—and now I'm happy to say I've found relief."

Not for the lip of praise alone Nor e'en the prattling heart I ask; for for a life made up Of praise in every part.

Its attainment should remain as the ultimate objective of every Christian.

But in this present life, what has been aptly called "the principle of alternation" has to apply. Even Christ had those times when he was consciously engaged upon fellowship with God in prayer. His example has been followed by Christians in every age. Affairs of this world, anxieties growing out of the material environment, in which Christian life has to be lived, crowd in so imperiously that times of conscious and articulate prayer and worship, public and private, are quite essential.

The difference between times of concentrated worship and the general tenor of one's life lies just here. In special acts of prayer the mind is consciously fixed on God and his revelation. Events of the moment are subordinated to what must always be for Christians the supreme event, that of the coming of Christ to the world. In public worship and in private prayer this dominates the thought. But God is seen in Christ to be holy love, and to respond properly to such a revelation involves identifying oneself with this purpose of love. Worship leads on to service. The concentrated hour prepares the way for the consecrated life.

P. W. C. News & Views

The Penny-Parade held on Wednesday and Thursday went over as a big success! Section 2C was the winner by a narrow margin. Teacher Training section B and Section 2B were second and third respectively. The keen interest which was shown by these three proves that if there is lack of college spirit at P.W.C. there certainly isn't any lack of class spirit in some of the second year students. This money will all go towards the Red Cross's current drive for funds.

The last dancing class was to have been held last Tuesday evening but it was so successful that the instructors decided that one more would be held on next Thursday. All types of modern and old-fashioned dances are being taught at these affairs. Earl Nicholson and Joe Murphy are to be congratulated for the time they have spent developing these classes to meet the approval of the students. Next year everyone hopes that they will begin much earlier.

The semi-finals for the second year debating get underway tomorrow when Teacher Training sections hold their debate. The subject for the debate is whether or not Canada and United States should unite as one country. TTA is supporting the pro, while TTB is for the con.

The academic second years are holding their semi-final debate last period Saturday morning. The debate is whether or not the Canadian Government should own and operate all telephone, telegraph, and railway systems in Canada. Defending the pro side is section 2A, an supporting the con will be section 2B.

The winners from these two will conduct their final debate in the College auditorium later on in the term.

The two one-act plays presented by the Teacher Training sections Wednesday evening were greatly enjoyed. Several songs and other entertaining subjects were staged also. The students worked hard and they deserve every bit of credit they received and more.

The end is only two months away. So now the auditorium is being fixed over for convocation, May 30. College will be closing about a week late this year. This is due to the fact that there was an extra week of holidays at Christmas. Speaking of holidays, the Easter holidays begin on Thursday of next week and last until the following Friday. This will be the last breathing spell before the exams which are scheduled to begin on May 17.

All students are instructed to attend a series of lectures on traffic regulations and safe driving. These lectures are being given next week starting on Monday through Thursday. They will be accompanied by films on the same subjects. The students are asked to be seated by 4:20. These lectures are compulsory to all students.

At the Student Council meeting held last Tuesday evening, the plans were laid for the penny parade. Another thing which was discussed was the college jackets for the girls.

The P.W.C. Welshmen basketball team was disastrously defeated by the Airforce hoopers last night. The team has only one more game to play. It is also against the Airforce. The team hasn't done very well in the past year but from the experience the team may gain might lead them on to victory next year.

IN MEMORIAM

A Feature for Every Friday—Among The Farmers Federation Of Agriculture News

Winter Goes Ships and Trade

On the farm April is one of the busiest months of the year, seeing as it does, the roundup of winter operations and preparation for the intensive spring work.

Shipping of produce, hauling and sawing of firewood, cleaning of seed grain, hauling of manure, repairing of machinery, filling of income tax returns, farrowing, lambing, calving are just some of the urgent matters with which the farmer must deal.

The smooth running of spring and summer farm operations depend in no small degree upon the effective use of the month of April.

Agricultural News
We welcome the appearance of the Department of Agriculture news column as a service of value to farm people, and look upon it, not as a competitor, but as a desirable complement in the production field to our own column dealing more directly with problems of organization and questions of general importance.

Readers of the new column will gain a better understanding of the work carried on by our active Department of Agriculture.

Warble Fly Campaign
The warble fly powder will be available for distribution during the coming week. In the meantime, community orders should be sent in as soon as possible so that material will go out promptly when available. A follow-up of each year's treatment should result in a marked reduction of the annoying and costly warble fly pest. Send your orders in now to "Box 99."

Potato Promotion Committee
The potato industry Promotion Committee was appointed by the Government in 1949 following the request of a large number of growers at an annual meeting of the Potato Growers Association, and if our memory is reliable, the same meeting endorsed the principle of a levy on marketed potatoes to finance the work of the Committee.

Three growers, two dealers, and four Departmental officials composed the Committee which we believe has carried out its work satisfactorily and without complaint or criticism being directed towards it.

An amendment to the Act, recently introduced in the Legislature, would double the size of the Committee and give it power to licence potato dealers. We wonder why, if nine members did a satisfactory job, what is to be gained by doubling the number and with dealers already licenced by the Federal Department of Agriculture and the Potato Board, what useful purpose a third licence could accomplish?

Changes of this kind should be made only after the growers have had an opportunity of voicing their opinion and when there is some very evident advantage to be gained for them.

Beef Support
Evidently the Dominion Government has decided to prop up the price of beef provided the provinces will be good children and come out of their respective pens and play together.

There is reason to believe that the provinces acted with more haste than judgment in their restrictions as that the Dominion Government is justified in using floor prices as a whip to straighten the problem out.

Setting of floor prices at present levels which, while much below the past season's peaks, should leave the production of beef a reasonably attractive proposition.

Electoral Reform
We note with interest the intention of the Legislature to set up a committee to examine and report on the question of electoral reform and in particular the points of property voting, dual constituency, and a single franchise vote.

While these may not be the only problems worthy of consideration yet, they will do for a start.

A Red Letter Day
April 28th has been set as a date for commencement of the hearing on the appeal of the decision in the Marketing Board case.

There may be a tendency to look on this court action as being merely a matter of difference between the Potato Board and potato dealers. However, on the validity of Bill 82 hinge many other important marketing questions.

Without Bill 82 it is not possible for the provinces to exercise control in inter-provincial or export trade in any agricultural product.

This case then effects not only potatoes but, also any system of marketing which might be devised for any farm product. Farmers, through their organizations, are in a position to fight and finance a case of this kind and collectively protect their interests.

Hog Premiums
A newspaper announcement indicates that payment of premiums on heavy hogs will be discontinued on April 19th. It will be important for farmers to arrange their shipping program so as not to be caught with hogs that are outside the usual acceptance weights for premiums.

In short, there will be no premiums on A hogs over 170 pounds, and on B hogs over 175 after April 19th.

See New Bid For Big 3 Meeting
MOSCOW, April 2—(Reuters)—Premier Stalin's replies to the queries of 50 United States newspaper and radio editors are interpreted here as a new Soviet bid for a meeting of the Big Three.

The replies, which were handed over to the editors in New York Wednesday on their return from a 30-day tour of Western Europe and the Middle East, make clear

Believe it or not, but Hollywood has a real Santa Claus, who signs his name to good cheques which he sends out to needy persons. The amount of the cheques sent out last Christmas ranged from $20 to $500 and the general public don't know his real name.

Sick pussy saves family's lives. It came about when the cat was taken to a vet.

Loafing For A Living
There has recently come to our desk a pamphlet entitled "Loafing For A Living," and distributed by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. This pamphlet discusses the pros and cons of the various types of cattle barns, stanchions, pens, and loafing.

The pamphlet is an interesting one and we recommend it to the attention in particular of farmers who may be planning to build a new, or remodel an old barn.

To Plant Or Not To Plant
There will likely be some head scratching on the part of a good many farmers when it comes to deciding on potato acreage. Very rarely in the past has a year of extremely high prices been followed by one of good prices and one fact is certain that it will cost more to grow potatoes this year than ever before.

For the farmer who went out of the business entirely last year, it is going to be an expensive business to get back in with seed costing up to $50.00 per acre.

It should be borne in mind that it was not the general reduction in acreage which entirely caused this year's high prices, but the fact that unfavourable growing and weather conditions reduced the yield over all the chief potato growing sections in this part of the continent.
