VOMAN HAS MADE A MAN OUT OF MAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—At last woman has made a man out of man.

The reformation in progress since the beginning of time, now is accomplished, and man—the majority, of course—has reached the height of perfection.

"And woman did it," Mrs. Mary Coleman, attorney and club leader, asserts.

"Twenty years ago man spent his nights at the club; 200 years ago he powdered his nose in public and wore silk panties; 2,000 years ago he cut a woman's head off if he didn't like the part in her hair.

"But today—he comes home, helps wipe the dinner dishes and then goes out and pushes the baby carriage around the block.

"He shaves every day and trims himself neat and trim. Physically and mentally he is the peer of our past generations.

"The change was brought about by woman. She keeps him busy nights now because she is able to discuss business and politics and doesn't have to go to the club. She makes him do some of the shopping and is interested in the care of the home.

"Why, men have nerve enough now to argue with the butcher because there is too much bone in the steak!

"He isn't growing effeminate, he's just found out how to be a man."

Bord's St. Charles or James Milk "with the cream left on" is just pure cow's milk evaporated in the consistency of cream. A purer milk for all cooking.

Britain Devising Breaks For The Arms Parley

LONDON, Oct. 5.—It is very likely that if the Washington Conference does not first take up the Far Eastern question and try to settle that before disarmament is discussed, the British delegation will attempt temporarily to shelve disarmament as far as the plenipotentiaries are concerned through the old question to experts. It is argued here in official quarters that it will be impossible to talk disarmament until the conference has a great mass of data, and in the absence of that information it would be a waste of time to try to discuss the two subjects simultaneously, as recent reports from Washington indicate is the present intention.

Committees of experts were found to be very handy things at the Paris Peace Conference, and since have been used with marvelous regularity by the Supreme Council because, for one reason, it has been found that committees of experts take considerable time to arrive at their conclusions and usually are ready to submit their reports just about the time their principals have cleared the board for them. If the British delegation fails in its efforts to have the conference center on the Far Eastern political questions first, as to which they have not given up hope, a great deal will be heard from a committee of experts.

The real business of getting ready for the conference and conducting the further conversations that Downing street hopes will result in agenda more to Great Britain's liking, but still disowning any attempt unduly to press for points unacceptable to the United States, will begin next week. The cabinet will be very busy with the serious unemployment situation first and with Ireland, but the selection of delegates to Washington is expected to be made soon. Arthur J. Balfour's half-hearted rejection of the suggestion that he should go is not accepted here as final and he probably will be invited by the cabinet.

The entire British delegation probably will be the least ostentatious of any attending the conference in that it will number more than fifty. It was not believed necessary to take a large people, but the number has been gradually whittled down. The lesser lights will leave on a regular steamer the latter part of October, while it now is planned that the plenipotentiaries will leave on a boat arriving only a few days before the conference meets.

How He Solved the Difficulty

The new guard was not familiar with a certain railway run in Wales. Came a station which rejoined in the name of Llanfairfawcargoch. For a few minutes he stood looking at the sign-board in mute helplessness. Then, pointing to the board and waving his other arm toward the carriages, he called: "If there's anybody there for there this is it!"

THE MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—The receipts of butter yesterday were 255 packages, as compared with 256 for the same day last week, and 1,691 for the corresponding date a year ago. The stock of creamery butter in store in Montreal on the first of the month showed an increase of 10,177 packages as compared with the same date for the previous month, and an increase of 21,698 with a year ago, while the stock of dairy butter was 1,508 packages smaller than a month ago, and 957 below a year ago. The exports of butter from here last week show a decrease of 2,644 packages as compared with the previous week, but the total shipments for the season to date are 59,294 larger than the same period in 1920.

There was no actual change in the condition of the market yesterday. The offerings at the auction sale were larger, which met with a good steady demand and the prices realized showed no change as compared with last Friday's. There was no marked improvement in the volume of business in the open market, but the demand was reported steady for fair-sized lots to meet actual wants and sales of finest creamery were made at 37c to 37 1/2c per lb., with some sellers asking as high as 37 3/4c.

We quote wholesale prices for round lots as follows:

Pasteurized creamery... 38c to 38 1/2c
Finest creamery... 37c to 37 1/2c
Fine creamery... 36c to 36 1/2c

The receipts of cheese yesterday were 5,229 boxes, as against 8,013 for the same day last week, and 6,578 for the corresponding date a year ago. The stock of cheese in store in Montreal on the first of the month showed an increase of 9,955 boxes as compared with the same date last month, and an increase of 52,275 with a year ago. The exports of cheese from the port of Montreal last week show a decrease of 3,993 boxes as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 13,430 with the same week last year, while the total shipments for the season to date are 3,532 larger than in the same period in 1920.

The tone of the market was firm at the recent advance in prices noted under a good steady demand from English importers for supplies and, as the prices bid in many instances were in line with exporters' views, a fairly active trade was done and the prospects on the whole for the future are more encouraging, with finest western white and colored quoted on spot at 17 1/2 to 17 3/4c per lb., and finest eastern at 16 1/2 to 17c per lb.

Isle Verte, Que., Oct. 6.—At today's meeting of the dairy board 100 boxes of butter sold to the Dominion Fish Co. at 36 1/2-16c.

MCKINNON-ALLEN NUPTIALS

One of the prettiest church weddings of the autumn season took place Wednesday morning in Zion Church, which was very artistically decorated for the occasion by the Ladies Aid, when Miss Louisa MacKinnon, the popular Lady Superintendent of the Prince Edward Island Hospital and daughter of Mr. Archibald MacKinnon of Brooklyn, P.E.I., became the wife of Mr. William Arthur Allen, son of Capt. J. S. Allen and Mrs. Allen of Summerside. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George C. Taylor, the bride being unattended. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Donald MacKinnon, K. C., of "Sidmouth" looked exceedingly nice in a most becoming travelling suit of tulle, embroidered in brown, with a touch of blue. She carried a bouquet of pale pink roses, which she later distributed among her friends. Miss Suzanne MacKinnon, the little cousin of the bride who was flower girl, was prettily gowned in brown and yellow and carried a basket of nasturtiums. The wedding march was played by Miss Barnes, organist. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Allen motored to Borden, where they crossed by the car ferry on a honeymoon trip to the Annapolis Valley, followed by the heartiest good wishes of a wide circle of friends. There were many handsome and valuable wedding presents, the bride having received remembrances from the nursing staff, the trustees, and the medical staff of the Prince Edward Island Hospital. Among the out of town guests were the groom's parents, Capt. J. S. Allen and Mrs. Allen, also Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Allen, and Dr. H. Allen of Summerside.

WORLD WAS PROBABLE CAUSE OF ACCIDENT.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—Was Sadi Lecointe's smash during the Deutsche Dela-Murthe Cup race Saturday, caused by an unlucky bird which got in the way of his machine, traveling at a speed of about 300 kilometers an hour? The question is being asked seriously in aviation circles here. This theory has been suggested by the fact that the wings of the winner's aeroplane were found after the race to be covered with blood splashes and the remains of small birds which Kirsch struck while flying. It is thought possible that Lecointe's propeller may have hit a larger bird.

He was flying very low, and game was plentiful all over the course. The propeller, turning at the rate of 1,900 revolutions per minute, striking, say, a partridge, while turning at that speed would be quite sufficient to cause it to splinter to bits.

Lecointe is reported to be doing well. An X-Ray examination shows no fractures, so he has escaped with a sprained wrist, ankle and a severe shock.

Kirsch interviewed after the race said he was feeling splendid, and when asked whether he did not get cold feet after Lecointe's accident, replied, "no, they were burning." As a matter of fact they were blistered by the intense heat of the motor.

HOUDINI RECEIVES MARRIAGE PROPOSAL.

For years Houdini has successfully withstood the onslaught of challenges, defies and proposals of those who would test his powers of self-liberation. Never has he been compelled to admit defeat—that he was so bound that he could escape. That is, until now.

The one who has finally broken Houdini's record is a young lady from Auckland, New Zealand. This young lady who states she is eighteen and alone and has an annuity of $12,500 a year, writes Houdini that she is willing to accept a proposal of marriage from him. She says she has watched him in motion pictures and knows he must be an honorable man and therefore has implicit confidence in him.

She suggests that if he will cable her she will come by the first convenient boat to become "personally acquainted." They can keep company for three months, she adds, and if after that time they are not mutually fit she can return home. The girl says she is not stage struck, but simply thinks that fate will be kind.
