

That Wearing Tearing Maddening Headache

is often the result of eye strain instead of drugs, in such cases the only reasonable and effectual remedy is

A pair of properly fitted eye-glasses or spectacles, which relieve the muscular strain and therefore cure the headache.

We have made a special study of fitting glasses, and would be glad to have you call on us if troubled in any way with your eyes.

WESTVILLE VS. PHOENIX.

Another cricket match was played at the park yesterday afternoon; a cricket match different in every way from that played on Friday last as far as Charlottetown was concerned. This time, Westville, the team that had twice been in New Glasgow, the winners of Friday, were yesterday beaten by the Phoenix team by a score of 80 to 43. The fielding of our men was much better than that of Friday, and no high flies reached the ground on this occasion when within reasonable distance of any field player. The bowling of the McQuillan Bros. was dead on, each taking three wickets, and E. W. Hyndman, E. Heertz, A. J. Biffin, and R. V. Longworth all made excellent stands at the bat. The scores made were as follows:

The Montreal Star publishes a portrait and sketch of the life of Hon. Donald Farquharson, and makes the comment that "these are days of rapid changes in respect to the Premiership of Prince Edward Island."

Mr. Day, the United States secretary of state, who conducted all the negotiations connected with the Spanish war, resigned because he could not afford to maintain the social position expected from a man in his office. It would seem that at Washington they should either increase the pay of their statesmen or curtail the expensiveness of their social life. The nation should not lose the services of able men because the salaries it gives will not keep them at the capital.

Lord Baconfield, as Lord Rosebery found at the town of that name, mispronounced his own title. But he was in a worse plight upon his family name, which he really did not know at all. The name of "Disraeli" was assumed by his progenitors, Spanish Jews, in their gratitude to the God of Jacob for their escape from the Inquisition, and so that "their race might be for ever recognized." But what was the name they abandoned? Nobody really knows. Disraeli once said that his dearest was as pure as that of the Cavendishes, and it was his own opinion that he belonged to the great family of Lairs.

Playing Gooseberry.

Playing gooseberry or "to play gooseberry" is common enough in connection with sweetheating. A lass arranges a walk with a lad, but for some reason she does not care to go alone, so she takes a friend, another girl, and the friend "plays gooseberry." Sometimes the girl who is invited to share the walk refuses, saying, "Nay, I'm not going to play gooseberry." The girls speak of the lad in this connection as "gooseberry fool." By the way, green gooseberries stewed with a little water, mashed, and sugar added, constitute "gooseberry fool."—Notes and Queries.

Just In Time.

A butcher's lad went to deliver some meat at a certain house in Newcastle where a fierce dog is kept. The lad entered the back yard, and as soon as the dog saw him he pinned him against the wall. In a short time the mistress of the house ran out and drove the animal away. "Has he bitten you?" she asked. "No," said the lad, "as kept him off by giving him your suet, an ye just cam' in time to save the beef."—London Fun.
