31ST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—A very enjoyable evening was spent Saturday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reeves, Beaver Street East, Summerside, on the occasion of their 31st wedding anniversary. A pleasant time was had by all present and step-dancing, poetry reading and a most enjoyable singing were the highlights of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves graciously thanked all present for the lovely gifts which were deeply appreciated. Delicious refreshments were served and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", after which the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Reeves many more years of happy married life. S

SERIOUS OPERATION SUCCESSFUL—Norma, wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Russell, Oak Hill N. B., only reached the age of one year on June 9th, but at the tender age of ten months, she came safely through a critical operation in Montreal and is now safely home again and well. She is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Russell, (nee Bevilacqua) of Long River, P. E. I., and from birth was frail, due to "leakage of the heart". Many doctors and specialists were consulted without success. Finally the parents took the little one to Montreal on April 11th. In a delicate operation, an incision in the form of a half circle around the heart was made, and the faulty organ repaired. On May 28th she was brought home to Oak Hill by her parents, with the assurance of the doctors that she will now be a normal child. To the family and doctors, who knew her condition, the successful operation is considered a miracle, as no one believed she could possibly live.

Half Century Club Meets At Bedeque
The members of the Bedeque Half Century Club entertained their husbands and friends on Tuesday evening, June 13th at the home of Mrs. Calvin Lead. After a short business meeting the programme took the form of a club meeting of forty years ago. The costumes created a great amount of amusement, the hats especially being worthy of notice. Discussion for and against the opening of roads for motor cars brought out many amusing and conflicting ideas. Music consisted of solos, duets, choruses, and a sing-song of old-time favorites in which the guests joined. Partners for refreshments were chosen by means of hats in numbered hat bags. As no peeking was allowed and each guest wore the hat chosen the effect can be better imagined than described. Mr. Charles Craig took several flash pictures of the gathering. A most enjoyable evening was then brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Russia Levels Sharp Charges Against U. S.; State Department Silent

New Building For Summerside

LONDON, July 4 (Tuesday) — (AP)—Russia today charged the United States with "direct acts of aggression" in Korea.

The charge was made in a statement by Andrei Gromyko, Russia's first Deputy Foreign Minister, broadcast by Moscow Radio early today and heard in London.

Gromyko said the Korean fighting resulted from a pre-meditated "provocative attack" by the South Koreans.

Gromyko declared that the United States by ordering its military and naval forces to support South Korea, had "embarked on the road to open interference in the international affairs of Korea."

Declaring that the United States had embarked on the "road of armed intervention in Korea," the statement continued:

"Having taken that road, the United States Government violated the peace, and by so doing, demonstrated that not only is it not striving for the consolidation of peace but, on the contrary, is the enemy of peace."

Gromyko charged that the "events taking place in Korea began June 25 as a result of provocative attack of troops of the South Korean authorities on the frontier areas of the Korean People's Democratic (Communist) Republic."

"This attack was the result of a premeditated plan."

This is at variance with the finding of the United Nations Security Council, which held that the North Koreans had invaded Southern Korea.

Gromyko's statement was reiterated today that there had been no new developments for some hours, except for minor alterations in defence lines.

Far-sweeping American and Australian air attacks contributed to the enemy slowdown and forced the North Koreans to rush up the heavier anti-aircraft defences for Red-conquered Seoul.

American troops, digging in at an unidentified forward position, had not yet met the North Korean ground forces.

The Americans got a foretaste Monday of front-line conditions when five to seven Australian Mustangs savagely strafed the rocket-blasted nearby positions.

So near was the raid that one American sergeant was slightly wounded in the foot and others had to dive for cover.

Circumstances of this incident were not clear. A United States Air Force spokesman in Tokyo headquarters said reports of Monday's air strikes were not all in and he could not give any explanations until later.

AP correspondent Tom Lambert, who was on the spot and telephoned the news to Tokyo, described it as a 25-minute attack on the mud village where the Americans had established a command post.

Gen. MacArthur's communique of Tuesday morning did not mention the incident. It said American and Australian fighters in a series of sorties Monday destroyed seven enemy tanks and damaged five, destroyed 22 trucks and damaged 29, shot down one LA-7 and one Yak-9 fighter, blew up an ammunition and destroyed one locomotive and damaged three.

Ten B-29 heavy bombers for the second consecutive day attacked Yonpo airfield, 135 miles inside North Korea near the east coast.

The invader Yak fighters strafed and bombed South Korean defence troops near Kimpo Airfield 16 miles west of Seoul, and the Suwon airstrip 23 miles south of Seoul.

Slowed To Shuffle
MacArthur's account of ground operations tended strongly to support the word of American officers in Korea that the invader drove had by this morning slowed to a shuffle and almost a halt after racing ahead for eight days.

On Sunday, July 2, the communique said, two North Korean tank and artillery columns thrust south-east out of Seoul in a hurried attempt to outflank Suwon on the east.

They reached Yongin, six miles east of Suwon, and Kumyangjang-ni, 12 miles east, while another invader column was moving about 30 miles east of Suwon.

No all-out offensive was reported, however, and the communique said: "Activities along the lines of communications indicate that the North Korean forces are building up sufficient bases and supplies to support offensive operations in the area of the Han River and are increasing their anti-aircraft positions in the Seoul area."

The South Korean army, although chewed and mauled by the Communist invasion that began unexpectedly June 25, was credited this morning by MacArthur with still holding Suwon and its airstrip; Inchon, Seoul's port town 20 miles to the west, and a line north of Suwon. South Koreans also held unspecified positions south of the Kimpo Airfield, 16 miles west of Seoul.

MacArthur also reported that South Korean reinforcements were moving north in an attempt to contain the threat east of Suwon.

British and American warships maintained patrols along both coasts of Korea without incident.

Abegweit Chapter I.O.D.E. Meeting
The regular monthly meeting of the Abegweit Chapter, I.O.D.E., met in the Summerside Town Hall Thursday at 8.00 o'clock. The Rev. Mrs. Wanda Wyatt presided and welcomed the members. After the routine business was disposed of a letter was read by Mrs. Arthur Allen which had been received from the Red Cross, Charlottetown, thanking the I.O.D.E. for its fine, cooperation, especially thanking the Regent for speaking over C.J.R.W. in connection with the recent Red Cross campaign for funds.

The Queen Mary rug has been purchased by the National Chapter I.O.D.E., for $100.00. This will give aid to Great Britain as well as bringing something wonderful to Canada. The rug will be placed in the National Art Gallery, Ottawa.

Miss Wyatt attended the closing exercises of the Summerside High School and presented the I.O.D.E. prizes for essays, to Lorne Moase and Robert Moase, and prizes for history and literature to Miss Julie Meikle, Grade X, and Lois Harvey, Grade XII.

Mrs. Maurice Mill read the essay "Canada As a Prosperous Country" written by Lorne Moase, Grade X, and Mrs. W. E. Forbes read "Canadian Resources of Wealth" written by Robert Moase, Grade X. Both received much applause.

The Regent then gave her report of the I.O.D.E. convention held recently in Montreal, to which she had been a delegate and which she found very inspiring with its 1000 women in attendance. Mrs. Joseph Perry moved that a vote of thanks be extended to Miss Wyatt for her fine report. It was seconded by Mrs. W. A. Currie.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Many Complaints Regarding Lack Of Road Directions

The tourist information bureau operated by the Town of Summerside and the Summerside Board of Trade at Read's Corner has been operating more as a complaint bureau this last week, as this is the first place that visitors from other Provinces and the United States stop after finding their way around the detour caused by the rebuilding of the main highway between Bedeque and Wilmot.

Their main complaints are the lack of adequate signs to direct strangers through the byroads that it is necessary to traverse, and the condition of these roads.

It has been learned that, as a result of numerous complaints to the Travel Bureau and to the Department and members of the Legislature, steps were taken yesterday to improve the situation. Some of the worst roads have now been scraped.

The necessity of rebuilding the highway is unavoidable and there are not complaints heard about that, but both visitors and local people interviewed feel that when the main artery into the Province is blocked during the tourist season the least that could have been done was to have prepared adequate markers and signs to direct strangers and to give extra special attention to the secondary roads that this heavy traffic must pass over.

The criticisms voiced at the Summerside information center and to restaurant and tourist cabin operators show that many of the visitors are much displeased with the conditions that they have found. The fact that there has been a great deal of rain lately has, of course, aggravated the situation.

Summerside Not Mentioned
Coming from Borden the traveller feels the commencement of the detour just beyond Bedeque village as Ross' corner. Here, as late as Sunday, signs indicated that there was a detour to Charlottetown but no mention of Summerside and according to reports at the information center some people bound for Summerside and West Prince followed this road right through Freetown to the pavement at Summerfield. They then followed the highway towards Summerside and they were then quite a distance out of their way—only to find another stretch of bad road outside Kensington where another rebuilt.

There is a sign along this Freetown road indicating where to turn to go to Summerside but it is a small rough affair on a plain piece of board. A Summerside business man coming up from the ferry Sunday evening found several American cars stopped at points along this detour poring over maps, evidently trying to find out where they were.

On Sunday almost all sections of the detour were in very bad condition. The Wilmot Valley road, known locally as the "Blue Shank" road was simply a disgraceful, full of pot holes and very, very rough. This road has since been scraped.

This is a main road and is usually in excellent condition, but at this important time it is being allowed to deteriorate. It is expected that, as a result of complaints received, conditions will improve, and it is hoped that the impressions some visitors will return home with will not be too harmful to this important industry.

New Oyster Beds Said Urgent Need
OTTAWA, July 4—(CP)— Maritime members of the Commons today asked the Government to develop further the oyster and clam industries of that area.

Percy Black (PC—Cumberland) complained that slow progress was being made in developing new oyster beds in his county.

J. W. MacNaught, parliamentary assistant for fisheries, said this work had been going on for some years in an attempt to show it was practicable to use tide flats to produce seed oysters.

But he added "very little interest" was being shown by the local people in taking over leases on the beds. Also, he said, it took a long time to develop them to the commercial point.

Mr. Black said he was "disappointed" at not getting a more satisfactory report, and Fisheries Minister Mayhew agreed the results seemed slow. He added he hoped Mr. Black's interest would stimulate others.

Wesley Stuart (L—Charlottetown) appealed some action on behalf of the clam producers of his New Brunswick county. The market was largely in the United States, he said, but they were not being received favorably there because of their large size.

Mr. Stuart asked that the department consider changing the size limit to make it possible for the clammeries in the area to absorb more of the production.
