those areas pay City taxes year after year nevertheless, then it is time for a change. "I wonder how long the Commissioners themselves would wait around year after year for action. Would they have the patience of the good people of Park Street, for instance? Summerside had to do it. Moncton had to do it, and we feel confident that when all the facts are known, Charlottetown will follow in the same transfer of control of its sewerage and water to the City Council where it will receive the attention it rightly deserves. "If our separate Commissioners of Sewers and Water cannot evidently cope year after year with provision of essential services right in our City - what confidence can we place in them to tackle the job of providing such services to the whole village of Spring Park under amalgamation and ever get it completed in time to be of use to the present generation there? "Not long ago at one of our City Council meetings we had to listen to complaints of raw sewage flowing into Government Pond, and this, it seems, is not an uncommon occurrence, due to failure of the Commissioners of Sewers and Water Supply to keep up with the times and provide additional pumping facilities there as the need became evident through the years. "A nice situation, in the centre of our city, with 600 youngsters in school 50 yards away on one side and our Government House and the Prince Edward Island Hospital about 50 yards away on the other side! You've heard of the luck of the Irish - well, let's hope it continues to be with us - or I hate to think what might develop in our midst one of those days if nothing continues to be done about it. "As your finance chairman I point out that there is a direct relationship between our finances and this subject of Water and Sewerage. "TOMB'S PROPERTY Take for example the large area of as yet vacant land belonging to Charles Tombs, City merchant, west of the North River Road, and all 24 acres of it within our City limits. That area is sub-divided into easily over 100 first class building lots, presently unsalable and nearly worthless without such essential services. "For over 8 years now Mr. Tombs has been constantly knocking at the door of the Water and Sewer Commission for those services, but without success of any kind. And for such 8 years, due to a scarcity of City building lots among other things, people have been leaving the City and forced to build outside in our adjacent villages. "With such essential services of water and sewerage these lots would sell for an average of probably $1,500 each. Present city assessments on the few remaining vacant lots with services in this area average over $1,000 each. "Now that Session has come and gone and the whole subject of such amalgamation, a matter of urgent and vital concern to the nearly 20,000 residents of the City and Spring Park (about 1/5th of the Provincial population) was most conspicuous by its absence, and apparently of not even rate mention or action of any kind. "Naturally on such subjects the City's Legislature members were made acquainted with the views of your City Council, but for some reason or other saw fit to completely ignore the same. "But amalgamation spells progress for our community as it has for other communities large and small across Canada from coast to coast, and amalgamation must go forward in spite of all frustrations, and in the interests of this our own community, and for the benefit of ourselves, our children, and our children's children. "Then there was the Premier's proposed legislation to place supervision over water and sewerage in the Province under the Public Utilities Commission. "That was probably the most important and vital legislation coming before the House. "Knowing of the problems in our adjacent Villages where you can accompany Provincial Government Sanitary officials and watch them put red dye down the drains of houses here, and then ask for a drink of water in houses there and see the same red dye come up in same, the City Council of Charlottetown were unanimously in favor of such legislation, as should any right thinking citizen interested in the health and welfare of our people have been. "WISHES IGNORED The City's legislative members were informed of our views, but again they saw fit to ignore the wishes of the elected representatives of our citizens. "You see, - we at City Hall know something of this problem. That is why your City Council has proposed the abolition of the City's separate Commissioners of Sewers and Water Supply. "We feel that, when 102 years after our Incorporation as a City, there are still quite a number of areas of the City yet without sewerage facilities, because of the lack of initiative of such Commissioners, despite the fact that

City Councillors Guests At Rotary Yesteday

"We are most anxious to give the city service to the best of our ability and realize that we must have the support of citizens to achieve any success." His words to Mayor E.C. Johnstone told Rotarians at the weekly luncheon meeting held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. "This was 'Civic Honours Day', with various committee chairman of the City Council as guest speakers in a brief outline of their duties and responsibilities, when introduced by Mayor (Rotarian) Johnstone, on the request of Chairman Vice President Dr. Frank MacKinnon.

Other speakers included: Earl Baker, chairman of the fire and public property committees; Frank O'Neill, chairman of the street committee; A.J. Haslam, chairman of the light committee; G.R. Foster, chairman of the public property committee; William Boyles, chairman of the tender committee and City representative on the Playgrounds Commission. Deputy Mayor A. Walther Gaudet, Chairman of Public Relations expressed appreciation that the large and important section of business and professional men represented in Rotary had voiced a wish to know more about affairs at City Hall. "I hope that other service clubs will advocate something similar," Mr. Gaudet said.

"For the moment we appear to be frozen out in the Ottawa grant which indicated financial assistance to the municipalities. With 21 percent of the population centered here, consideration was anticipated," Mr. Gaudet said. Chairman Dr. MacKinnon also paid tribute to Rotarian F.J. Storey as he described the work of the committee dealing with the Metropolitan area, and introduced him as Chairman of Town Planning along with his associate Rotarian Frank MacDonald. NON-POLITICAL BODY Speaking briefly Mr. Storey said, "It is not sufficient that eight or nine City Councillors or others wait on the senior government to have our civic policy recognized. We will be only doing our duty if we press for recognition either in acceptance or rejection. We are a non-political body and have a voice which must be heard." Dr. Alan MacMillan was introduced as a new member by his sponsor, Dr. Gencheffe, and along with Esben Arnfast and Keith MacKinnon two other recently introduced members, received the Rotary Charge as given by Bill Reid. In the absence of President Bob Parent, the Club welcome was extended by vice president Dr. Frank MacKinnon. "Bill" Prowse back to his Rotary status following his retirement as Lieutenant Governor of the Province and received a cordial welcome from the members. Reg Boyne, past president of the Bathurst, N.B., Rotary Club now residing in Charlottetown was a visitor and Ross MacBrien of Moncton and Karl Dennis of Ottawa were guests.

Charges Gross

(Continued from page 1) aid to the Provinces and municipalities of this Country. "It will be noted too that later, on the visit to Charlottetown of the Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, he pointed out in a public address carried over CFXY here that "with such additional grant of $2 1/2 millions of dollars to this Province from the federal treasury for the next four years it should be possible for the Provincial Government to give assistance to the various municipalities in order to relieve them from the load that rests upon them today wherein real property is taxed to such an extent that the holder of real property finds it more and more inexpedient to own such property. BRIEF PRESENTED Subsequent to all this the Federation of P. E. I. Municipalities, speaking unanimously for its members, namely Charlottetown, Summerside, Souris, Montague, Kensington, Alberton, Georgetown and Borden, waited on the Premier and Provincial Treasurer and presented a comprehensive brief asking the Provincial Government for a long overdue increase in our per capita grant, and by way of our share of such additional $2 1/2 millions annually, to $11.25, which would have amounted only to 10 per cent of the additional grant for this 31 per cent of the Island's people. "If such had been granted it would still, all told, have only seen 2.83 per cent of the new total federal grant to this Province passed on to Charlottetown as its 17.8 per cent of the Provincial population, and only 5.21 per cent of all the municipalities with their 31 per cent of provincial population. "Surely that request of the municipalities of this Province was a reasonable one, asking
