

RUINED TRIBE LAST YEAR

Senators Dealing Red Sox Pennant Hopes Body Blow

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Washington makes the laws, and the Red Sox believe the situation should be equalized. Somebody should make a law against Washington.

The Senators, wandering around with a carefree abandon in the second division of the American League took a doubleheader from Boston Sunday and hold a record of 10 victories in 17 games over Mike Higgins' faltering team and effectively snuff out any flickering hope it had of overtaking New York Yankees.

It isn't the first time the Senators have taken the role of spoilers. They ruined Cleveland last year even more emphatically than they have ruined the Red Sox. The Indians had a real good chance of coming home in first place, in comparison to the almost forlorn hope of the Red Sox.

Last year Cleveland won only one of its 2 games with the Washington club, which was so deep in last place it had to get messages from most of the other teams by carrier pigeon.

NATS DID IT
Inasmuch as the Indians finished only three games behind the Yankees, the games they lost to the Senators beyond the usually drops to a last-place club were the difference between the pennant and second place.

Washington really put the skids under the Tribe Sept. 14. Cleveland had left New York with a lead of a game and a half and the next day the Indians took a pair from Washington to make it two games.

But the Senators won in the 14th and Cleveland never really recovered.

Incidentally, it was Pedro Ramos who beat the Indians that day; the same Pedro Ramos who has pitched six winning games against the Red Sox this year. Maybe the Bostonians would favor a law against him, too.

HAPPENS EVERY YEAR
The uprising of the lowly Senators is by no means unique. Such a development is noted in either the National or American League nearly every year.

In 1954 Pittsburgh Pirates, a team which had been clinging tenaciously to last place for three straight years and was shooting for four straight, met Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field Sept. 6.

Brooklyn was clinging to the heels of the surging New York Giants at the time, but the Bucs took a doubleheader to drop the Dodgers five games back, and those twin setbacks by a last-place club took all the starch out of the Bums. They never did threaten again.

The 1954 season also saw a situation which caused considerable resentment in Detroit, and which prompted Tiger fans to blurt a gleeful: "It serves you right!" last year when the Tigers got a measure of revenge.

The 1954 Indians were gunning for a record of victories — they made it 11 — the late in September, with the pennant already clinched, they threw in ready clinch d'ohety hrw telat ready clinched, they threw in their best pitchers against Detroit, which was fighting for fourth place.

Last year the two teams met in mid-September, and Detroit swept the three-game series to squash Cleveland hopes the Senators had stepped on rather heavily.

Anyway, these instances of the underdogs rising to smite contenders proves that the only thing certain about baseball is its uncertainty.

Everybody Optimistic Except Fans Of Edmonton Eskimos

EDMONTON (CP)—Everybody seemed to be optimistic but supporters of the twice-trounced Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos Friday as the Western Interprovincial Football Union prepared to start its 40-game schedule with games in Edmonton and Calgary.

Although the Eskimos have won the Grey Cup title two years in a row, the fact that they lost 33-0 to Montreal Alouettes and 33-13 to Ottawa Rough Riders in pre-season exhibition games has backers nibbling their nails.

Edmonton fans may be able to tell when the Eskimos meet Saskatchewan Roughriders here tonight in their first game of the regular WIFU schedule if the defending champions are still "best in the west."

In the other scheduled game, British Columbia Lions will take on a revamped squad of Calgary Stampeders — practically everything new but the coach — in Calgary.

Injuries may play a big role in the opening games. Halfback Jim Decker of the Eskimos is in hospital with a back ailment picked up in the club's opening game in Vancouver. Canadian quarterback Don Getty has a bad ankle, as has provincial All-Star Walker. But Walker and tackle Roger Nelson, who has a bad knee, are expected to play.

Stampeders are without the services of end Bill McKenna, sidelined as a result of a hip dislocation suffered in an exhibition game.

Brilliant To Play In Western Canada

KAMLOOPS, BC (CP)—Pierre Brilliant, ace right-winger with Amberst Ramblers in the Atlantic Coast Senior Hockey League last season, will play hockey in Western Canada this winter it was announced Tuesday.

Kenny MacKenzie, new owner of Kamloops Elks of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League, said the Quebec native was the first player he had signed for the 1956-57 season. Brilliant placed second in the ACSHL scoring parade last year with 57 goals and 54 assists.

Brilliant, who had part of season with Providence Reds of American League before joining Amberst, was first associated with MacKenzie in 1953-54 when he played one season with New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League.

Proposes Baker Or Jackson Against Archie For Ch'ship

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The National Boxing Association has recommended a possible fight between light heavyweight champion Archie Moore and the winner of the Hurricane Jackson-Bob Baker Sept. 26 bout to determine the new heavyweight champion.

The NBA resolution, proposed by Abe J. Greene, national commissioner, was adopted by the boxing group at its convention here Tuesday night.

Greene said the purpose of the move was to prevent "stagnation" among the heavyweights. He said the whole issue rested on the condition of Floyd Patterson's injured right hand and how soon Patterson would be able to fight again.

The NBA said it recognized the 33-year-old Moore as the No. 1 heavyweight with Patterson right behind. If Patterson's hand, injured in his June 8 victory over Jackson, healed so that he could fight Moore soon, the winner of a Moore-Patterson fight would be recognized as successor to retired Rocky Marciano.

MUST SHOW CLASS
If Patterson is unable to fight soon, then the NBA recommended that Moore fight the winner of the Baker-Jackson fight if the winner showed enough class to warrant such a match.

In that event, the NBA said the Baker-Jackson winner and Moore would be required to sign contracts to box Patterson within 90 days if Patterson's condition permits.
