DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

been too docile for so long, but it is the only way to handle a man as pig-headed as the one you have. Subtlety just doesn't go over with these males. You certainly have earned the right to manage your own home, and to expect consideration from your mate; you are entitled to some pleasure outside the home and he should show decent behavior when you are out together in public. Don't settle for less.

DEAR MISS DIX: Can you say something about parents giving their children a loan when the young people are in a tight spot? Now that our children are well able to return the money to the old folks, they don't even invite us for a ride in the new car or over for an evening of TV. If we mention the fact that we need the money, they get peeved and don't come to see us at all.

C.D.M.

ANSWER: The young folks are most certainly obligated to pay back the loan—and with compound interest—when they can afford so many luxuries. They can never repay the love and devotion that went with the money, but they should have the decency to realize that Mom and Pop should be repaid. Keep tight hold of your purse strings after this. Don't fall for any more appeals for help.

Miss Nissen cannot reply personally to readers but will answer problems of general interest through this column.

BROOKFIELD P.Y.P.S.—The Brookfield charge P.Y.P.S. met at the home of Miss Jean MacPherson on Wednesday evening, Oct. 22. The meeting opened with singing of "The Lord's My Shepherd" followed by prayer by Sterling MacRae. The Old Testament from Isaiah chapter 53 was read by Blaise MacRae. Hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was then sung followed by prayer by Randy Nicholson. A continuation of Article of Baptism was read by Randy Nicholson. The devotional period which was led by Jackie Barrett was closed by repeating in unison the Lord's Prayer. The president then presided over the business part of the meeting. The secretary then read the minutes of the last meeting. After a short discussion period a delicious lunch was served by hostess and committee in charge. The music for the evening was supplied by Miss Helen MacRae.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Douglas Rhynes and daughter Mariene have returned from Montreal and Perce, P. Q., where they spent a short visit.

Friends of Mr. Leslie MacEwen, York Point, will regret to learn that he is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital.

P. W. C. News & Views

The primary elections for the King and Queen of the Campus were held last week. These primaries touched off fervent election campaigns which are in the making even now. The polls will be open for the finals to take place on the eleventh. The candidates are, first the girls: Connie Chandler, Jean Diamond, Ruth MacEwen, Dawn Messer, Carolyn Nelson, Jean Tweedie, Pat Wynne. The nominees for King are: Don Cox, Ken Judson, Jack Mitchell, Lloyd Seaman, Alan Scales, Don Wood, Orville Wood. The results forthcoming of the next election will be announced at the social on College Day, November twelfth.

The organization for C-day is advancing steadily and the committee running the show has received permission for the cancellation of afternoon classes to allow all students to see the football game that afternoon. The coronation of the King and Queen will be the highlight of the evening's entertainment.

The old P.W.C. spirit is returning as witnessed by the large crowd attending the Halloween social Wednesday night. Prizes were awarded for many of the best costumes but they were all so good that it was hard for the committee to pick the winners. A little disturbance was caused when three unknown persons in bear costumes wandered into the dance but they refused to stay for the prize giving.

Last year a very successful dancing class was held in the auditorium under the direction of Joe Murphy. This year Joe has consented to recommence the classes which will start again this week. This class brought many students to the socials last year, who formerly had not the chance of learning to dance.

Many neutral observers have commented on the die-hard attitude the Welshmen team displayed in their last few games. It is an established fact that, though they haven't won any games yet, they refused to give up even when the odds were against them. Here is an example of three different animals when confronted by danger. When a puppy is confronted by danger he rolls over on his back and plays dead, a young baby looks to someone for support, but when a kitten is confronted by danger, makes his stand and prepares to fight. Perhaps our team could be likened to the kitten, that no matter what danger confronts them they still fight.

South Rustico And Vicinity

Rev. Father Thornly of Scarborough, Ontario, was a recent visitor to South Rustico.

Mr. Arthur Gauthier of the Canadian Army is spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gauthier, Rusticoville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Gauthier, Charlottetown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gauthier of South Rustico over the weekend.

Mrs. Abram Peters, accompanied by Mr. Ed. Gallant and his young daughter, of Charlottetown, attended the funeral of the late Mr. Jos. Doucette at St. Augustine's Church, South Rustico, the morning of October 25th.

The sympathy of this community is being extended to the widow and family of the late Mr. Joseph Doucette, South Rustico, whose death occurred on October 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Doucette of New London, Connecticut, U.S.A., who motored to P. E. I., are visiting Mrs. Doucette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gauthier, Rusticoville, and Mr. Doucette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doucette.

A Country Garden

that was completely covered with pale yellow flowers in the corner of the terrace with the sheltering evergreen hedge and all the many varieties of Narcissi and blue Scillas, the fragrance and beauty of that sunny corner! The Forsythia shrub was a gift from a good gardener in a neighboring province, and the Scillas were given to me by another good gardener in this province.

Forsythia is described in V. Quin's book . . . "In the days of good Queen Anne—who had a penchant for flowers and growing things—the Chinese forsythia was unknown to the western world. Yet two events which marked her reign have a bearing on this shrub.

"One was the laying out of the Royal Gardens at Kensington. The other was the union of England and Scotland. Had these two not transpired the Forsythia which bells might have borne some other name. For William Forsyth was a Scot; and only because of that union could he many years later become the director of those Royal Gardens. Just before his death, as the eighteenth century rolled in to the nineteenth, the first "golden-rain" was introduced from China, and named Forsythia to honor this distinguished horticulturist.

"Golden-bells is a familiar name for the forsythia and sometime in the very long ago a Japanese must have stood in a Chinese garden looking unbelievably at a forsythia in bloom, and wondered what magic had created this fountain of light, this shower of sunbeams caught on the shrub and woven into flowers of sun-gold. And very soon forsythias were blooming in every Japanese garden.

"It was from a garden in Japan, in 1833, that the western world obtained its first weeping golden-bells, Forsythia suspensa, a Chinese shrub with gracefully drooping branches and a great profusion of golden-yellow flowers, from one to three and often more in a cluster.

"One might never suspect that a graceful forsythia, swinging golden four-parted bells, a stiffly prim privet, with upheld spires of white, and a bushy lilac, with purple plumes, are closely related. Yet they are; and a not distant relative, whose fruit at least is known to everyone, is the olive.

Stanley Bridge W.M.S. Hold Service Of Thanksgiving

On the night of October 12th the W.M.S. Auxillary of Stanley Bridge held their annual thank-offering service in the church, which was suitably decorated with flowers.

An appropriate service of thank-offering hymns, prayers and Scripture was conducted by Mrs. W. O. Myers, vice-president.

Mrs. Hazen Howard of Cornwall, president of the Presbyterian, was the guest speaker, and gave a very helpful address on the subject for the day, "Thanksgiving." The story of the origin of Thanksgiving Day was told. Reasons why one should be very thankful, and the importance of sharing one's gifts with others, and giving help to the needy, and a friendly welcome to the immigrants, were stressed. Mrs. Howard also spoke of the children who were present, and illustrated with a picture some of God's gifts for which they can give thanks.

Mrs. John MacNeill of Cavendish sang two beautiful selections, "Oh! What Will You Do With Jesus", and "You Cannot Hide From God". The choir sang "The King of Love". Mrs. Lorne MacEwen presided at the organ.

The Rev. W. I. Green led in prayer and also pronounced the benediction.
