Gene Woodling's Promise Makes Child Want To Live

BLATIMORE (AP)—All Leonard Fewster wanted to live for was to see Gene Woodling again. They had a date to go to a ball game.

This was a promise made three weeks ago Friday when a big man stood beside a little boy's bed and accomplished something doctors, nurses and miracle drugs couldn't do. Even Johns Hopkins Hospital had to admit it wasn't up to the job.

For Gene Woodling made Leonard Fewster smile.

They became pals, too. And it was for life. There wasn't anything in writing between them—except Gene Woodling's signature on a $2.95 American League baseball.

TALKED SOME MORE

Leonard had pulled it to him and, golly - geeing all over the place, said, "thanks for my baseball, Mr. Woodling." And then Gene, a 36-year-old who has spent 18 summers playing baseball for a living, talked some more.

He told Leonard about the Baltimore Orioles, and how he must clear his dinner plate if he ever wanted to grow up to be a ball-player. He said that he must listen to his doctor the same as the Orioles followed directions of their manager, Paul Richards.

Little Leonard listened and agreed to do anything Gene Woodling advised. The visit lasted for more than 20 minutes, not long as conversations go, but friendships have a way of fostering themselves.

The boy laughed, sat up in bed and talked with an assurance that belied his tender years.

MAN-TO-MAN

Real man-to-man. Yet Leonard Fewster was a child of eight. But all-boy. He had a "butch" haircut that was just growing out, a sunburned face, and he had forgotten to fasten the top button of his pajama shirt.

Three weeks ago the telephone rang in the news-post sports department.

A woman was crying. She kept repeating:

"I need a baseball player to see a little boy. It may be his last request. Please help me, mister. Please help me."

Gene Woodling was immediately reached with a telephone call.

Friday morning little Leonard was lowered to his grave.

Leonard had cancer of the liver. Only eight years old. But he knew more pain in his final days than most of us know in a lifetime. He'd scream, cry and plead: "Will the dear Lord help me?"

He did. He took Leonard Fewster with him.

Best For Arcaro Is 2nd On Return To Racing Fri.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Eddie Arcaro returned to racing Friday for the first time since his spectacular spill in the Belmont Stakes June 13 but the best he could do was a second place among his three mounts.

"It is good to be back," the 43-year-old veteran said as he climbed aboard Elliott Menaker's Elliotts Jewell in the program's third race, a 5½ furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies. Elliotts Jewell finished fifth.

"I got a little winded," he said later, "but it is only natural. My legs and arms are strong from all the golfing and fishing I did."

Arcaro suffered bruises and a concussion in the Belmont Stakes spill while riding the King Ranch's Black Hills. The horse, which fell after it snapped a foreleg, had to be destroyed. Arcaro was hospitalized for four days, then recuperated by golfing and fishing in Canada and here.

SECOND IN FEATURE

He guided Warhead, the favorite, to second place in the Belmont Park feature Friday, the Plum Island Purse, behind Snow Fight.

Warhead led the field in the 7-furlong dash until three-sixteenths of a mile from home when Snow Fight charged to the outside and gradually took over in the long stretch run.

Arcaro was last in a field of eight on Victory II in the final race of the day. He also was booked to ride Check Artist in the fourth race but the horse was scratched.

The famed jockey has agreed to ride the Wheatley Stable's The Irishman in the $35,000 - added Saranac handicap at Belmont today.

Arcaro said that the Black Hill spill was far from being his worst.

"Back in Chicago in 1933 I fell and wound up in the hospital with a punctured lung and broken ribs. More people are talking about the Belmont Stakes spill because so many folks saw it on TV," he added.

Floyd Patterson Is Suspended For Thirty Days

NEW YORK (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's knockout loss to Sweden's Ingemar Johansson June 26 brought him an automatic 30 day suspension by the New York athletic commission.

It's a rule of the commission that a fighter who is stopped must be suspended for 30 days. Then he must undergo a physical examination, including the electric brain wave test, to get reinstated.

The rule applies to all fighters. Notice of Patterson's suspension was mailed out Friday by the commission.

Ol 'Arch Knocks Punching Bag Off Its Swivel

MONTREAL (CP) — Archie Moore knocked a heavy punching bag clean off its swivel Friday as he trained for his coming light-heavyweight title defence.

"You pretending it's Durelle?" a fan yelled as the bag thudded to the floor. Ol' Archie just grinned and waved his hand.

Meanwhile, from Moncton, challenger Yvon Durelle was reported doing heavy training, working out with three sparring partners.

Moore's manager, Jack Kearns, said Friday he is satisfied with Archie's weight. It's about five pounds over the 175-pound limit with the fight 19 days away.

A new sparring partner for Moore, Johnny Jennings, of Jersy City, N.J., is due in town today. Archie's regular partner, Junior Washington, suffered a split lip Thursday.

Leagues Approve Trading Rule

CHICAGO (AP) — The National and American Leagues Friday again approved the inter-league trading rule after baseball commissioner Ford Frick asked them to reconsider last December's actions.

Frick said he did not take the action as "anything personal."

"If they want it," said Frick, "they have it. I don't know if it will work out or not but I hope it does."

Last December, the American League cast a 7-1 vote in favor of the measure. The National approved it by a 5-3 count. It was believed that neither league had altered its vote.

The rule allows the two leagues to make trades between Nov. 21 and Dec. 15 without having to obtain waivers on players involved from other member clubs.

The committee to deal with groups seeking a third major league will consist of seven members. They are Frick; Warren Giles, president of the National League; Joe Cronin, president of the American League; Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves; Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia Phillies; Tom Yawkey, Boston Red Sox owner, and Arnold Johnson, owner of the Kansas City A's.
