

Says Canada Dependent On Foreign Markets

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP)—A prolonged decline in foreign trade would constitute one of the "greatest threats" to Canadian prosperity, a Canadian Government economist said Wednesday night.

But Dr. O. J. Firestone, the Trade Department's economic adviser, quickly added that Canadian sales will grow as long as Canada remains one of the world's leading low-cost producers of foodstuffs and basic raw materials.

Even though Canada's own economy is growing by leaps and bounds, she still is heavily dependent on her foreign markets, Dr. Firestone said in a lecture prepared for delivery at McGill University.

If foreign sales dropped, income and employment in Canada would decline. The rate of expansion in Canada would be slowed, surpluses would develop in industry and investment would decline.

"Thus, a spirit of gloom will spread through the economic system, bringing retrenchment in its wake on a widening front."

The situation, he said, would be far worse in some industries and in some regions than in the country as a whole. Some of Canada's big industries are concentrated in particular areas. Examples were lumbering and fishing on the east and west coasts and wheat on the Prairies.

Other examples were pit props in Eastern New Brunswick, apples in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley, and asbestos in the Theford Mines asbestos area of Quebec.

"A decline in exports on which these areas are dependent," said Dr. Firestone, "can be quite serious for the local population, for they have frequently little or no alternative means of making a livelihood in their community."

However, the outlook was encouraging. More and more countries were becoming dependent on Canada's raw materials as their own became depleted. Political and economic problems in some countries were hampering trade but eventually these would be overcome.

Destined To Sail The Seven Seas

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP)—Unless immigration authorities reverse their decision, 21-year-old Miguel Herrera Alonzo must keep sailing the seven seas.

Alonzo says he is a Spaniard but has no papers to prove where he was born and efforts to land him in any country have failed.

Alonzo has been ordered to leave Saturday aboard the German freighter Adolf Leonhardt, the ship on which he stowed away more than four months ago in Spanish Morocco. When the Leonhardt docked here he was placed in immigration detention barracks.

Says Suspension Threatens K. of C. Members In Quebec

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP)—Le Devoir said Wednesday in a front-page story that 9,000 Knights of Columbus in Quebec Province are threatened with suspension by the Supreme Council of the Roman Catholic organization of laymen at New Haven, Conn.

The French language daily said the situation has arisen as a result of Quebec provincial meetings of the Knights which have sought "a larger measure of autonomy, certain financial independence and more equitable distribution of considerable funds collected in Quebec."

Le Devoir's story said recognition of the French language has also been an issue.

The newspaper said the Quebec body of Knights have prepared a bill incorporating some of their demands for the November session of the Provincial Legislature and the Supreme Council has ruled it must be withdrawn. Suspension will follow failure to accept this ultimatum, said Le Devoir.

The newspaper said the bill would create a Quebec state council of the Knights and also give legal status to local councils under the name "Chevaliers de Colomb."

It said that while Quebec Knights have always used the French name "Chevaliers de Colomb," the title has never been officially recognized.

Sinatra-Gardner Tiff Reported

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Oct. 23—(AP)—Ava Gardner refused Tuesday to confirm or deny reports that she and Frank Sinatra underwent an explosive separation last week-end.

Since yesterday there has been a stream of second-hand reports that Ava and her crooner husband split up with plenty of fireworks at Sinatra's Palm Springs house.

"I have nothing whatever to say about the matter," she said.

Apparently Lana Turner was somewhere on the edges of the squabble but she couldn't be located. Reports of the tiff were carried by newspapers in Los Angeles and elsewhere.

The New York Post columnist, Earl Wilson, printed the word that Frankie and Ava had a razzle-dazzle fight in which Sinatra called police to put Miss Gardner, Miss Turner and other friends out of his home here.

U.S. Army To Probe Book On Korean War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—(AP)—The army said Tuesday it has ordered an investigation of the circumstances surrounding publication of a book on the Korean war by a former army censor in Korea.

It announced that Lt.-Col. Melvin Voorhees has been ordered to report to Fort Meade, Md., for the probe. A spokesman said no formal charges have been brought against him.

The recall of Voorhees was ordered, the spokesman said, "in connection with investigation concerning his writing and processing for publication a book not cleared by the department of the army."

Voorhees told reporters at Seattle he was charged with publishing the book against the orders of his commanding officer.

The 50-year-old officer, who has been in the military for 10 years as a reserve officer, was a Washington state newspaper man for 18 years. He was editor of the Tacoma Times when he entered the service in the Second World War.

Voorhees declared there is no element of military security involved.

Bailey - Henderson Wedding

At a quiet ceremony Wednesday afternoon, September 17th at the home of the bride, the Rev. Capt. J. A. Davidson performed the rites uniting Roma Eileen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Manderson, 471 Strangway Ave., Victoria, B. C., to Merle Wesley, youngest son of Mrs. Amos Bailey, Orville, Ont., and the late Amos Bailey.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wearing a ballerina dress of white nylon net over white satin, long white nylon net mitts, and a beaded halo, with shoulder length veil. Her only piece of jewellery was a gold cross, gift of the groom. She chose for her corsage, pink carnations.

As matron of honour Mrs. June Lachmund wore a frock of pale pink nylon with matching bolero and white gloves, and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The best man was Gnr. Howard Staples of St. Catharines, Ontario.

The bride's mother wore a suit of black rayon bengaline and a corsage of pink rose buds.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to many friends and neighbours. Many beautiful gifts were given to the bride and groom.

The next day they left on a short honeymoon trip to many points of interest in B. C. On their return they are residing in Victoria.

A shower was held on September 24 in honour of Mrs. Bailey, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lachmund, when they received many useful and lovely gifts.

The happy young couple was seated, and a pink and white carriage was wheeled in laden with gifts. Pictures were taken with the bride and groom opening their gifts and reading the humorous verses, which were enjoyed by everyone.

The living room was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers, bells and balloons full of confetti, which were broken over their heads. A dainty luncheon was served by the ladies.

On the following Thursday the members of a ladies' club were joint hostesses at a surprise kitchen shower for the bride, held at the home of Mrs. Bob Dennett. A lovely corsage was presented to the bride and she then opened the numerous gifts and thanked everyone for their kindness. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the club.
