Marriage Of Interest In New Haven, Conn.

At four o'clock last Sunday at the Church of the Redeemer (Congregational), New Haven, Conn., Miss Helen Pauline Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Wagner of Hamden, Conn., became the bride of A. James Wriston Jr., of Honolulu. The background of tall candelabras and palms, the altar and its gold crosses were framed in white anthuriums. A lot of white crown flowers roped off the main aisle prior to the march of the wedding party down past pews marked with white carnation leis to the altar, where the Rev. Robert E. Luccock performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin, fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and long pointed sleeves. Her skin of deep folds terminated into a long cathedral train. A satin trimmed band of illusion, held in place by her fingertip length veil of French illusion. She was escorted to the altar by her father. Her bouquet consisted of white cattleya orchids centered in a spray of white butterfly orchids from which hung strands of white pikake.

Maid of honor was Miss Margaret Wood Boyd Pratt Wriston of Honolulu, sister of the bridegroom. She wore pale yellow waif-like piou cut in princess style with a bateau neckline with small yellow orchids in her hair; she carried a bouquet of yellow cattleya orchids surrounded by small yellow orchids with a yellow carnation lei attached.

The bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Oliver and Mrs. Robert M. Taylor Jr. of New Haven wore lavender cattleya surrounded by lavender crown flower leis attached. In their hair Miss Oliver and Mrs. Taylor wore small lavender butterfly orchids.

Arthur James Wriston Sr., of Honolulu was his son's best man. Ushers were Gordon C. Burns Jr., of Westminster, Md.; Francis A. Cox of Asheville, N. C.; William R. M. Lowry of Hartford, Conn.; and C. Dudley Pratt, Jr., of Honolulu, cousin of the bridegroom.

Organist was H. Leroy Baumgartner, and soloists were Alden C. Hammond and Mrs. Jane Paxhia, all of New Haven. Selections chosen by the bride included Because, Ke Kali Nei Au, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride's mother was gowned in aqua chiffon crepe with jeweled belt. She wore a hat of mauve rose the color of which was repeated in the Clara Fisher vanda orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow crepe gown with lace-trimmed peplum. Her hat was of peacock feathers sewn in a band covered with black tulle. She wore a blue vanda corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents in Hamden in rooms filled with anthuriums, torch ginger and red heliconia.

For her going away outfit, Mrs. Wriston Jr. wore a tan and yellow tweed suit, a spring white topper, and green accessories. Her corsage was of lady slippers. The couple left on a tour of the south.

Mrs. Wriston is a graduate of the day school in New Haven and matriculated to the Yale School of Music. She is at present a secretary to the Yale department of public relations.

Mr. Wriston, grandson of Mrs. John Scott Boyd Pratt Sr. of Honolulu and member of a kamaaina family, was graduated from Punahou and will receive his bachelor of arts degree from Yale in June.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. John Scott Boyd Pratt was before her marriage, Miss Sarah Ferguson of Cross Roads, Lot 48, Prince Edward Island and has many near relatives here who will be interested in this marriage.
