In Quiet Bays.

In quiet bays by storms unspent
I moor my boat with calm content.

I sought of yore the deep, wide sea;
The tempest set my spirit free.

I loved to match my puny power
With Nature in her stormiest hour.

But now I bring my little boat
In quiet bays, to drift and float

Idly upon the idle tide:
The sea for me is all to owide:

I seek no more my spirit's mate,
The awful wind-swept sea of fate.

—Charlotte Pendleton in May Lippincott's.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Legislative Council and the Hillsborough Tunnel.

SIR,—In the discussion on the Amalgamation Bill in the Legislature lately, I noticed several members—both in the Council and the House of Assembly, gave as an instance of the usefulness of the Council as a protection to property holders, the fact (the only one given) that the Council rejected the bill for the construction of the Hillsborough tunnel. The Council can surely say "Save me from my friends," when this is the only defence they can make for the expense of its support. It is doubtful, however, whether the argument was intended to be used for retaining the Council or abolishing it. The people on the south side of the Hillsborough would undoubtedly hold it as a good argument for abolition—and as no good reason can be shown why Government supporters referred to rejection of the Hillsborough Tunnel Bill by the Council at the very time they were legislating that body out of existence—we may assume they hold the same opinion. Then we too believe the reverse; and say those Government supporters merely referred to those supposed virtuous actions of the Council to assuage their death pangs at final dissolution. If that was their reason it was indeed very cruel and deceptive on their part. If there is any time more than another when truth should be spoken it is at this time—the final dissolution. It is indeed callous and cold on the part of those members to try and console this body in its death throes with such a delusion as that the Hillsborough tunnel bill was a bad bill, and as such, in not passing it, they could confidently expect a happy exit. That they give the dying patient very improper hopes for the future I propose to show.

The Hillsborough tunnel or subway bill was a good bill, well drawn and its object good. It did not involve any expense to the Province till it was in operation one year, further than expense for operating. The principal clauses were: 1st, its location; 2nd, capacity for passenger, carriage and railway traffic; 3rd, contractors to have skill, experience and resources; 4th, cost not to exceed $300,000, including right of way; 7th contractors to give $100,000 security for performance of contract; 8th, built under supervision of government engineer. Other clauses were that contractors were to accept debentures at 30 years bearing 4 per cent interest; no money was to be paid by the Government till it was in operation. The interest at most would be only $12,000 a year, and the miserable accommodation we have now costs nearly that much. The Government undertook no risk; the contractors spent their own money, and if successful they were paid, not otherwise. Labor, material, land damages, &c., had to be paid by the Company, and under these circumstances I consider the Government members were giving the Council false hope for the future when administering their rejection of this bill as Balm of Gilead.

But what has the present Government done about a tunnel or a bridge? They have made a few repairs and now expect the public to be pleased. No word about a bridge. The late government made surveys—now it is [illegible]. It is, perhaps, enough that the members for Belfast (I understand Mr. H. C. McDonald takes all the credit) should nearly two years ago have got a sum sufficient for a new boat in the estimates. Was there anything done? No. But as a matter of form it is in the estimates again this year, and the Patriot says the model is being made, and the Premier says in his budget speech the boat will be ready in autumn. We shall see. What autumn? It was supposed that he would have the model under his arm coming home from Washington. How long will Belfast be humbugged by demagogues and blusterers, meantime?

BELFAST.

Tribute to a Distinguished Student.

Quite a large and representative number of Dr. P. C. Murphy's friends and admirers of Kinkora and Emerald banquetted him at the residence of J. T. Murphy, Esq., Newton, on Wednesday evening, 19th inst., and tendered him with an address, congratulating him very highly on the great success attending his graduation at the University Medical College, New York. Kinkora feels justly proud of the honors Dr. Murphy has won, knowing that he had to compete with some of the most brilliant men in the United States and Canada. Rev. J. J. McDonald presided, and S. M. Bent, Esq., acted as vice-chairman. The address, which was read by Mr. Bent, was as follows:

To P. C. MURPHY, M. D., KINKORA, —

It is with sentiments of pleasure and gratification, and with a sense of pardonable pride, that we, your old friends and neighbors, welcome home to-day Kinkora's most gifted son, after a university course of the most brilliant character. It affords us especial pleasure to congratulate you upon the magnificent success attending your graduating examinations at the University Medical College, New York, one of the leading medical schools of the United States, where in competition with two hundred of the finest students the best colleges and universities of the United States and Canada could produce, you were facile princeps, and left your competitors far behind. We regard your signal triumph on this occasion as an honor to Kinkora, an honor to Prince Edward Island and an honor to Canada.

As one of ourselves in the years gone by, there is no cause for regret in our early association. As an official of the Prince Edward Island Railway, you won the respect and esteem of those with whom you came in contact; and as a student in a famous University your remarkable success has once again shown America that, given "a fair field and no favor," a Prince Edward Island boy can distance all competitors.

Now, dear sir and friend, the future lies before you with its grand possibilities for good and for the bettering of humanity. May it ever be as bright and smiling as that graduation hour when your gifted classmates were proud to pay generous tribute to you who had so far surpassed them all, and may the honors you won on that never-to-be-forgotten day be an earnest and an augury of still higher honors to come, placing you at the head of the noble profession you have so happily chosen as the field for your life's work. In the years to come—and may the golden sunshine of prosperity and fame be always over them—we feel and know that you will be an honor to your native Province, and a pride to your native Kinkora.

Our best wishes are with you, and may God speed you, and guard you, and guide you.

Dr. Murphy made an extempore reply to the address, speaking very warmly and eloquently. He was highly pleased to know that his friends at Kinkora had appreciated the efforts he had made, and heartily thanked them for the honor they had done him in welcoming him home in such a warm and hearty way, and assured them that he would always endeavor to merit their esteem and good will. The doctor is quite an orator and will no doubt be heard from before many years. He has a bright future before him. The speeches made in responding to the toasts, etc., were very good indeed; some of them were exceptionally good. Every one present appeared to enter into the affair in a spirited way, seemingly trying their utmost to do honor to the esteemed guest of the evening.

The following toasts were proposed and responded to in concise but eloquent speeches that reflected credit on all who took part:

TOASTS.

1. The Queen.
2. The guest of the evening.
3. Agriculture.—John O'Ronaghan, Peter Duffy, M. McKenna, John Hughes, Thos. McCabe.
4. Mercantile Interests.—F. P. Murphy, P. F. Hughes.
5. The Press.—S. M. Bent, of the Journal, G. R. McMahon on behalf of the Watchman.
6. P. E. I. Railway.—P. C. Murphy, G. R. McMahon.
7. The Ladies.—Dr. Wall, Jas. A. Johnston, Thos. McCabe.
8. Our Host and Hostess.—John T. Murphy.
9. The President.—Proposed by G. R. McMahon, and responded to by Rev, J. J. McDonald.
10. Auld Lang Syne.

JUST THE DIFFERENCE.

A LADY'S EXPERIENCE!

A WARNING TO ALL.

Two months ago a most estimable lady, living in one of our Canadian cities, sent a testimonial to the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound, testifying to the great curing properties of that popular preparation. We are permitted to give the public a few extracts from her letter, which may serve to guide those who are seeking for an honest and faithful medicine. The lady says:—

"I went myself to a store to purchase a bottle of your celebrated Paine's Celery Compound. Unfortunately I listened to the sweet words of the storekeeper, and was induced to take another medicine in stead of yours. I took it home and used it according to directions, but never got any benefit from it. I was not in any good humor after my experience with a worthless bottle of stuff, but I determined to get your Paine's Celery Compound, and I went to another storekeeper who gave me what I asked fer. After using your Compound for a week I felt a blessed change, and knew I had found the right medicine to cure. I am now perfectly restored after using four bottles."

Moral to be deduced from above: Do not be talked into something else when you ask for Paine's Celery Compound, nothing else is able to cure you.

Annapolis Speaks with no Uncertain Sound.

The late Hon. W. F. DesBarres was for more than 33 years, a Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and the name of Des Barres is held in the highest estimation by the people of the Maritime Provinces. Samuel W., son of Hon. W. F. DesBarres, is Registrar of the Admiralty District of Nova Scotia, having held the office for 23 years. In conversation with our Representative, a short time since, he made the following statement:

"I have used SKODA'S DISCOVERY and SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS, for a few weeks, with the most gratifying results, and am of the opinion that they are of a high medicinal quality. I have no hesitation in endorsing the Skoda line of Remedies, and recommending them to the people of the Dominion, as articles of superior merit, and well worthy their confidence. I fully believe these Remedies to be all their proprietors claim for them."

The people of Nova Scotia are justly proud of their Institutions of learning, and their educators rank among the finest in the country. At the head of many of the Universities in the U. S., are placed men, who hail from the Dominion, and whose methods of teaching and discipline are regarded by the American people, as the finest in the world. For 15 years Mr. S. C. Shaffner has been one of the leading educators in the Province of Nova Scotia. At present he is Principal of the Public Schools in Annapolis. In speaking of SKODA'S REMEDIES he says:

"Having used two bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY with the LITTLE TABLETS, I have formed a very favorable opinion of these remedies. For Diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, I believe them to be most excellent Medicines. I am so thoroughly convinced of their curative properties, that I shall take the full course of these Remedies, as recommended by the Company."
