

Six to Stand Trial For Conspiracy

Royal Family Appears At Party

LONDON, (CP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh split up Thursday to stroll through crowds of shivering guests at the second and final garden party of the season.

The Queen and the duke, accompanied by the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret, the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra, stepped from Buckingham Palace to join several thousand Commonwealth and United States visitors on the palace lawns. Women guests found their bright summer frocks poor protection against unseasonably chill breezes on a cloudy day.

The Queen wore a navy blue duster coat over a lilac and grey figured silk dress with matching hat. The duke was in traditional morning dress with grey topper.

The royal couple moved down separate lanes through the crowds so that they might be seen by as many guests as possible.

The several hundred Canadian guests present were drawn from all sections of Canada. From the east came Mr. and Mrs. James Boylen, Bathurst, N. B., Helen O'Donoghue, Ottawa, army Capt. Joseph Belanger, Quebec City, and Sqnd. Ldr. Marcel Belleau, Montreal.

Evidence submitted in Whitby, Ont., at the preliminary hearing of the conspiracy charge laid by the Ontario government against several road contractors and provincial employees has resulted in the commitment for trial of six men, among them Cecil H. Nelson, left, and Walter Bergmann, right, Nelson, retired chief engineer of the Ontario highways department, was alleged to have received a $14,500 house from the Bergmann Construction Co. The prosecution attempted to prove that Bergmann conspired to have road contours altered in blueprint stage to show more work than was actually done.

Servant's brothers visited her Monday and a male relative also visited Miss Tremblay. Police also reported that search of two nearby St. Lawrence river islands, where the women were first believed to have fled, had proved unsuccessful.

Meanwhile, three detectives left for Windsor, Ont., to pick up Gerald McKuhen, one of the five suspects in the slaying of McAbbie, who was pistol-whipped to death at his fashionable restaurant more than a year ago.

McKuhlen was escorted to the Canadian border by police from Austin, Tex., where he had been found living the life of a "model citizen." The other three suspects are in prison here.

Budget Reflects Buoyant State

By J. G. GRAHAM

Canadian Press Correspondent
AUCKLAND, N.Z., (CP)—The buoyant state of New Zealand's economy is reflected in the budget presented Thursday by Prime Minister Sidney Holland.

It makes provision for a vigorous program of public works and gives further social welfare benefits, but still makes tax concessions totalling about $30,000,000.

Holland said New Zealand's overseas assets are the highest in history, totalling $139,000,000. He announced that the exchange allocation system imposed in 1952 to protect overseas reserves as a result of abnormally high imports will end at the close of the present year.

Holland announced extension of the social security structure to provide greater benefits for widows and government pensioners.

A long list of tax concessions included the exemption of many goods from the sales tax, reduction in land taxes, and reorganization of the income tax structure to allow greater exemptions for taxpayer and his wife and children. A concession also has been made to assist families where the wife works. Henceforth the income tax rate won't be assessed on the total family income if either partner earns less than $1,500 annually. Total effect of the tax concessions is to exempt further a large group of middle-income families from income tax, though they remain liable for the social security tax which is levied at a flat rate of 7½ per cent on all income.

Holland budgeted for a small surplus of $509,000.

REVIEWS CAPITAL WORKS

Controls on dollar exchange will continue, however, and also import licensing in the case of 300 out of 850 items on the import schedule, but otherwise importers will be able to buy according to their resources.

Holland reviewed the great capital works in progress in the country, including big timber and new print projects and large hydro-electric schemes. He announced a plan to use New Zealand's vast underground natural steam resources for production of heavy

ORDER MILITARY SERVICE

BOMBAY (AP)—Reports from Silvessa, an isolated pocket of Portuguese colonial territory in India, said Saturday Portuguese officials there have ordered each family to contribute one man for military service "in the fight against the Indian aggressors." Silvessa lies close to Dadra, another Portuguese enclave where a group of 35 Indian nationalists march in Thursday and proclaimed the village "liberated."

Visitors May Have Helped In Escape

MONTREAL (CP)—Police are investigating the possibility that male visitors to Fulham street jail Monday may have had something to do with the escape Wednesday of two women prisoners, one accused of murder.

Gertrude Servant, 24, and 200-pound Georgette Tremblay, 41, escaped over a 10-foot wall after breaking the prison's dining hall door padlock.

Miss Servant was being held in connection with the robbery and murder of restaurateur B. J. McAbbie. The other woman was serving a five-year sentence for her part in an unemployment insurance racket.

Police said Thursday one of Miss
