

paper! There is also another point which he will do to bear in mind. In case of there being a necessity, at some future day, of burning this scurrilous periodical of his by the hands of the common hangman, I can recommend a gentleman to fill that honorable office, and that gentleman a scribbler of bombastic prose, and scarcely less bombastic verse. I, too, love verse—good verse—hence my numerous quotations—quotations which, if the Islander be an invoker of the Muse, he cannot fail to admire as they deserve.

The Editor of the Islander has given us a new version of his political views. One would think that, after this second attempt, the public might be a little more enlightened than they were before. But no; they are not a whit the wiser! Let us hear him again:—"We are," says he, "of the party of truth, reason, and justice—we are indeed attached to honourable men—and are, moreover, in the fullest significance of the word, a philanthropist. We sincerely and disinterestedly love our fellow-men—"

"We love mankind!—we do, we do— As victims love them; as the sea dog doats Upon the small sweet fry that round him floats; Or as the Nile-bird loves the slime that gives That rank and venomous food on which she lives!"

And is not this philanthropy most admirable? Is not this disinterestedness most inimitable? Our political opinions must now be known—it is no longer impracticable to conceal them. We, dearly beloved public—we, brother Editors—we, Legislators of Prince Edward Island—we, gentlemen Escheators and Non-Escheators—we—the conductors of the Islander—the non-such—we hesitate not to come forward, manfully and independently to declare, that we are of the newly discovered political party of truth, reason and justice, and that we love Honourables and honourable men!"

The Islander has made a discovery—and of what sort, think you? It is, Sir, that not FLAGELLATOR, but his personification, as he will have it—is worthy and ambitious! Bow down, Mr. Editor—and bow down all, in respectful silence—before the solemnly pronounced decision of this second Brutus;

"For I, says he, is ambitious; And I, says he, is an Honourable's man."

I must apologize, Mr. Editor, for having so long occupied your time with the drivelling trash of this precious scribble. But I have not yet done with him. I should but discharge the duty which I have imposed upon myself, were I to pass over in silence a most infamously false and unbecoming assertion, put forth—and twice in the same article—by the Editor aforesaid. He states that he would rather be the most ignorant man on earth, than be a Solomon—is he not a Solomon, Sir?—or a Cæsar, if on the condition of being possessed by such a spirit of malignity as he (Flagellator) has wantonly and causelessly displayed!!!

From the quotation already given, perhaps, Mr. Editor, you may have discovered a prediction on my part towards a certain anonymous writer. Yes! I do indeed—and so does FLAGELLATOR—admire the spirit of the great man who wrote, sub nomine umbra, and that name, JUNIUS I shall not therefore, apologize for again impressing him into my service. Still continuing to address Lord Mansfield, he says—"You may know, perhaps, that the language of truth is uniform and consistent: to depart from it safely, requires memory and discretion." Now, Sir, I would counsel the Islander—of whom the public will, by this time, be nearly as tired as myself—that before he again attempt to depart from the language of truth, he be careful to satisfy himself that his memory do not betray him; before he again attempt to charge a writer in the public prints with having "wantonly and causelessly" administered the chastigation he so justly merits, he be more careful to ascertain that he is not writing a FALSEHOOD—a thing devoid of foundation in fact. Let the Editor of that paper take up the first number of his "promising" Journal, and he will there find, that in the second paragraph of his very first Editorial, he throws down the gauntlet, with the most unblushing arrogance, effrontery, and presumption. Let him there read his own condemnation, when asserting, that "our Island Press has never yet possessed, or even laid claim to any general or particular influence with the community." That—wanting such influence—it was therefore "devoid of utility?" and although he insinuates that such is the fact, yet will he not stop to inquire whether this absence of utility was attributable to a want of liberal enterprise on the part of the proprietors, satisfying himself with the assurance, that the truth of his averment could not be impugned by a single doubt. "It is the consideration, then, (says he) of this NON-EFFICIENT state of our Island Press, particularly as compared—(with what?)—with that of the neighbouring Province of Nova Scotia (!), that has at length brought about the advent of the first number of THE ISLANDER, the beginning, we trust, of a long series of honest, useful, loyal and patriotic papers. We have sought for the cause of the limited circulation of the Journals already established, and have found it in the apathy of mind, with regard to them, into which their general dearth, under the editorial head, of sentiments and opinions relative to engraving questions of public moment, has allowed even the otherwise most voracious news-readers to fall." &c. &c. &c.

And was there here no cause for the letter of FLAGELLATOR? Was he—or any one—a friend to the established Press of the Island—to stand tamely by, and see it contemptuously spoken of and maligned by a print of yesterday? Does the Editor of the Islander mean to say—calmly and dispassionately—that the Register, the Royal Gazette and the Colonial Herald have proved hitherto as valueless to the community as so many sheets of waste paper? Let him turn over the files of those periodicals, and he will there find "articles" of a far more "pungent" nature than any which have yet appeared in the columns of the Islander—his notable remarks on the Marriage Act, to the contrary, notwithstanding; articles which have tended—and powerfully—to bring this Colony into notice, and encourage emigration to its shores. And is this to possess no influence? Is this to be devoid of utility? Has not this Island grown with the growth of its established Press, and strengthened with its strength? And is FLAGELLATOR, for daring to reply to the vituperations slander of the Islander, to be calumniated as displaying a "spirit of malignity" worse and more detestable than that of Herod, the infanticide, and as "causelessly and wantonly" provoking the indignation of the supercilious Editor of the Islander? Has the latter's task, in writing a long, abusive and pointless article, of two columns, in his 3d Number, been that of "repulsing unpromoted and impotent malignity?" Or rather, has it not proved a clumsy and ineffectual attempt to extricate himself from the mire in which he had "causelessly" and unnecessarily involved himself? Had the Editor of the Islander come forward modestly and ingenuously, professing his intention to uphold what was good, and condemn the bad—without laying about him, right and left—I promise him, he would never have been molested. His black-hearted enemies would never have troubled themselves about him. They would have suffered him—not to walk the course—but to pursue his way, "without the turning of a single hair." But this would not content the Islander. He must needs be a mighty man of valour. He must beat down every obstacle in the way of his professional advancement. He must needlessly and cringingly come forth, and pester us with his fulsome adulation of public officers and Honourables—none of whom had been attacked or spoken ill of. He must needs take upon himself the task of defending that which had never been impeached! And when he discovers that a writer could be found possessing the hardihood to accept the challenge and raise the gauntlet, and a paper sufficient bold and independent to publish it, he—the Islander—must, forsooth, attack a private individual, and charge that individual with "malignity"—"detraction"—and "black-heartedness"—with having "causelessly and wantonly" dared to dispute the ground with a man of his surpassing prowess and erudition!!

And has this Islander succeeded in rebutting even one of his antagonists' assertions? I answer—No. Has he succeeded in belying the correctness of my friend FLAGELLATOR'S Daguerreotype-likeness of himself, as expressed in his first Editorial? I answer—No. The "galled jade" has winced, and his defence (pardon the charge of sex, Mr. Editor) has been a total failure.

In conclusion: Had The Islander been content to have proceeded as I have said, he would have found a friend; but, as it is, he has encountered a determined antagonist—a foe—although, I trust, a fair one; one who, either be it in the person of FLAGELLATOR or myself, will, I trust, be ever ready and manly combatant; and, I assure him, without a grade of personal animosity. We war with men's opinions, not their persons. But I will tell him—once and for all—that although I will yield to none in loyalty to my Sovereign, and a proper and deferential respect to those in authority—when they, by their conduct, so deserve, I shall never be found to withdraw and hide myself, merely because a blustering Islander may think proper to come forward, and advocate that which no sensible man will dare to advocate—the maintenance of sinecures, at the expense of a groaning—a starving—people, and the giving of office to persons whose claims—however excellent their private character—are far inferior to those of others in the community.

PHILO-FLAGELLATOR.
Charlottetown, 21st December, 1842.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIAL HERALD.
SIR; I beg, through the medium of your useful Journal, to ask the Church Warden and Vestry of St. Paul's Church, in this Town, if it be their intention to suffer the beautiful scaffolding around its Tower to remain until blown down, or until it falls from natural decay? assuring them that if they think it ornamental, the congregation in general are of a very different opinion—to say nothing of the risk of being maintained, which the attendants on Divine Worship at that Church are liable to, at this boisterous Season, if it should be blown about their ears some Sabbath morning, on their attempting to enter the Church.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—While Donald Macdonald, jun., of Hay River, Lot 47, was setting a fox trap at a bait placed for that purpose, on the evening of the 7th inst., one of his neighbours came along with his gun, to watch for a fox he had some time previously seen there, and mistaking the object he saw at the bait (the night being somewhat dark) for a rook, he deliberately fired, lodging the contents of his gun in Mr. Macdonald's back and thighs, at a distance of fifteen yards. Fortunately, however, the shot did not penetrate far enough to render his case dangerous.

SHIP NEWS.
The Schr. Nelson, Salmund, arrived at Three Rivers, on Tuesday last, from St. John's, N. F., after a passage of 11 days, with a number of passengers on board. We have not heard of any of our Island vessels having been sold at St. John's, and the price of agricultural produce was anything but encouraging. The Eleanore, Collins, which cleared out at this Port for Newfoundland, on the 14th ult., had not arrived when the Nelson left.

The Schr. Annandale, from Halifax, arrived at Three Rivers on the 20th inst. Having Goods for this town, she left that place and arrived off this Harbour on Friday, but not being able to get up the river, she put about again, and made Georgetown on Monday, where she now lies, and will discharge her cargo.—Gaz.

A Brigantine called the Rising Sun has been wrecked at Aiken's Cape, Bay Fortune, and is advertised to be sold on the 3d January next, for the benefit of all concerned.

The Brothers, Turnbull, arrived from Halifax, a few days since, and now lies at the entrance of York River.

GREAT ATTRACTION!!

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS,
BY THE DAGUERREOTYPE PROCESS,
Taken in One Minute,
By Messrs. HODGKINSON & BUTTERS,

WHO take leave to intimate to the Inhabitants of Charlottetown and the surrounding Country, that they will remain here a short time, for the purpose of TAKING LIKENESSES of those who may favor them with their patronage.

This recently discovered beautiful Art, which has obtained so much deserved attention and celebrity both in the Old and New World, has, after long practice, study and expense, been brought by them to a pitch of perfection which they flatter themselves has not been equalled elsewhere. They are now enabled to give the precise and life-like expression of the eye, and the most delicate shades of the countenance and dress, with a perfection hitherto unattained; and the nearest approach to their Portraits is that presented by the most highly finished Mezzotint Engravings—free, however, from those imperfections inseparable from all the works of man.

As a present to a distant relative or friend, nothing would be more highly prized than such a Portrait, and the charge being so low, puts the gratification within the reach of all. Parents would do well to take advantage of the present opportunity to procure Likenesses of their children, as it has been a source of unavailing regret to many a sorrowing Parent, in after years, that they possessed no such memorial of a departed child; this can now be remedied, and they would do well "to secure the shadow," for fear "the substance fade!"

The Daguerreotype Room, which is open from 10 o'clock, A. M., until 4 P. M., is situated in the Herald Office Building, where numerous specimens of Miniatures, singly and in groups, will be exhibited, and which the Inhabitants of the Town and its environs are respectfully solicited to inspect.

* * * Portraits taken in all kinds of weather—clear, cloudy, snowy or rainy.
N. B.—There is a comfortable Dressing-room attached, where ladies can make their toilette.
In taking the several members of a family, a considerable deduction is made.

PROSPECTUS
OF A WEEKLY PERIODICAL, TO BE CALLED THE OLIVE BRANCH.

Dedicated to Temperance, Morality, Education, Literature, &c.
THE Committee of the Halifax Temperance Society, being fully persuaded that a Weekly Paper, published under the auspices of the Temperance Societies throughout the Province, and edited by a person of talent, judgment and good taste, would greatly promote the interests of the Benevolent, Patriotic and Christian cause of Temperance, and by a judicious intermixture of suitable subjects, would tend to create a taste for moral and polite Literature, where it does not yet exist, and to foster it where it is already formed—it respectfully solicits the aid and co-operation of those Societies to carry into effect so useful an undertaking, sensible that with such patronage and assistance, success is certain, while without these it is doubtful, if not hopeless.

The principal object of the intended Journal being to advocate the interests of Temperance, it will contain reports of the state, the progress, and the prospects of the cause, not only in this Province, but throughout the world; correspondence of the Missionaries and of the country Societies, and original and selected Articles bearing directly upon the subject. It will also embrace a Weekly Summary of the Current News, divested of political bias; occasional articles connected with Education, Science, and General Literature; Moral Tales, Poetry, &c.

In a word, it is the anxious desire and the dearest wish of the Committee, to publish a Paper that shall be worthy of the cause and principles which they advocate, useful to the rising generation, acceptable to the community at large, and a credit to Nova Scotia; and with these intentions and these hopes, they venture to solicit for the proposed periodical a liberal share of public patronage, especially as the extremely low price at which it will be published will place it within the reach of every family; while the field which they propose to cultivate being now unoccupied—a waste—its improvement will not interfere with the useful labors of those who are directing upon other subjects the energies of the Press.

Should sufficient encouragement offer, the first number of "THE OLIVE BRANCH" will be issued the First Saturday in January next. It will be printed on paper of the same size and quality as that of "The Morning Herald," previous to its enlargement, and its mechanical execution will be neat and accurate.

TERMS:—Four Shillings and Four Pence per annum, delivered in the city—Six Shillings and Three Pence, when sent by the Mail, payable invariably in advance.

AGENTS:—The Secretaries of Temperance Societies are requested to act as Agents, and any person who shall procure 10 Subscribers and remit the advance, shall receive a copy gratis.

All Communications (if by mail, post paid) to be addressed to EDWARD YOUNG, Corresponding Secretary, Halifax Temperance Society.

Subscriptions to the above Paper will be received by Messrs. Cooper & Bremner, Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY MEDICINE.
THAT MR. MOFFAT'S Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters have long since obtained the high and enviable distinction and a host of competitors, and that they acquired it solely by their invariable and almost unlimited efficacy, without the usual aid of fulsome puffery and pretensions, are well known to the public, and cannot be denied.—While very little has been said concerning these astonishing Life Medicines by the proprietor himself, and not more than was necessary to call the attention of the afflicted to a sure and speedy means of relief, their renown has rapidly flown from one individual to another, and from family to family, until they have long since become known in almost every town and village in the Union, as a wonderful and insupportable blessing.

Voluntary and unsolicited testimonials of their absolutely astonishing efficacy, in diseases of the most dreadful and obstinate character, as well as in others of prevalent and ordinary occurrence, have been received by the proprietor from the persons they have cured from every section of the country, and still continue to be received in increasing numbers. It is with pride and pleasure that the proprietor refers the public to his "MEDICAL MANUAL," where a widely various selection of these testimonials is published, with the names and residence of the writers, because he has no hesitation in saying that the annals of Medical Science do not contain a greater number of variety of cures effected by any medicine known to the profession, or cures of a more frightful kind or of longer standing, coming as these testimonials do from the cured persons themselves, who certainly know best, from their own happy experience, whether they are cured or not. The evidence they afford of the prominent and unprecedented efficacy of these grand remedies is perfectly irresistible, and commands rather than solicits the respect of the public. In addition to those already published, the proprietor is in possession of a vast accumulation of these personal certificates, demonstrating that his Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters are promptly and uniformly efficacious.

In Scrofula in all its hydra-headed forms. Dyspepsia whether chronic or occasional, Rheumatism both acute and chronic, Jaundice and bilious or liver complaints, however distressing or complicated. Fever and Ague in all its varieties, and when quinine and all other specifics fail; Habitual Constiveness, (especially when the Life Pills are used as dinner pills, immediately before or after that meal) Pains even in cases of thirty years standing, Dropsy, Gout and settled pains in the breast, back, or organs, disease of the bladder and kidneys, piles, tumours, and ulcers, Erysipelas, and all other eruptive diseases; Pleurisy, Asthma, Bronchitis, and other affections of the chest, lungs and mucous membranes; pimples, stains of the skin, and the foul unhealthy appearance of the complexion, arising from whatever cause, nervous or general debility, headaches, and giddiness, together with a vast variety of other maladies, in proof of the speedy and effectual cure of which by these medicines alone, the proprietor has hundreds, nay thousands of certified testimonials. Both the Pills and Bitters are mild and delightful in their operation, producing none of even the temporary prostrations and nausea occasioned by nearly all other medicines, and they can be administered with safety to young children, and females in the most delicate health. Prepared and sold by Dr. Wm. B. Moffat, 375 Broadway, New York. For sale also by the agents.—New York, May 30.
