

Campbellton Tigers Capture NB-PEI Title Beating Abbies 4-1 In Sudden Death Game

A heavier, faster-skating and smoother-passing team of Campbellton Tigers last night walked off with the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island Junior hockey title as they dumped the Charlottetown Abbies 4-1 in a rugged, sudden-death encounter before approximately 750 fans at the Forum last evening.

The Abbies opened the scoring early in the first period, were out-scored 3-0 in the second and allowed one in the finale. The game was marred at times by continuous periods of hard-checking and a lot of unnecessary roughness and high-sticking. At least a half dozen men had to be treated for cuts, some of which required stitches.

The Abbies took very little time to get organized, and before a minute had elapsed in play, Merrill Pineau led a three-man attack, with Kane and Crabbe, into the Tigers end. Pineau carried into the corner and slipped a goal-mouth pass out. Crabbe took a swing at it and Jim Crockett made the save. John Kane grabbed the rebound and tipped it over the crossbar who was falling to smother the loose puck. This, however, was the only effective organized attack that the Abbies displayed all during the game as the faster Tigers quickly gained a considerable edge in play.

Bob Dillon in the Abbies nets drew round after round of applause as he held the goal-hungry Tigers off as they continually peppered him with rubber from all ranges and angles. He was especially sharp in stopping shots of the sticks of Andy Ouellet and Alan MacIntyre in the third.

Dillon successfully held the Tigers off the scoring sheet until near the mid-way mark of the game. At 8:47 of the middle frame, Roger LeBlanc blazed a 25-foot slap shot by Dillon on pass-outs from Bellevue and MacIntyre to knot the count at 1-1.

Three minutes later MacIntyre was back again, sinking a 20-foot drive in the far corner of the Abbies net on a pass from defenseman Bill Gorham as the locals played short-handed.

Shortly after the 17-minute mark the Tigers forged into the Abbies zone, this time with Alan MacIntyre, the second member of one of the two sets of twins that played on the visiting team, beating Dillon on a set-up from Pat Santerre and Bellevue to give the Tigers a 3-1 lead.

A member of the MacIntyre duo was in on all four Campbellton markers as James sent Don Seyr in the clear near the mid-way mark of the third period for the final goal of the game as a pair of Abbie players served penalties.

Seyr skated in alone on left-wing, cut in from behind, pulled Dillon to the side and dropped the rubber in the open net as he passed.

Referee Art Perry from Charlottetown and Henry Kelly from Moncton called a total of 18 penalties, including majors to Arsenal and Anderson for fighting in the second period. The Abbies were tabbed with 11 of the penalties and the Tigers with seven.

The Campbellton team played only three defensemen during the game but their work was lessened somewhat by the continual back-skating of the three, well-balanced forward lines. Coach Jack Ready of the Abbies used only three rear-guards regularly while using defenseman Murray Stevenson and forwards Dowling, Mulligan and Stewart sparingly.

The Tigers leave for Campbellton by train this morning and will now advance against the Nova Scotia juvenile champs for the Maritime title.

The extension of the bounty period for the month of April, it was due to expire on March 31st, and the increase on fox and raccoon from three to five dollars as announced in the local press, will come as a welcome surprise to those who have been picking up a sizable remuneration from hunting predators with a price on their snouts and ears. The bounty on skunk remained as is. Bounty is paid on the snout of a skunk with a portion of white strip attached. On fox and raccoon the ears are presented for punching with face mask and snout attached.

Bounty will be paid on adult animals only. Mailing in, or bringing to the bounty office, of pups and kits is just a waste of time and stamps. The $2.00 increase for the month of April only is an effort to encourage the destruction of adult animals either before or shortly after the litters are born. In such cases the young die in a short time and its case of trying to kill a number of birds with one stone. During past springs when bounty was paid on young and old alike it was the custom of some hunters to locate dens and then wait until the newly born pups could be heard whimpering when axe and shovel would be put to work. In some cases skunks and foxes shot and found to be heavy with young an autopsy was performed and the unborn pups presented for bounty and payment demanded for same.

The purpose of the bounty is to make it worth while for trappers to hunt the animals concerned when they are not worth taking for their pelt value only and relieve the pressure on our domestic poultry and wildlife. It was not intended as a 'get rich' scheme so why pay out $35.00 for a job when equal results may be obtained by payment of $5.00.

Bounties came up for consideration during the recent Federal-Provincial Wildlife Conference held at Montreal. Many provincial game departments have reached the conclusion that bounty payment is not an effective method of controlling predators.

It was announced by the Game Commissioners of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba that bounties on wolves, including coyotes, had been discontinued in their respective provinces. Instead of bounty payment a new and deadly poison has been developed and used by specially trained Government personnel.

Such a program would not work out in a province that is highly agricultural and thickly populated in the western provinces, and also includes Ontario and Quebec, large lakes that are miles in extent are as common as mill dams here in P. E. I. Wolves and coyotes travel across such lakes at regular intervals, in fact appear to enjoy doing it. Strict rules govern the setting out of poison baits. They must be set on a large lake and must also be marked and warning signs posted. The general marking procedure is to set out a couple of large spruce or fir trees in holes cut in the ice. The trees are generally 150 to 200 yards apart and the poison bait is set out midway and in direct line between the two markers. Any person in those provinces recognize such a set-up immediately and keep clear.

This method has proven to be inexpensive and highly effective. The bounty system, especially if the amount paid was high enough to make trapping worthwhile, was found to be abused in numerous instances. Cases came to light where highly specialized fraud was practiced. I told one Biologist that here in P. E. I. we

De Marco Captures Welter Title From Saxton By TKO

BOSTON (AP)—Rugged, clever Tony De Marco, a preliminary fighter 21 months ago, punched champion Johnny Saxton virtually senseless to win the world welterweight championship on a technical knockout at 2:20 of the 14th round Friday night.

De Marco, a 3-to-1 underdog at fight time, sent the 24-year-old Negro, in his first title defence, through the ropes with a dozen rocking blows in the 14th. Saxton stumbled to his feet at nine. He stood helplessly taking a rain of another 10 vicious belts in his own corner before referee Mel Manning stepped in to proclaim the new title.

De Marco's final flurry capped an amazing comeback by the Boston youngster who rallied from a cut eye in the second round, a vulnerable defence in the first six and the disadvantage of having to take the fight to his counterpunching opponent. Tony, known for his walloping left hook and long-range accuracy, came up with a solid right and a new-found fighting brilliance to match Saxton's strong point.

ROAR APPROVAL
The crowd of 8,706 who paid a net of $53,662 and gross of $68,716 to see the non-televvised bout, roared its approval as De Marco took charge in the eighth round. Tony covered up nicely where he had been prey to left hooks in the early rounds and unleashed combinations to Saxton's head that nailed the 145-pound ex-champ as he tried to bore in.

In the 12th De Marco sent Saxton back to the ropes where he pounded him with a salvo of left hooks. Saxton managed to fight his way out but his punches had lost their steam. De Marco, trying to win it at that point, missed with some wild punches as Saxton weaved the ropes at the end of the round.

Tony crowded his opponent through the 13th. Saxton came out for the fatal 14th apparently going for the knockout to salvage the bout. A sharp exchange followed with De Marco finding the range, and soon it was over.

Judge Tom McNeely had Saxton facing with a unique set-up. Nature appeared to have no specific control measures set up in this province for skunk and raccoon. They were introduced contrary to Nature's scheme.

Foxes, which are native to the province, would fall off in numbers and quickly if a plague wiped out the high field mouse population. It takes a lot of meat to raise a litter of 6 or 7 fox pups and to keep them growing and healthy. Take the introduced raccoon for instance. They'll eat most anything and have developed a strong liking for grain. They love roaming a stubble field and tanking up on left over grain and clover. If all the mice and rabbits on the island died it wouldn't worry Mr. Coon in the least. He's all the same pig . . . give him a belly full of oats and clover and he's content. Furthermore in the winter time when the stubble fields are under a coating of snow and ice he curls up in his den and sleeps until the weather moderates. His is the life of Riley . . . or was until a bounty was set on his highwayman's mask.

Hab Coach Not Happy Over Condition Of Team In Finals

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Doleful Dick Irvin, wallowing comfortably in despair, said Friday his Canadiens are the weakest team ever to face the Detroit Red Wings.

The silver-haired Montreal coach called his players together for a conference prior to their departure for Detroit Friday night. The first two games of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals will be played there Sunday and Tuesday, the next two games the following Thursday and Saturday in Montreal. Further dates, as necessary, will be set by the National Hockey League.

When the conference was all over Irvin just wagged his head. Only nine forwards and four defencemen that's our team for the cup final," he said. He wasn't counting George McAvoy, recently signed defenceman from Penitents, two tournament winners.

W. K. IN MAN-POWER
"We're the weakest Montreal team—certainly the weakest in manpower—the Red Wings have ever met," said Irvin.

"If one of our men gets hurt, the Red Wings have a shoe-in. They have 17 of the 18 players they had last year when they beat us in overtime of the seventh game; the whole team really itched."

"Detroit didn't let players go this year, like we did, to help other clubs. We lost Eddie Litzenger, Bucky Hollingworth, Johnny McCormack and Lorne Davis.

"Detroit let Metro Phystal go to Chicago, that's all. Even then Jack Adams (general manager of the Wings) screamed an appeal for sympathy. Then when Ted Lindsay was suspended, he appealed the decision—Adams, the great appealer.

FORGOT ONE NAME
"We lost Pat Meger and Jim MacPherson through injuries, two more bad blows for us."

"Wouldn't it be something if we could call on Litzenger, Meger, MacPherson, McCormack and the others and, say Eddie Mazur and Paul Masnick on the Royals?" His shoulders sagging, chin on his chest, Irvin walked sadly away.

Three minutes later he ghosted out of the gloomiest corner in the Montreal Forum.
"I forgot one name," he croaked.
"Who's that?"
"Follow by the name of Richard."

Strait Swim Cancelled

VICTORIA (CP)—Eighteen-year-old Janice White, the practically unknown swimmer from Toronto, has cancelled plans to swim the strait of Juan de Fuca between here and Port Angeles, Wash.

Announcement of the indefinite cancellation was made late Thursday night after a weather conference, but the door was left open for an attempt at a later date.

Winter winds twice forced the postponement of Miss White's attempt to make a 22-mile swim across the unconquered strait.

A joint statement from Miss White and Island Tug and Barge Co., who were to provide an escort tug for the swim, said:

"Janice's father, Mr. Lester G. White, now in Victoria and has consulted with Capt. Goodwin, and the weather conditions are so unsettled and unfavorable they have decided to cancel the swim indefinitely. Janice has not given up her ambition to swim the strait and hopes that another more favorable time be arranged."

The statement thanked all those who had helped Miss White.

Fight Judges Disciplined

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Both judges who gave Gil Cadillac a hooded decision over Willie Pep in their televised fight Wednesday have been disciplined by the California Athletic Commission.

Commissioner Joe Phillips said Friday Eddie James' name was removed from the judges list. Tony Bosnich, former fighter breaking in as an official, was placed on probation.

To Ask Marciano Or Moore To Referee Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Veteran manager Jack (Doc) Kearns said Friday he will ask that either Rocky Marciano or Archie Moore be named to referee the April 13 bout between Carl (Bobo) Olson and Joey Maxim, without any judges.

Kearns, Maxim's manager, said he will make a formal request to the California state athletic commission the either one or the other of the champions be selected as the sole official for the televised bout at the Cow Palace.

Both Marciano, the heavyweight titlist, and Moore, who holds the light-heavyweight crown, are in California.

Kearns' statement, made in an interview, followed a blast at the officiating of the Willie Pep-Gil Cadillac featherweight bout Wednesday night at nearby Parks arcy force base. Cadillac won an unpopular split decision. Both judges who voted for him were disciplined by the commission.

Sid Flaherty, who manages both Olson, the middleweight champion, and Cadillac, was criticized for being friendly with the two judges. Flaherty immediately announced he would prefer to have Kearns suggest the officials for the Olson-Maxim 10-rounder.

Picks Cleveland Indians To Retain A. L. Pennant

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Indians are this writer's pick to capture the American League pennant for the second straight year because they have more and better pitching and greater power than any of the other seven clubs.

The runner-up spot must go to New York Yankees whose wealth of talent everywhere but in the pitching department makes them far superior to any of their rivals with the exception of the Indians. Only the uncertainty of their pitching keeps the Yankees from being a match for the defending champions.

The hustling, aggressive Chicago White Sox, with abundant pitching, a well-knit defence but inadequate power, don't appear to be in a class with the Indians and Yankees but they are much too strong for the others. The rest of the league can be divided into two groups, with Boston, Detroit and Washington battling for the remaining spot in the first division and Baltimore and Kansas City struggling to stay out of the cellar.
