SALLY DOWS,

An After War Romance of the South.

"But I've reason to suppose—I mean," said Courtland, correcting himself with some deliberation, "that anyone who knows Miss Dows' opinions knows these are not her views. Why should she take them up?"

"Because she takes him up," returned Champney, hurriedly, "and even if she didn't believe in them herself, she'd have to share the responsibility with him in the eyes of every unreconstructed rowdy like Tom Higbee and the rest of them. They'd make short work of her niggers all the same."

"But I don't see why she should be made responsible for the opinions of her cousin, nor do I exactly know what 'taking him up' means," returned Courtland, quietly.

Champney moistened his dry lips with the julep and uttered a nervous laugh. "Suppose we say her husband, for that's what his coming back here means. Everybody knows that—you would too, if you ever talked with her about anything but business."

A bright flash of lightning that lit up the faces of the two men would have revealed Champney's flushed features and Courtland's lack of color, had they been looking at each other. But they were not, and the long reverberating crash of thunder which followed prevented any audible reply from Courtland, and covered his agitation.

For without fully accepting Champney's conclusion he was cruelly shocked at the young man's utterance of them. He had scrupulously respected the wishes of Miss Sally and had faithfully—although never hopelessly—held back any expression of his own love since their conversation in the cemetery. But while his native truthfulness and sense of honor had overlooked the seeming insincerity of her attitude towards Champney, he had never justified his own tacit participation in it, and the concealment of his own pretensions before his possible rival. It was true that she had forbidden him to openly enter the lists with her admirers, but Champney's innocent assumption of his indifference to her and his consequent half confidences added poignancy to his story. There seemed to be only one way to extricate himself and that was by a quarrel. Whether he did or did not believe Champney's story, whether it was only the jealous exaggeration of a rival or Miss Sally was actually deceiving them both—his position had become intolerable.

"I must remind you, Champney," he said, with freezing deliberation, "that Miss Miranda Dows and her niece now represent the Drummond Company equally with myself, and that you cannot expect me to listen to any reflections upon the way they choose to administer their part of its affairs, either now or to come. Still less do I care to discuss the idle gossip which can affect only the private interests of these ladies—with which neither you nor I have any right to interfere."

But the naivetie of the young Englishman was as invincible as Miss Sally's own, and as fatal to Courtland's attitude. "Of course I haven't any right, you know," he said, calmly ignoring the preamble of his companion's speech, "but I say—hang it all—even if a fellow has no chance himself he don't like to see a girl throw herself and her property away on a man like that."

"One moment, Champney," said Courtland, under the infection of his guest's simplicity, abandoning his former superior attitude. "You may say you have no chance. Do you wish me to understand that you are regularly a suitor of Miss Dows?"

"Y-e-e-s," said the young fellow—but with the hesitation of conscientiousness rather than evasion. "That is—you know—I was. But don't you see it couldn't be. It wouldn't do, you know. If those clannish neighbors of hers—that southern set—suspected that Miss Sally was courted by an Englishman, don't you know—a poacher on their preserves—it would be all up with her position on the property and her influence over them. I don't mind telling you that's one reason why I left the company and took that other plantation. But even that didn't work; they had their suspicions excited already."

"Did Miss Dows give that as a reason for declining your suit?" asked Courtland, slowly.

"Yes; you know what a straightforward girl she is. She didn't come no rot about 'not expecting anything of the kind' or about 'being a sister to me,' and all that, for, by Jove, she's always more like a fellow's sister, don't you know, than his girl. Of course it was hard lines for me, but I suppose she was about right." He stopped and then added with a kind of gentle persistency: "You think she was about right—don't you?"

With what was passing in Courtland's mind, the question seemed so bitterly ironical that he leaned half angrily forward, with an unconscious movement of attempting to catch the speaker's expression in the darkness. "I should hardly venture to give an opinion," he said deliberately. "Miss Dows' relations with her neighbors are so very peculiar. And from what you tell me of her cousin it would seem that her desire to placate them is not always to be depended upon."

Will Asiatic Cholera Follow?

Mr. Joe Howard's theory that one horror of a similar nature follows another to the number of three has a chance for confirmation this summer if certain predictions prove true. First it was la grippe: "A whim" the French define it. Second came deaths by scores from its after effects, or from the many atmospheric changes of the past few months. Severe cases of pneumonia, bronchitis, intense catarrh and general loss of strength were the results, until death was almost welcomed as a relief to the sufferers. So that this epidemic and its sequence has proven to be the most terribly "whim" that ever infested this country. And now for number three; the theory is said to be advanced that the cholera is very likely to find fertile soil in the generally debilitated constitutions of our people resulting from the effects of such a winter and spring as has just passed. Whether the theory of three will be confirmed in this case or not remains to be seen. At any rate it behooves every person still affected by any of the complaints due to these climatic changes and epidemics, such as catarrh or bronchial troubles, to look well to themselves and see that every trace of the trouble is removed this present month; before the heat of summer still more debilitates their system. For years we have found that simple old remedy, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, used as directed, to be the most certain remedy for all forms of lingering summer colds, catarrh or bronchial affections, as well as a preventive and cure for all kinds of summer complaints. It is absolutely certain that a remedy that has survived for eighty years as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has done, must have more than average merit. We suppose there is not a family in this country but what has this good old fashioned remedy in the house. If there is, we advise them to get it at once or write the manufacturers, I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., for a pamphlet describing its various uses for the last eighty years. Now is the time. Delays are dangerous, and an ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure. ap10 d6i w1i

A Kingston Orangeman.

KINGSTON, April 17.—Mr. James Blair, of Napanee, whose case has been creating so much interest in that locality, is well known in the Limestone city. He was a resident of Kingston for fourteen years, and it was while he was engaged as cutter for Mr. Livingstone, of this place, that he contracted Bright's disease of the kidneys. His Orange friends in Kingston are delighted to know that he is cured of this terrible disease by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Many of them who have been similarly troubled with backache, rheumatism and kindred complaints have started using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and several marvellous cures are already reported. Mr. Blair joined the Orange order in 1854, and is the oldest Orangeman in Napanee. He has been a delegate to the Orange Grand Lodge, and has held several important offices in the order. His friends considered his case as incurable, and are of course amazed at his wonderful recovery.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

HEART FAILURE, FAINTNESS, ACUTE DYSPEPSIA, with Complete Nervous Prostration,

Cured by Using HAWKER'S NERVE & STOMACH TONIC.

A LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Wm. Thompson of Musquash, N. B., says: "For 2 years past my wife has suffered with Acute Dyspepsia accompanied with complete nervous prostration and a smothering sensation about the heart which frequently produced an attack of faintness. She became weak and nervous, lost all energy, and had a constant feeling of dread. She suffered with intense pain in the stomach after eating, which was usually followed by the smothering sensation about the heart and fainting spells. She tried a great many remedies and was treated by the doctors for some time, but obtained no relief. She became so discouraged that she gave up all hope of ever getting better, when our pastor suggested that she try HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC and LIVER PILLS, which had produced remarkable cures in several cases he knew of. We did so and she obtained immediate relief from the distress after taking the second dose, and has continued to improve ever since until today she is as well as ever, and can enjoy her food without fear of suffering. I cannot speak too highly of these valuable medicines which have restored my wife to health and strength and saved much suffering and expense."

Rev. Henry M. Spike, Rector of Musquash, N. B., says: "I am personally acquainted with Mrs. Tompson's case, and am greatly pleased that the medicine which I recommended to her produced such remarkable results."

The Telephone Company —OF— P. E. ISLAND.

PARTIES using the Telephones would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following rules:—

1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter.

2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud and distinctly.

3rd. Place the telephone so as to cover the ear, just as if you wished to shut out all other sounds. Do not press too hard on the ear.

It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter, if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, is entirely unnecessary, and is a useless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.

MRS. LIZZIE A. KNOWLTON, LIBERTY, ME.

Cured of a Severe Case of Dyspepsia by using Groder's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup.

She is the wife of a well-known Spring Bed manufacturer, W. J. Knowlton, and by him induced to try "Groders," the remedy that cured him of a bad attack of dyspepsia.

She says: GENTLEMEN:—

For several years I have been afflicted with dyspepsia and a complicated stomach and liver trouble. The least food I ate would distress me terribly and fill my stomach with gas. I was greatly troubled with dizziness, my appetite was poor, and I had a very bad cough, was very nervous, could not sleep, and in fact my whole system seemed to be affected; was unable to attend to my household duties. Physicians and medicines gave me no relief or benefit, and I had lost all faith in them, but to gratify the request of my husband I decided to try

GRODER'S BOTANIC DYSPEPSIA SYRUP.

Before I had taken one bottle I was greatly improved. I followed its directions and continued its use, and to-day I am in my usual good health, can sleep, eat, and enjoy life, thanks wholly to Groder's Syrup.

Respectfully,
MRS. LIZZIE A. KNOWLTON, Liberty, Me.
