Blight-Resistant Spud Is Notable Achievement

Late blight, always one of the most serious of all potato diseases in Canada, has apparently met its master. Development of a blight-resistant potato, announced today by the Canada Department of Agriculture, is of vital economic importance to the nation's tuber industry, according to officials of the department's Division of Horticulture. Two new varieties, proven highly resistant to late blight in field tests across Canada, have been established after more than 17 years of research and testing with 90,000 or more different seedlings. Now in the process of being licensed for sale, the varieties are Canis and Keswick. Both are available this fall to certified seed growers.

No definite figures are available on Canada's annual loss due to late blight but N. M. Parks, of the Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, calls it "considerable." Under conditions favorable to it, the disease reaches epidemic proportions in some areas and often destroys entire crops. United States losses due to late blight average 10,000,000 bushels annually.

Available quantities will be determined when the crop is harvested, but applications for the certified seed of Canis and Keswick varieties, on prescribed forms, are being accepted now in minimums of 10 bushels for one or 20 for both varieties, by the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Reduction in Gasoline Costs

Reflecting the current higher exchange value of the Canadian dollar, reduction of four tenths of a cent per gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline and kerosene and two tenths of a cent per gallon on furnace, stove and other fuel oils were announced yesterday by Imperial Oil Limited.

Appreciation of the dollar has resulted in lower cost of crude oil for the products imported by the Company, but it is pointed out that the dollar exchange value is now free to fluctuate.

The new price also takes into account recent increases in ocean freight rates which have added to the cost of importing crude and manufacturing products. These increased costs have offset part of the price advantage resulting from dollar appreciation.

Wholesale Price TORONTO, Oct. 16 — (CP) — Imperial Oil Limited today announced reductions in the wholesale prices of gasoline, kerosene and light fuel oils due to the increased foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar.

Other companies indicated they would make similar adjustments. Gasoline and kerosene wholesale prices were cut seven-tenths of a cent in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces, and four-tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

Furnace stove and other light fuel oils were reduced half a cent a gallon in Ontario and the Prairies and two-tenths of a cent in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

The company said appreciation of the Canadian dollar in terms of other currencies resulted in lower costs for crude oil and imports. Higher ocean freight rates necessitated the smaller reductions in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland.

W. H. Rea, President of Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., said his company would make similar changes. He assumed that retail prices would be lowered but noted that individual operators set the retail price.

Milk is well-protected by Aluminum. An 'inside story' 1. The nourishing glass of milk from Canada is the happy ending to this story. It started when Nature put aluminum in the earth itself. That is why this important mineral is right in the milk we drink. 2. And Nature gave aluminum qualities that make it ideal in contact with food. Many milk pails . . . many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum. 3. From farm to dairy . . . from country to city . . . rich, wholesome Canadian milk is being increasingly carried in aluminum containers to reach you fresh and pure. 4. And to cap it all, many bottles of milk are protection-sealed with shining aluminum foil tops. Aluminum assures cleanliness for this most sensitive of all foods. No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. Whenever you see aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected flavour, quality and purity. ALUMINUM COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD. Hints to the Housewife! Some natural minerals in foods and water leave a dark deposit on cooking utensils. These deposits are harmless and are easily removed by standard cleaners or steel wool and soap. Aluminum is friendly to food!
