

Specializing in Life Insurance Analysis and Programming
H. C. BOHAKER
Unit Supervisor
SUN LIFE OF CANADA
Charlottetown, P. E. I.
Phone 835

TWO IMPORTANT DATES TO REMEMBER

TUESDAY EVENING DEC. 5th.

for Charlottetown's annual Rotary Auction over CFCY, and Proceeds from both events in aid of crippled children and other welfare organizations.

WEDNESDAY EVENING DEC. 6th.

when the Masons of Montague in co-operation with the Charlottetown Rotary Club will stage their annual auction in Yeo's Theatre, Montague.

CANVASSERS ARE NOW SOLICITING DONATIONS. PLEASE GIVE GENEROUSLY.

SKUNK AND FOX BOUNTY

A bounty on Skunks and Wild Red or Patch Foxes will be paid upon presentation of snout or pelt at the Royal Packing Company, Grafton Street, Charlottetown, P. E. I., from November 15th to December 15th, 1950.

Fox Bounty will be paid to Hunters and Trappers only. Pelts on which bounty is paid will be ear punched and may be sold by owner.

DEPT. OF INDUSTRY & NATURAL RESOURCES

BAY OF FUNDY SERVICE

S. S. Princess Helene

between

DIGBY and SAINT JOHN

will resume regular service

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27

Canadian Pacific

DANCE

AT THE WHELAN HALL

Sponsored by Women's Auxiliary of the Benevolent Irish Society
IN AID OF

ST. VINCENT'S and MT. HERBERT ORPHANAGES

TUESDAY, NOV. 21, 1950

Music by the "DOWNTOWNERS"

DANCING 9:30 - 1:30 A.M.

Dress Formal — Refreshments Served — Floor Show

ADMISSION $1.00 PER PERSON

FOR RESERVATIONS PHONE DENNIS DOWLING 385-W

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

HARD TO BELIEVE
There's nothing harder you will find than just to keep an open mind. —Old Mother Nature.

"If that isn't a fish I don't know a fish when I see it," said a foolish young Goose to another foolish young Goose. All young Geese are foolish because they haven't yet lived long enough to know all there is to know, or they think they know. They were staring hard at Finback the Whale who was on the surface of the sea getting a big breath of fresh air. All the other members of the flock were staring too, especially all the younger ones who were seeing a Whale for the first time.

"Of course it is a fish. It hasn't any legs, any feet, with which to crawl out on land. It must live in the water. So of course it must be a fish," said another. He spoke with the supreme wisdom of ignorance. "And look at that tail," said still another. "Who ever has seen any but a fish with a tail like that? Of course it is a fish."

"And see those fins," another spoke up. Of course he meant Finback's flippers. You know they do look like fins and they are used like fins. "No one but a fish has fins."

All the time the flock was keeping at a distance from Finback. Yes, sir, they were keeping at a distance, a long distance, although curiously was urging them to go nearer, the younger ones especially. They were the most curious and at the same time the most afraid.

"K'onk!" exclaimed Honker, the wise old leader. "That is a Whale, and a Whale is no more a fish than is Flathorn the Moose, or Light-foot the Deer, or Buster Bear whom you met on the shores of the ponds in the Forests we have flown over."

"But—but—" stammered one and stopped.

But what? asked Honker a bit impatiently.

"But they have legs," replied the young one.

"What good would legs be to me living in water all the time?" asked Honker.

Of course the young Goose couldn't answer that and didn't try. Honker began swimming nearer to Finback. The others were so used to following their leader that they did so now without thinking. The nearer they got the bigger Finback seemed and the harder it was to believe that any one could possibly be so big. They had to believe what they saw yet they were not sure that they did believe, that they were not asleep and dreaming. They had thought Flathorn the Moose a giant but beside this monster Flathorn would be trifling. Yes, big as he was he would seem just trifling beside Finback. "He must be the biggest person in the world," said one. Honker

Continued on page 12

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

CAREFUL PLAY NEEDED

Today's declarer had to maneuver with care to bring home his game contract.

11-15

West dealer. North-South vulnerable.

♠ J 10 9	♠ K 4 2
♠ 7	♠ 10 6 3
♠ K J 9 8 6	♠ A Q 10
♠ J 5 4 3	♠ 5 2
♠ 5	♠ K 10 8 6
♠ K Q J	♠ A 8 7 6 3
♠ 9 8 4	♠ A 5 2
♠ 7 3	♠ 4
♠ K 10 8 6	♠ A 7 2

The bidding:		West	North	East	South
2♠	Pass	Pass	Pass	2♠	4♠
Pass	Pass	3♠	Pass	Pass	4♠
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

East-West were using the weak two-bid, which is employed by a few experts for its preemptive value. (With a strong hand, they start off with the artificial bid of two clubs.)

West opened the heart king. Declarer won with the ace and led his singleton diamond toward dummy. There was some temptation to put up the king when West played low, but the weak two-bid told South that West probably did not have an ace outside of his good heart suit, so declarer put in the diamond jack from dummy—not that this made much difference.

East won with the queen and led back a heart, in an attempt to force dummy's trumps and in that way protect his own spade king.

After ruffing the heart lead in dummy, South led the spade jack and let it ride. He then ruffed a diamond and ruffed his last heart with the spade ten. Now he ruffed another diamond, and when West showed out, the original distribution of all hands was fairly well marked.

It would have been a serious error for South to lead a low club at this point, because East could have won with the queen and, by returning a club, held declarer to nine tricks. South did not fall into this error, however. He cashed the club ace and led a second round. Observe what this did to the defenders. If West ducked and let East win, East's diamond or trump return would give declarer an easy trump coup or trump finesse against East, and he would simply win his six spade tricks, the heart ace, two heart ruffs and the club ace. Conversely, if West put up the club king, he would drop East's queen, and South would lose only one club trick.

KING COLE TEA
Fragrant and Delicious

By Al Capp

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED

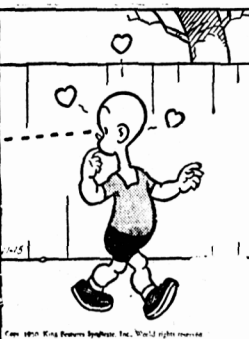

By Zane Grey

JOE PALOOKA

HENRY

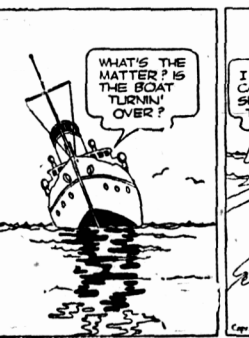

DOTTY DIPPLE

TIPPY AND "CAP" STUBS

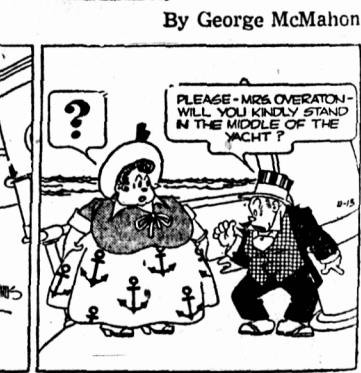

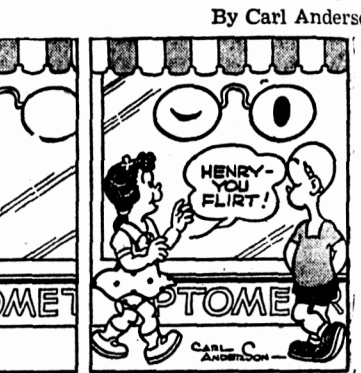

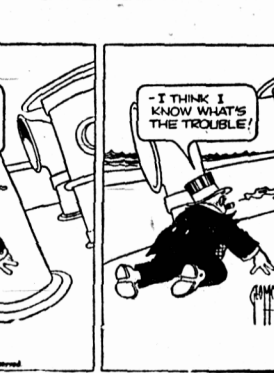

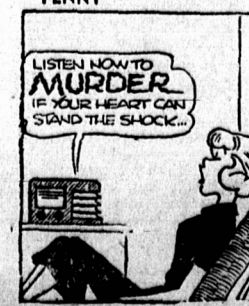

BRINGING UP FATHER

TILLY THE TOILER

PENNY

By Ham Fisher

By Carl Anderson

By Ruford

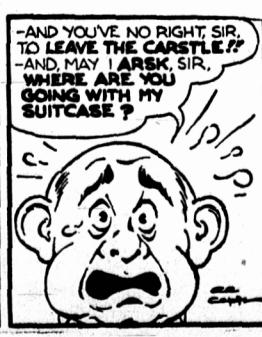

By Edwina

By George McMahon

By Westover

By Harry Hoegen

LIL ABNER

RIP KIRBY

By Alex Raymond