Lot 16 Girls Win Speaking Honors

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN—Four-H club public speaking honors last evening were awarded to Miss Norma Yeo of Lot 16, who won the junior event and also the prize for the best speech of the evening. Miss Joan McFadden, also of Lot 16, won the senior division speaking contest.

Runners-up in the junior class was Peter Lewis of Freetown, while the second place honours in the senior division were won by Miss Charlene Wright of Middleton.

These 4-H club public speaking contests were held in the Summerside "Y" Centre, and 12 contestants participated.

Judges for the contests were Dave Peacock, director of field work; Audrey MacMillan, Queen's County agriculture representative; and Irene Mountain, of the Women's Institute division, Charlottetown.

SEVEN FIRST placings and two trophies were awarded to Wayne Dickieson (above) during the 4-H Calf Club achievement day held recently in New Glasgow. Wayne placed first in the Holstein calf class, the Holstein yearling class, the Holstein two-year-old class, and in the efficiency, judging and showmanship. He was also awarded the Ralph Dickieson silver trophy awarded annually for the best care of calf and interest shown, and the Leith Dickieson silver trophy awarded annually for showmanship. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickieson, New Glasgow, he is shown here with one of his prize Holsteins.

W. Dickieson Cops Honors At New Glasgow Field Day

NEW GLASGOW—The New Glasgow 4-H Calf Club held their achievement day recently at the Junior Farmers Recreation Centre with a good attendance of interested parents and spectators present.

The classes were judged by Roland Buntain and Athol Roberts.

After the judging was completed the club leader and members invited the parents and guests into the recreation hall where special prizes were awarded:

TO PWINNERS

The Ralph Dickieson silver trophy for best care of calf and interest shown and the Leith Dickieson silver trophy for best showmanship were both presented to Wayne Dickieson.

Prizes of feed were donated by R.L. Dickieson Ltd. and MacGuigan and Boyle, and was divided between first, second and third prize calves in the three classes.

Cash donations from Borden and Errol Bagnall and Gordon Matheson representing Canada Packers and Swifts were given in the classes which did not have enough animals for regular prizes also to the club members who did not have calves.

After remarks were given by the agriculture representative Miss Audrey MacMillan and club leader Roy F. Dickieson, a delicious lunch was served by the mothers of the club members.

RESULTS

The results of the achievement day are as follows:

Holstein calf: Wayne Dickieson, Gloria Houston, Carol Dickieson, Helen Dickieson, Garth Carew, Dannie Nesbit, Gweneth MacDonal.

Holstein yearling: Wayne Dickieson, Gloria Houston, Helen Dickieson, Garth Carew, Dannie Nesbit, Gweneth MacDonal.

count was a deadlock after all the argument had been heard from solicitors on both sides.

The final ballot rejected Mr. Hunter was marked correctly but the mark was made with a ball point instead of a pencil.

C.R. McQuaid and J.B. Johnston of Charlottetown appeared for Mr. Hunter, J.O.C. Campbell and J. Elmer Blanchard appeared for Mr. Saville.

Abolishment

"I think the good feature of this visit is that it is reducing tensions and the general trend seems to be in the direction of a fresh attempt being made to work out some way of carrying on with all the frictions there have been.

"Naturally it will take time to reach agreement.

CANADA ON COMMITTEE

"Canada" is particularly interested in the question of disarmament because of our membership on the new UN disarmament committee—a 10-member body set up only last week.

The committee is scheduled to begin work in Geneva early next year.

Khrushchev's proposals struck British diplomatic observers at first sight as impractical and State Secretary Christian Herter of the United States declared:

"I think I can say the U.S. will go as far as the path of controlled disarmament as any other country. I stress the word 'controlled' because up to now the previous proposals have foundered on the Soviet government's refusal to agree to effective controls.

The UN appearance was Khrushchev's most sensational performance since he began his U.S. tour, but he spoke in measured tones, with none of the political tricks and clever phrase-making he has used on less formal occasions.

STANDING OVATION

He received a standing ovation on arriving at the assembly hall but little applause during the speech, except for Communist-bloc clapping when he suggested that Red China be seated in the UN, placing Nationalist China, whose delegates boycotted Friday's session in protest against his appearance.

Following the speech, Communist delegates—as expected—praised the disarmament plan but an Asian representative said it sounded too easy—"I think they must take us for morons."

After elaborating his proposals, Khrushchev paused at one point after saying "we are realists." Some laughter was heard in the assembly, from delegates who apparently believed the statement was funny following the idealistic tone of Khrushchev's

"We are realists in politics and understand that some time is required to work out such a broad disarmament program. While such a program is elaborated, while the questions are negotiated one should not sit with folded hands and wait.

SEE NO DELAYS

"The Soviet government believes that the elaboration of a program of general and complete disarmament should not hold up the solution of such an acute and fully mature question as that of the discontinuance of nuclear weapons tests for all time.

"There now exist all prerequisites for such a solution. We hope that the appropriate agreement will be concluded and put into effect without delay."

Khrushchev said his proposals meant:

"Armies, navies and air forces will cease to exist, general staffs and war ministries will be abolished, military educational establishments will be closed. Dozens of millions of men will return to peaceful creative labor.

"Military bases in foreign territories will be abolished.

"All atomic and hydrogen bombs at the disposal of states will be destroyed and their further production terminated. The energy and fissionable materials will be used exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes.

DESTROY ROCKET BASES

"Military rockets of all ranges will be liquidated and the rocket facilities will remain only as a means of transportation and harnessing outer space to the benefit of all mankind."

The remaining police forces—with numbers agreed for each country—would be armed only with small arms and their job would be limited to protecting citizens.

Khrushchev's speech of some 8,000 words lasted more than an hour and it was accompanied by a parallel 19-page "declaration of the Soviet government," distributed to delegates, amplifying some of the points he raised.

The Russian idea is to bring about disarmament in stages. Even with Khrushchev's suggestion of complete control, it isn't clear how freely Russia would allow inspection teams to move behind the Iron Curtain or how extensively the Soviets might ex-erise a veto over controls.

Violations, he said, would be subject to immediate consideration by the UN Security Council and General Assembly—but Russia has a veto in the council.

Khrushchev declared:

"So as no one could violate their obligations we propose the setting up of an international control body comprising all states. There should be initiated a system of control over all disarmament measures which should be created and should function in conformity with the stages by which disarmament should be effected.

"If disarmament is comprehensive and complete then upon its attainment control will also be general and complete. States will have nothing to conceal from one another."

Central Bedeque Student Tells Of Summer Experience

CENTRAL BEDEQUE—Edward (Ted) Britten of Central Bedeque, who is a theological student at Acadia University, spoke to a large gathering at the Bedeque United Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, relating his experiences during the past summer at the SCM study camp in Toronto.

The camp, known as an Ecumenical Study Camp was sponsored by the SCM (Student Christian Movement) which is a worldwide organization whose chief mission is to bring students of all denominations face to face with Christianity. There is no affiliation with particular churches.

Mr. Britten explained that the National SCM of Canada sponsors summer work projects as a part of its mission. Three were held in Canada this summer — a mental health project at Dartmouth, N.S., and an industrial work camp and ecumenical study camp, both at Toronto. He was one of 24 young men and women attending the latter camp, where the emphasis was on study - Bible, Christian doctrine, Communism and Canadian foreign policy. The camp was set up in the Anglican Parish Hall at St. Alban the Martyr, and Mr. Britten had high praise for the excellent setting and the more than adequate facilities.

Students were obliged to find their own jobs and Mr. Britten found work as an orderly in the Toronto General Hospital. The evenings and other free time were devoted to study and discussion. Mr. Britten told his audience that his observations while attending the camp and while working in a large hospital in such a cosmopolitan city as Toronto, gave him a great insight into the minds and problems of a variety of people, and he felt that this experience would greatly help and fit him for his work in the Christian ministry to which he had committed himself.

During the service an enjoyable musical recital was presented by Mrs. Barbara Cameron and Mrs. Nancy Cox of Charlottetown. They were heard in several vocal solo and duet numbers with Mrs. Howard Schurman as accompanist at the Hammond organ.

George Campbell was the leader of the service, assisted by David Schurman who read the scripture lesson and Harry Waugh who pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Britten returns to Acadia University next week to resume his theological studies. He is the son of Rev. C.A. Britten, D.D., who has been stationed at Central Bedeque for many years.

Georgetown Man Is 90 Years Old

MONTAGUE—One of Georgetown's senior citizens, E. B. MacLaren, quietly celebrated his 90th birthday at his home on Friday, Sept. 18th, following his recovery from a recent illness.

Mr. MacLaren has lived in the Georgetown district since his birth. He is an annual visitor to Brudenell Island during the MacLaren-Gordon gathering and as recently as this summer walked across the sand bar to the island to address the descendants of these Brudenell pioneers.

O'Leary Woman Seriously Injured

O'LEARY—Struck by a passing car as she was getting out of another, Mrs. Amos Adams of O'Leary is a patient in the P.E.I. Hospital at Charlottetown. The accident occurred Wednesday evening at O'Leary.

Her condition is reported as serious but not critical by hospital authorities. Among her many injuries is a fractured hip.

Mrs. Adams was getting out of a car operated by her uncle Guy Harris when she was struck by a car reported to have been operated by Stanley Dumville of O'Leary.

TEEN-AGE BIGAMISTS

GLASGOW (AP)—Two Scottish teen-agers were found guilty Thursday of bigamy Robert Burgess, 19, and Mary Lynch, 18, admitted they were already married to two other people when they went through a register office ceremony April 24.

Buzz session divided the group in five discussing questions on family prayer life, used clothing associate members encouraging boys to enter the minority and giving impressions of the rally at next meeting.

Mrs. Bruce, who had charge of the losing worship, thanked all for their attendance and help at this rally. She brought thoughts from Solomon 2:15 and Gospel of John, which set all to thinking about their own prayer time and bible reading as W.M.S. members, closing by prayerfully singing "Jesus United by Thy Grace" Mrs. Mutch was organist.

All remained for a social hour and enjoyed tea served by Cherry Valley ladies, bringing to a climax a well spent and informative afternoon.
