

WMS Holds Devotional At Kensington

A letter from Charles Shaver concerning the Margaret MacDougall Bursary was read at the May meeting of the Myrtle Rhoads Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, held in the church study, Kensington, with Mrs. Ralph Moase as hostess.

The president Mrs. Horace Paynter opened the meeting with the theme "God's Power in the Early Church", followed by prayer. Hymn 373 was repeated followed by the creed. Scripture was taken from Acts 9: 1-22 and read respectively. Mrs. Slavert Huestis read the Exposition. Prayer was offered by each member followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Eight members responded to roll call with a verse of scripture, and collection was taken.

Mrs. Horace Paynter presented the study book and parts were taken by each member. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Lorne Crozier.

Mrs. Ralph Moase will have the study book for June, and the hostess will be Mrs. Ira Huestis.

The meeting closed with the Mizpha Benediction, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Quick Minestrone Soup Stimulating Satisfaction

JUST because it may be very warm for May, it does not mean we should abandon soup. A bowl of good minestrone, for instance — even the quick variety we cook today — helps to offset that "faded feeling" because of the variety of vegetables it contains, and the natural stimulation of the hot soup itself.

Serve bread, sticks or pretzel sticks with it for the accompaniment.

Finish the meal with rhubarb-mince tarts. You'll be glad you followed our recipe for rhubarb-mince meat, which makes enough to fill the tarts and two pies besides.

Quick Minestrone Soup
Bread Sticks or Pretzel Sticks
Hot Boiled Smoked Pork Butt
— With Mustard - Horseradish-Ketchup Sauce (see Chef)
Whipped Potato
Leaf Spinach in Cream
Rhubarb - Mince Tarts or Chilled Canned Pears
Coffee or Tea Milk

Measurements level; recipes for 6

QUICK MINESTRONE
(Using 2 canned soups as a basis for a substantial potage)

1 (10 1/2 oz.) can concentrated old fashioned vegetable soup
1 (10 1/2 oz.) can concentrated beef broth
1/2 (1 lb.) can spaghetti in tomato sauce
c. canned dried lima or garbanzo beans
1/4 tsp. powdered oregano
1/2 tsp. garlic powder or onion powder
2 1/2 can - measures hot water

LEAF SPINACH IN CREAM
(The Irish do it this way)
Carefully wash 3 lbs. tender spinach leaves; cut off roots but do not detach leaves from main stems. Slow-heat saute until well wilted in 1/2 c. cream. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve "as is."

RHUBARB - MINCE TARTS
1 recipe flaky American pie pastry
1 tsp. fine dry plain bread crumbs
3 c. rhubarb mince filling (follows)

Line 8 (2 1/4") tart pans with American pie pastry, rolled 1/4" thick on floured surface; dust pastry with bread crumbs; press them in. Spoon in rhubarb mince filling.

Cover with a criss - criss pastry topping made by rolling out remaining pastry dough and cutting it into long narrow strips. Press onto edges of pastry-lined pans.

Bake 10 min. in hot oven, 400 degrees F. When crust begins to brown, reduce the heat to 350 degrees F. and bake 15

min. more. Serve cold, but not refrigerated.

RHUBARB - MINCE FILLING

Annual Homecoming Now Highlight At St. Joseph's

Homecoming at St. Joseph's Convent on Mary's Day, May 9th, was convoked by Mrs. Carl Bradley and is proving to be a highlight of the year for members of the Alumnae and the Sisters Mass in the Convent Chapel was celebrated by Rev. Faber MacDonal at 6:30 p.m. and in his sermon he extolled the virtues of Our Lady and urged women of today to imitate her.

The members of the Alumnae, the Sisters and honoured guests, Mother Provincial—Mother St. Mary Charles of Notre Dame Academy and Sr. St. John of York (Superior at Notre Dame), assembled in the Convent Library where supper was served.

Mrs. Robert Forrester of Ottawa (the former Theresa Arsenault) was the envy of everyone as Mother Provincial drew her as the winning ticket for the beautiful handmade Afghan.

Sister Brendan Mary, who will be leaving P.E.I. in September to take up duties in Japan, was presented with a cheque by the President, Mrs. Alex MacLean, on behalf of the Alumnae. This cheque will be used for the work in her own mission in Japan. Sister Brendan Mary thanked the Alumnae on behalf of the mission and gave a brief outline of the work in which she will be involved.

nessy, Mary Coyle and Eleanor Trainor, brought vividly to life familiar and sometimes forgotten scenes from the Alumnae's convent days. This was followed by another skit staged by Sister Brendan Mary. A song, led by Mrs. MacLean with Mrs. Arthur Arsenault at the organ, concluded the evening's entertainment.

Sister St. Clare (Federation Sister), the Sisters of the Convent, the convener and the president were loudly applauded for making such a wonderful evening possible. Future homecomings was the cheery thought in many of the reluctant farewells.

ELLEN'S DIARY

May Replaced Drab Tints With Summery Greens

"What do you think it means when the white rabbit is digging a hole away down in the ground?" Peter came by to question this morning.

"Just one thing, it all goes well with her," we replied.

"That's what my grandfather said," he nodded. "Baby - rabbits! And won't that be good?" he smiled.

"I surely will," we agreed.

Full of charm the morning was, one for a housewife to be grateful over, to be happy that winter was now lost and gone. No more cold fingers on Monday mornings, nor frost - caught pieces of wash. No hasty pinning to the line. But spread there in a leisurely manner, and left to the care of the fresh sunny breeze which had come down from woody regions up the creek.

Peter had just returned from a ride in the little truck which had taken his brothers to school, and himself to the Corner Store, and now had stopped on the path leading off to the house across the lane. He opened the pocket he had clutched in, a young fist and peered within.

"Which will you have, a white or a pink one?" he queried.

"Whichever you can best spare," we said. He is a generous chap, this youngest one of the farm, pleased and always careful to share his sweets, and obviously disappointed if one declines to accept his favors.

"Will this be a lonely day with Alex gone?" we inquired.

"A little," he acknowledged.

"But," he offered stepping away smartly, "I have plenty to do!"

Now fertilizer was being loaded on the little truck. The spreading was to be continued. Pastures were being treated thus, to take care of the animals that before long should come to graze there.

"I reckon," James called to the younger farmer from the barnyard, "I'll not go back to the field with you this time. I'll better stay around. I see there's another ewe."

Lambkins were a boring.

"Do you consider sheep worthwhile in the farming?" a recent visitor inquired of the younger farmer.

"I wouldn't like to farm without them," he replied. "I find them the least trouble of all the animals. In the lambing season they do make extra work — but that isn't lasting."

"They take quite a bit of pasture."

"They do. But they keep down the weeds! And for a cash crop, no great one as all but still it comes in handy, there is the wool and the lambs."

May was spreading her new carpet today. Replacing the drab tints of Fall and the white of Winter with summery greens, over hill and dale. An exciting lovely time of year this is. Nevertheless from all of earth's delights, folks face away to Heaven's shores. Now it was a mother who passed — a gentle lady, neither young nor aged, and well loved by family and friend.

"It's sad to die in the spring-time," a young woman remarked this evening when we came with the number to pay last respects.

"There's so much that is lovely to leave behind."

Yet across that "last river" there too are "pastures green" and also very beautiful, we are sure, are the mirroring "still waters" of the Psalmist.

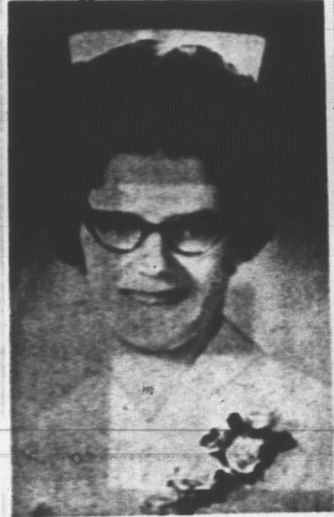

Until tomorrow. Diary — Good - night.
