Mock Commando Assaults Repulsed Along N.S. Coast

SHELBURNE, N.S. (CP)—An armed s.e.'s intelligence source said Thursday it had learned that mock enemy commandos were landed from a submarine near here early Thursday but none of them had penetrated defenses set up around the navy's oceanographic research station here.

The commando raid was to be the climax of Exercise Mohawk, a week-long frigate exercise. More than 200 infantry troops from Camp Gagetown, N.B., Wednesday set up defensive positions in the "mainland" waters near the base and kept an all-night surveillance for any sabotage attempt by the Orangetown enemy forces.

The troops and 26 vehicles were brought here earlier in the week by five navy ships. The vessels sailed from Saint John, N.B., Monday they arrived in the harbor here Tuesday.

Objective of the exercise was to transport by sea sufficient army personnel and equipment to protect military installations in certain Canadian areas a general commando landing which might "destroy or disrupt the area."

Other objects were to practise the army force and ships in the problems of loading, unloading, approach and landing, to provide naval logistic support for land forces and to practise a company group in combating a small enemy operation.

None of the commandos from the submarine was reported taken prisoner by the friendly Bluecoat troops. A navy escort vessel was sent out to attempt to intercept a submarine which was reported sighted near the harbor entrance Thursday.

The exercise enters its last phase today when the troops and vehicles will be loaded back aboard the ships for the voyage back to Saint John. The amphibious force exercise was the second of a series which began last November with Exercise Boatload, carried out in the Bay of Fundy.

Mid-March Jobless 93,000 Below 1963

OTTAWA (CP)—A strong upsurge in employment has carried Canada through the winter with the lowest unemployment levels since 1957. An official report indicates the pace of job expansion is still rising.

Unemployment at mid-March dropped to an estimated 456,000, down 93,000 from a year earlier, the average of the last several years. Employment was up by 310,000, or 5.2 per cent, from a year earlier.

The number of Canadians with jobs climbed to 6,273,000 from a rise of 26,000 from February which the report described as "well above the average of the last several years." Employment was up by 310,000, or 5.2 per cent, from a year earlier.

Unemployment in March represented 6.8 per cent of the labor force compared with 8.4 per cent a year earlier and 8.7 per cent two years previous. The jobless rate in February was seven per cent.

The unemployment rate, seasonally adjusted to show underlying trends, declined to 4.6 per cent of the labor force from 4.7 per cent in February and 5.8 per cent in March last year.

Figures in the monthly report are estimates only, since they are based on a survey of 35,000 Canadian households—a sample cross-section of the population. The report showed areas of high unemployment continuing in the Atlantic provinces and Quebec. And although the March jobless rate is the lowest since 1957, it is about on a par with the highest in earlier post-war years.

However, the year-to-year employment gains of recent months are the largest of any post-war years. In the last six months, the total number of job-holders each month has averaged 287,000 higher than year-earlier levels. The 10,000 rise in the 12 months to March was the sharpest of any.

However, the impact on unemployment of the recent gains in job-holders has been partly blunted by increases in numbers of persons entering the labor force.

The labor force at mid-March totalled 6,729,000, up 39,000 from February and 217,000 from a year earlier. The report said the 12-month drop in unemployment of 83,000 was reflected in all regions of Canada. Almost all of the decline was among jobless men.

Disobedience Tactics Criticized

President Johnson apparently was referring to the Negro demonstrations in the United States when he said in Washington Thursday the cause of civil rights is not disobedience tactics. The statement was made at a news conference.

Details On Pension Talks Are Expected On Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons will have to wait until Monday for a full statement on the quiet negotiations now going on between the federal government and the provinces over pension plan "and other related matters."

Prime Minister Pearson promised Wednesday to prepare such a statement when he was met by a barrage of opposition party questions about the negotiations. Thursday, he said it would be made no later than Monday.

In the meantime, Mr. Pearson said he hoped the way could be cleared—without a full-scale constitutional conference—for the federal pension plan to include benefits normally the responsibility of the provinces. These include payments to survivors.

The pension issue arose during the oral question period at the start of Thursday's sitting. After questions, the house resumed its clause-by-clause study of a government bill to amend the Pension Act, which would take redistribution of funds to the first time since Confederation.

Debate, however, again began on the first clause of the 32-clause bill. J. Angus MacLean, who represents the province of Ontario, member constituency of Queens, suggested the government bill be amended to provide for the redistribution commission to recommend the redistribution of dual ridings if it wished.

"I do not believe the commission secret the government would part with one of the most conscientious, efficient officials we have had," Premier Shaw had approval had been given to issuance of $42,000 allowances to the Village of O'Leary, a town had been made to Louis Regional High School to enable it to meet its educational requirements.

He also announced three appointments: Benjamin Leonard, B.A. MA, as an instructor in English at Prince of Wales; Leo Donawick, Skinner P.O., as a village foreman in his district; and Robert Nelson Dawson, Crapaud, as a commissioner for the taking of affidavits.

But, he added, the Viet Cong will continue to grow in strength.

He said that in dual ridings there usually is a spread of votes between the candidates of any particular party with the result that as the political tide moves a member from two different parties may be elected. In that situation, everybody in the riding feels that at least one of his men have been elected and he is represented in the House of Commons in a very particular way.

Gordon Williams (PC—Bow River) said he fears the redistribution of seats will result in discrimination against the West. If the total number of seats is reduced by one—as is likely, he said—then an expected reduction of four in Saskatchewan would amount to discrimination.

TERMED 'MAJOR DISCOVERY'

Huge, Rich Ore Body Found Reported Near Timmins

By JIM PEACOCK
NEW YORK (CP)—Discovery in the Timmins area of Northern Ontario of a large and rich ore body containing zinc, copper and silver was announced here Thursday by the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company.

This is a major discovery, said company President Claude O. Stephens, who announced the strike at a press conference. He said the discovery is located in the northeast area of Kidd township, about 10 miles north of the Timmins Airport, and he added that Texas Gulf holds mineral rights to about 70 per cent of the land in the township.

Stephens said preliminary data indicate there are more than 25,000,000 tons of ore. Initial drill tests had indicated an ore body at least 800 feet long, 300 feet wide and more than 300 feet deep and these tests had not reached the limits of the body in any direction. He said the ore begins only about 10 feet beneath the surface, meaning that it can easily be mined initially by the open-pit method.

Initial assay tests in the ore body suggest the property operations showed an average mineralization of 8.1 per cent zinc, 1.18 per cent copper and 3.8 ounces of silver to the ton.

Phone Threat Is Made On Diemienaker's Life

OTTAWA (CP)—Police took extra security measures to guard Opposition Leader Diemienaker Thursday amid reports that a phoned threat had been made against his life.

Seven RCMP officers in civilian dress met the Progressive Conservative party leader when he arrived by Trans-Canada Air Lines from Ottawa for a speaking engagement Thursday night.

Four police officers were at the Beeshorbo Hotel where Mr. Diemienaker was staying. An RCMP car tailed his car from the airport to the city and a patrol car was stationed at an airport intersection.

Earlier, Mr. Diemienaker was watched by RCMP officers in plainclothes when he stopped in Winnipeg to change planes and hold a press conference.

An RCMP source said the extra precautions were taken "because of information received by police." He said there was a connection between the special guards at Winnipeg and Saskatoon but he declined further details.

However, a Saskatoon radio station reported to police that an unidentified person had called the station and threatened the life of Mr. Diemienaker.

OTTAWA (CP)—President Johnson said Thursday the total output of goods and services in the United States zoomed to a new high of $696,500,000 in the first quarter of 1964, up $37,000,000 over the same period of last year.

The president said in a press conference in the first state department auditorium where the late President Kennedy frequently met with reporters, also said that the unemployment rate dipped to 5.4 per cent from 5.8 per cent during the same period. At the same time, he said, employment climbed by 1,500,000.

Johnson also said he is pleased with the U.S. defense and expressed confidence in Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. His comment came in the wake of a new flare-up in the dispute between McNamara and Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, the U.S. Air Force chief of staff and other critics who contend U.S. military superiority over Russia is narrowing.

Lemay, the U.S. Air Force chief of staff and other critics who contend U.S. military superiority over Russia is narrowing.

Johnson did not name Lemay or any other critic, but he strongly endorsed McNamara's stewardship of the Pentagon. He said the United States has made great gains over the last three years, since the Democrats took power and McNamara began running the defense program.

Discussing the economic situation, Johnson said that while employment and the total output of goods and services has risen and the jobless rate declined, prices had remained firm.

OTTAWA—The redistribution commission should be allowed to recommend the retention of dual ridings, if it so wishes, Hon. J. Angus MacLean, MP 1951, they were eliminated and single ridings created. At a later redistribution, dual ridings were again created which indicates there was a good reason for them.

He said he agreed with the theory that when a member is elected he represents all the in some way they are fairer than single ridings." Mr. MacLean said.

He said that in P.E.I. there were dual ridings at one time but after the census of 1951 they were eliminated and single ridings created. At a later redistribution, dual ridings were again created which indicates there was a good reason for them.
