Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

Cured

Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 13 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." Mrs. M. M. MESSENGER, Freehold, Penn.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HON. F. PETERS

—NO 2.

SIR,—I have been informed that you left the Province for what purpose I do not know, and the office of Attorney General for Prince Edward Island is again vacant—that is, the Attorney General is absent. Among the ancient Romans the great offices of state were all elective, which obliged them to be very observant of the shape of the noses of those persons to whom they were to apply for votes. Horace and Virgil makes references to the different noses—the short, long, sharp and turned up. But if we had our judges elective as well as the Crown Attorney, different elements than the shape of the noses of the voters would require to be considered. Some of the politicians of this Province as well as the voters appear to have peculiar noses. The former seeks the voter who can be bought, and a certain proportion of the latter seeks the man who can dispense favors,—whether righteously or not, does not enter into their consideration. It was a practice amongst the ancient Turks, when newspapers were scarce, that for the information of the people, certain officers assembled at certain places to read special documents. I presume your budget speech as it is nicely stitched will be handed to zealous grits and the supervisors to read for the information of the faithful. The quill nuncs and critics may therefore learn of this wonderful policy of yours. Concerning your past policy you declare that "one plank of our policy that we rely upon strongly is that when practical experience shows that any step we have taken is not exactly in the right direction, or what it should be, the very man who took that step will try and retrace it." These are encouraging words coming from a man who mortgaged the Province with heavy debt, a man who sacrificed large amounts of money in the land office, in the shape of discounts, a man who permitted unnecessary and wasteful extravagance of public money on our roads and bridges at election times, a man who was so barefaced and shameless as to disfranchise the Dominion officials because they were supposed to be Conservative, and when the Liberals attained power at Ottawa passed a law restoring their franchise. Yes, you restore that franchise; but the man who took that step has the gall of an elephant when he dares to look an honest electorate in the face. Go hide yourself with the moles and the bats, cover yourself with sackcloth and ashes and never again seek the suffrages of the people. Devoid of the principles that should govern a statesman, your past policy is an evidence that you do not understand the science of statesmanship. The public accounts which you publish for the information of the people ought to show the exact situation of the finances of the province. Every contract should be recorded there. The debentures and the names of the parties who hold them should be there for the information of the people. Your masters, the yeomanry of the province, have a right to know the names of the mortgagees. If it is right to publish the name of contractors of a bridge or those who provide supplies for the public service, it is equally right that we should know who are the men who hold the debentures. The Opposition should have demanded that returns be made, and if you fail to comply they should carry the matter to the Governor.

The rights of a free people should be maintained at all hazards. You deprived the Conservatives of their votes, now you call it "practical experience" to return the franchise in order to help your party. The end justifies the means with you under the misnomer of "practical experience." When Responsible Government was secured to the people of this Province it was understood that it ensured to every inhabitant an opportunity of making known his grievance to a tribunal which is competent to provide for their redress. The close connection which subsists between members of Parliament and the people gives a peculiar facility of access to the representations of the people, and a peculiar prospect of their being powerfully supported as they deserve. Your past policy paid a deaf ear to the representations of the people, and like a one-man power you appeared to have a ring in your followers' noses to lead them about as you please. This may be pleasing to you, but what shall we say of the followers?—the blind leading the blind—they shall both fall in the ditch. The victory in Quebec is now added to that of Nova Scotia as another plank in your policy, and I fancy I hear you dilating upon that event. You are not suited to countries with a representative government. You are better adapted to ancient Democratic States in which the principle of representation was not adopted. You can never retrace the blunders you have committed. You can never recover the money squandered. An opportunity once lost is never regained. What reforms have you promised in your Budget Speech? None. Yet you claim to be leader of the reform party in this province. What have you done to extend the purity of the election? Nothing, whatever. What have you done to place the affairs of the Province on a sound financial basis? Have you reformed the probate court? The business of that court could be transferred to the Supreme or County Court Judges without giving them any fees, as they are already paid for their services. Fancy the abuses of that Court. An estate of $300 costing the half to wind it up. Yet your "practical experience" does not see this. You are deaf, dumb, and blind, to the interest of the people. Is there not a great necessity for an honest election law? You should remember that the country looks upon you as the author of the counsels of the crown, and whatever be the proceedings you are held responsible. Regard for other people and the public good would require that you add another plank to guide your "practical experience" and it is this "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself and do unto others as thou wouldst have others do unto thee."

The people of this Province—those who love its prosperity—demand a good Government. As there is no necessity to perpetuate a strictly party government any longer, a coalition should take place among the best men on both sides, and the drones and boodlers should be thrown out. The interests of the country and not of party should be paramount. The taxes would then be applied to actual service, and favoritism and boodling would be placed on the forbidden list. Your legislation, in a great many instances, affects the poor. Your friends at Ottawa, I have no doubt, will use every influence to return you to power again. See how they legislate in the interests of the poor people. A savings bank is an institution started in this country to enable poor people to accumulate small savings, an encouragement to frugality. Your friends reduced the rate of interest for these poor people—those servant girls, widows and orphans who have not the avenues of speculation open to them to withdraw their money but must submit. They add a further tax on the poor man's luxuries. Such is the way in which the great Liberal party shows its love for the poor people. When the Liberals were in opposition we heard great promises made, and the gullible people were led to believe that once a Liberal Government attained to power they would never see a poor day. Now they tax the living and the dead. The dead man's estate must pay an inheritance tax, and I would not at all be surprised if you would introduce a tax upon coffins and graveyards.

You hold the affairs of the Province in your keeping. Come boldly out and declare what the actual financial condition of the Province is up to June or July next and let us have authentic information. Come out boldly and say what reforms in the service of the country you are going to make and put yourself on record definitely that your pledges will be fulfilled, and I will say that your conduct then would merit praise instead of reprobation.

Yours, etc.,

A TAXPAYER.

MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that Honesty and True Philanthropy Still Exist.

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

It is no thing to sell, and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c silver to cover postage and address Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich. 135p&w.

BARRED IN CANADA—On Ottawa despatch says: The kinetoscopic pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Carson are debarred as far as Canada is concerned. Sir Oliver Mowat, minister of justice, has drafted an amendment to the criminal code making it a misdemeanor to exhibit pictures of prize fights in Canada. The penalties are severe, including a fine of from $500 to $5,000 and imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months. The amendment will be made a government measure and passed through both houses at once.

AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind! 135w

MONTREAL, May 17.—Premier Greenway who is here, will go to New York to complete a deal whereby the Manitoba Government agrees to guarantee the bonds of the road from Winnipeg to Duluth, 380 miles, at ten thousand dollars a mile, only 100 miles of which is in Canada. Manitoba will thus be liable for about $200,000 annually.

Experience Has Proved It.

A triumph in medicine was attained when experience proved that Scott's Emulsion would not only stop the progress of Pulmonary Consumption, but by its continued use health and vigor could be fully restored.

DIED.

At Mill View, on May 14th, of Bright's Disease, William Acoona aged 75. The deceased was father of 14 children and grandfather of 47 children. He was deservedly esteemed by all who knew him, as was evidenced by the large concourse of people which followed his remains to Vernon River. Martha, daughter of the deceased, died on the 16th inst. of consumption, dearly beloved by all who knew her. Aged 26 years. May their souls rest in peace.

A CONVERSATION.

Well Dougall and how you'll was yourself the day?

Very good, indeed, Donald, and what's the news yourself? Ho, good news headid, the Toory is got a very bad stricke in the hed in Scotia Nova last wick. Andeed Donald and we'll try and give them a good stricke here on the Island very soon. I guess, every one around here is grit.

Yes, andeed Dougall, there was three or four Torr; but the McKeenen put them all rite the last halexion. She was the fery nice man herself, andeed; she was telling me the nice story; she was toid me she would take the duty of the eggs the first thing, and I met her the other day and I ax her why was the egg so cheap if he took the duty off? She toid me that they byed a lot of hens in the Boston States themself and not want our egg. But she is going to send a big steamer to the Bridge after the halexion for a load of eggs.

Well, well, ent that good, and is she going to put any money on any Hill the year? Yes, I hard she was going to take away the Hill School House.

That wou'd be so good a shop as the Hill Rona'd; there is more peoples on the road there, and we'll have to work. The Hill Rona'd is the best shop I ever strike. Only two farms between it and the county line. I work ten days and only saw one boy pass with two square of shingles, and you might sit on the road all day and no one would see you. The Hellen was the good boss herself.

I was very fraid the Shaw would ax some thing about the Hill, Rona'd, were you?

Yes, andeed, Donald, I believe she cost over two hunder and fifty dollar. Ha, talk about the boodle; but the boodle is the boy; and the promise of the boodle is nearly as good as the boodle herself. Angus would never put money on the Hill, Rona'd, he'd always put it on the road, Wood Island, where every one in the country would see you working. I'd like to be voting for him indeed. Donald, up the road, is a splendid Grit now, talks Grit all the time. She turn when the Government turn, and she toid me she would turn again if the government turn, too. There is money in the Government, Donald!

Yes, andeed, Dougall, I never toid you that they promised me a job on the big bridge at town; but don't tell it to any one, McKeenen said I must not tell.

Well, now, Donald, that is good. She toid me I would get work for myself and the mare. It is going to start after the nalexion. I toid her if she would not give me something I would not vote for her this time. But the worst of it is there will be so many looking at us. It won't be half as good as the Hill, Rona'd. Good-bye, Donald, I am coming over again next week.
