THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 4, 1892.

Civic Matters.

It will, of course, be well to have an engineer's survey and report concerning a general plan of sewerage for Charlottetown. We are not of those who condemn the Council for voting $1,000 for that purpose. But the experience of other towns, and our own experience in respect to the Government sewer and the public buildings, prove that only the best system of sewerage should be adopted, and that only the utmost care in construction and subsequent management will ensure an improvement in our sanitary conditions. A bad system, or ignorance or carelessness in the application of a good system, will but multiply by the hundred nuisances such as that which recently discovered itself to the offended nostrils of the barristers congregated in the small and badly ventilated Chamber devoted to Judge Alley. The matter of sewerage is of the greatest importance to the city. Action regarding it ought not, therefore, to be hurried. If hasty effort be needed, it is to secure a thorough cleaning of the town—particularly of the dirty back-yards in the town—before the hot weather comes on. We incline to the opinion that the City Councillor who shall develop and organize a system under which the filth and garbage in every yard shall be removed at regular intervals and distributed as manure throughout the country, will perform the greatest and most needed service for the town. If the solid filth were carefully and constantly removed, we could afford to risk for a time at least the danger proceeding from the liquid, most of which easily filters through our porous and purifying soil. The pressing necessity therefore, is to get rid of such dirt as can well be utilized in maintaining the fertility of the farms and which it would be wasteful to convey to the sea by means of sewers.

The mortuary statistics to hand this morning show that while Charlottetown holds a very fair place among the first thirty towns of Canada as to general health, it is rather low on the list as to deaths resulting from typhus, typoid and continued fevers having their source in cess-pools and other dirt, that our mortality is greatly increased during the hot months of the year. Thus, in 1891 the number of our deaths per hundred of the population was in—

January.... 0.72, or first and best on the list.
February... 1.27, or tenth on the list.
March ..... 1.27, or ninth on the list.
April. ..... 1.45, or fifteenth on the list.
May ..... 2.09, or twenty-third on the list.
June..... 1.00, or tenth on the list.
July..... 0.52, or first and best on the list.
August..... 2.19, or eighteenth on the list.
September.. 1.67, or eighteenth on the list.
October .... 1.58, or sixteenth on the list.
November.. 0.87, or fourth on the list.
December.. 0.70, or fourth on the list.

So that November, December and January were our comparatively healthy months in 1891, while April, May, June, August, Septhmber and October were the months in which the largest ratio of deaths occurred. Curiously enough the ratio of deaths was lowest of all in July. In one of the towns—possessed of sewers, too—the death rate ran up in one of the months of 1891 as high as 5.62 per thousand, while our death rate in that year was in no month higher than 2.19, and altogether we hold about the middle place among the first thirty towns of Canada. But the rate of deaths here in 1891, resulting from typhoid fever, etc., was 0.61 per thousand. Only two towns in Canada—Victoria, B. C., and Winnipeg—show a higher death rate from typhoid fever than this. The rate of deaths from diarrhœal affections, 1.58, was also in 1891 comparatively high—higher than any of the towns except Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Winnipeg, Sherbrooke, Sorel, and St. John, P. Q., and equal to that of Halifax. Altogether, a short study of our mortuary statistics seems to lead to the conclusion that if Charlottetown were but clean it would be one of the healthiest towns in all Canada.

But apart from considerations of health, there are other reasons why our town should be cleansed and brightened and made as attractive as possible. The steamship war and the unusually low rates of passage from Boston, with the increasing reputation of Prince Edward Island as a delightful summer resort for residents of the States and Canada, justify the expectation that we shall have in July, August and September a larger influx of tourist visitors than in any previous year. We all know how important it is that these visitors should remain and spend some of their money among us, and we all know that first impressions as to cleanliness and wholesomeness are strong in determining the visitor to stay or not to stay. Therefore, let every back-yard and back-house be thoroughly cleansed and paint and whitewash brushes vigorously applied within the next four weeks. It is a pity that our hotel accommodation is not larger; but if the most be made of that which we have, and if the town be made as attractive as possible, a large number of tourists may be induced to stay here.

It is pleasing to note that the records of the Stipendiary Magistrate's court continue to indicate that drunkenness is not increasing in Charlottetown, notwithstanding free rum. The number of convictions for drunkenness in May of this year was 17, as compared with 21 in May of last year. Neither of these figures ought to be considered disgraceful for a town of twelve thousand inhabitants—though both are, of course, too high. The check which has been put upon selling liquor on Sunday ought to reduce still more the number of drunkards. The Stipendiary Magistrate, a few days ago, imposed fines and expenses upon one individual to the amount of $80 for violations of the lately-amended Sunday Observance Act. We have no doubt that liquor-dealers generally will have made a note of this fact and will govern themselves accordingly. Some of the liquor-dealers are preparing to comply with the provisions of the new law for the city, which goes into effect on the first of July.

Perversion of the Truth.

The Patriot's special correspondent at Ottawa was not, as we surmised, frank and truthful in his report of Sir John Thompson's latest remarks anent the reserved bill. The Hansard report is as follows :

"Mr. Davies (P. E. I.)—The hon. leader of the House intimated to me the other day that he would be prepared at the beginning of this week to make a statement in reference to the intended action of the Government in regard to the bill reserved by the Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island.

"Sir John Thompson—I did make that statement to the hon. gentleman, and I received on Saturday a letter from His Honor the Lieutenant Governor containing some explanations on the subject. When the hon. member for Queen's last brought the subject to the notice of the House, I understood from him that the matter was very urgent, inasmuch as in the ordinary course a general election would take place in that province some time during the present summer.

"Mr. Davies (P. E. I.)—Within the year."

"Sir John Thompson—And with that understanding I felt that a statement on the subject should be made as quickly as possible. I am now informed that the time for the general election will not be reached until, I think, 1894, at any rate not before the spring of 1893, and the Bill contains no provision which would anticipate that event. If such be the case, I would prefer not to enter into the subject until after the session, when it can be taken up and considered carefully."

"Mr. Davies (P. E. I.)—I will take an opportunity of referring again to the letter of the Attorney-General, and I may again bring the matter to the attention of the hon. gentleman. I know that he considered it urgent."

But the Patriot reports that Sir John Thompson said :

"He had understood at first that the matter was urgent, as a general election was likely to take place in the province within a year, but was since informed that the term of the present legislature did not expire until 1893."

This perversion of the truth was evidently in the interests of Mr. Davies, who had previously stated that an election would take place "within the year." It is a pity that the grit politicians do not adhere more closely to the truth. They ought to know by this time that they may deceive the people, and that they may deceive such men as Sir John Thompson, once or twice,—but that a misleading policy will not profit them in the end. Sir John Thompson will, now that he knows the truth, take his time about the reserved bill and consider it carefully. We feel sure that the longer he considers it the more fully he will be convinced that the Lieutenant-Governor had good and sufficient reasons for reserving it, and that the Attorney-General had his own reasons for telling Mr. Davies that he "considered it urgent." Though the Attorney-General has impressed Mr. Davies with the idea that something will happen if the bill be not passed at once, and though his organs here have abused and villified the Lieutenant Governor because he reserved it, Mr. Peters still clings to office as His Honor's responsible adviser !

The Argument for Home Rule.

Michael Davitt is one of the Home Rulers who continues to hold his place in public estimation. There can be no doubt that he is thoroughly sincere, as well as comparatively moderate in his opinions and language. His ability has repeatedly been shown. In the manifesto recently issued by him, a summary of which is published by The Examiner, he adroitly tries to make capital for Home Rule out of the disturbed state of the English mind respecting the unsatisfactory trade relations of Great Britain. The opinions expressed are not new, but greater attention will probably be paid to them now than at any previous time. Mr. Davitt points out that Irishmen forced to go abroad by reason of of landlordism become employes in the workshops of the United States and other nations commercially hostile to Great Britain; and that instead of being a producer of food supplies for the English manufacturers, they become the English manufactures' competitors. If this view should become general, the English workman will see that his interest lies in supporting Gladstone and Home Rule.

Accident.—While Mr. Lazar White, proprietor of Gowan Brae mills, was engaged in sawing boards on Saturday last with a circular his leg came in contact with the saw, and quick as lightning the knee cap was shattered into a dozen pieces and the flesh covering it torn to the depth of four or five inches. Medical aid was at once secured, and we are glad to hear that the wound so far is progressing favorably. Mr. White is one of the most energetic and enterprising men in the eastern part of the Island. It is hoped that he may soon recover from this painful accident.

McGill College.—The local examination for entrance to the various faculties of McGill University has just been concluded before J. A. Nicholson, B. A., Deputy Examiner. There were four candidates in attendance, one for matriculation into the art faculty, one for medicine, and two for applied science. The result of the examination will be made known before the close of the month.

Lobsters. — Lobster fishing along the eastern sections of the Island continues slack. Some of the packers talk of closing up their factories if the present state of affairs continues much longer. The probability is that this year's catch will fall far short of last year's. We are glad to know that the size regulation is not to be enforced until the first of next month. Under present circumstances it is proper to suspend this regulation in order to give the fishermen a chance to live.
